Gives Views on Consolidation At Newfolden

sulted to close the school in Newfolden. It was proposed that if a consolidation with Thief River Falls was realized, the top three grades of high school could be transported to Thief River Falls on an express bus from Newfolden.

Thief River Falls at present has about 300 junior college students using high school facilities who will be leaving at the end of this school year since a new state junior college building will be in operation. There would also be a modest building program in Newfolden, but not for one and a half million dollars.

The article states that Mr. Hendrickson from the State Dept. of Education had met with a group in Thief River Falls and had provided them with information and data. This information was also made available to the Newfolden school board and administration, and makes one question a program of this magnitude. The information was compiled by the State Dept. of Education from appropriate sources.

It lists the 1968 assessed valuation of the Newfolden Dist. as $1,187,834 agricultural lands, and $278,228 non-agricultural, including the pipe line and pumping station at Viking for a total assessed valuation of $1,464,062. Thief River Falls was listed as $938,230 agricultural and $3,612,799 non-agricultural for a total assessed valuation of $4,551,029.

The current debt as of July 1, 1968, in Newfolden was $145,000 and in Thief River Falls, $2,171,620. It also lists the net bonding power in Newfolden at $1,555,360 less existing bonds as of July 1, 1968 ($145,000) for a net $1,410,360, and Thief River Falls, $5,500,000 less present $2,171,620 net $3,328,330.

Another thought provoking item in the report is the census of pre-school children. The figures for the consolidated Newfolden District are as follows: Age 5, 35; 4, 38; 3, 36; 2, 30; 1, 29; and Under one year 23, for a total of 191.

Number of six year olds in the district is 45.

With these figures in mind, what is the future of the Holt and Viking units? They are already transporting students from within two miles west of Holt and six miles northeast of Holt, to school in Newfolden.

Much has been said about the comparative rate tax. However, that is not the prime concern of the petitioners as they realize that school taxes will be high regardless of the outcome. They are, however, concerned about the long range outlook, and the quality of education they receive for their tax dollar. It is true that the new pipe line and pumping station will increase tax revenue but it is questionable if this will offset additional staff and costs required for the proposed new facilities.

Perhaps consolidation now would be ahead of its time. However, Mr. Floyd Erickson of the State Dept. of Education stated at the public meeting in Newfolden that in the forseeable future we would be included in the Thief River Falls district.

Therefore, I believe that we can provide quality education now without going to a 400 plus mill levy, as is very possible, or to find ourselves in serious financial trouble.

What the future holds for an area primarily dependent on agriculture is very uncertain. The Newfolden District is basically dependent on farming as the above valuation figures indicate, while the economy of Thief River Falls is largely supported by stable agri-business and service industries.

In closing, I again want to emphasize that the purpose of the petitioners was not to destroy the school, or Newfolden, but to build a stronger and more stable educational unit that will be able to maintain high standards. I definately feel that the people in the area should have an opportunity to express their wishes on the proposal through a referendum.

Do Go Near The Water: Very large numbers of older people admitted to the hospital are found to be suffering from lack of water—dehydration. This causes a general stain on their bodies; particularly bad is the accumulation of nitrogen wastes and the adverse effect on the kidney mechanisms. . Many old people habitually drink too little; some deliberately limiting their intake.

Included in the new conferences is Northland state junior college of Thief River Falls. The 20 public and private junior colleges in the state are included in the conferences. Playoffs in each of the major sports will then determine a state champion.

The new conferences will go into effect next fall, starting with the football season.

Northland state junior college athletic director Al Adams stated that the present conference in which Northland participates will remain the same with the top junior college in the state then going into the national. The new set-up will provide for a state junior college championship. Playoffs will be held with the different division champions playing for the state championship.

The different divisions are as follows:

Football

Northern Division — Crookston Tech, Hibbing, Itasca, Mesabi and Vermillion.

Southern Division — Anoka - Ramsey, North Hennepin, Willmar, Rochester, Worthington and Golden Valley.

A north - south playoff will determine the state champion.

Northwest — Brainerd, Fergus Falls, Northland and Crookston Tech.

Central — Anoka - Ramsey, Golden Valley, Lakewood, Metropolitan and Normandale.

Southern — Austin, Bethany, Rochester, Willmar, Worthington.

GAME OF THE WEEK
by Bob Wielinski

My Choice

Duluth Central and Rochester John Marshall are the top choices to win the 1969 Minnesota state high school basketball crown which will get under way at Williams arena at the University of Minnesota on Thursday.

The tournament this year should be a good one with all of the top teams from the state this past year out of contention for the crown. Out of the eight teams that were entered in the state tournament a year ago, only one returns. That is the Duluth club. Gone from his year's tournament are Moorhead, Edina, Hayfield, Mankato and Granite Falls, all favorites at the beginning of the year to win region crowns this year.

A tall Waseca club was expected to make the state tournament, but fell in the opening round of region play. Giant stoppers in Region Six, Pelican Rapids fell to a determined Crosby-Ironton club in double overtime on Saturday night, as the Rangers will now make their bid for the state title.

Joining Duluth and Rochester in the tournament will be Wells, Minneapolis South, Alexander Ramsey, Gaylord, Bemidji and Crosby-Ironton. Coming from District 24 and seeing Crosby-Ironton play in past years, I will have to go with the Rangers as my favorite in the tournament. I would select the Rangers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks to meet in the state tournament finals with C-I coming out on top.

Interesting Notes

In talking with Thief River Falls Prowler baseball coach Ralph Skay on Tuesday, I found it could be a long season for the Prowlers. They are lacking a veteran pitcher along with veterans in other positions. Ralph stated we will have to "wait and see," for you can never tell about high school athletes these days.

The Prowlers will have only two seasoned regulars back this year—Duna Stromberg and Tony Johnson. Stromberg was the regular third sacker for the Prowlers last year and did some pitching for them. Johnson played second base and handled some of the catching chores. Another who saw some action behind the plate last year was Don Balmer, who could end up as the starting catcher this year.

The Prowlers, according to Skay, will start workouts on March 31 in preparation for the season's opener on Saturday, April 19, at Moorhead. The Prowlers will play 16 games this year during the regular season, and will open their home stand against arch rival Goodridge on April 23. Once again the north sub-district will be held in Thief River Falls while the south sub-district will be held at Climax. This is scheduled for May 22, 23 or 24. The district tournament this year is also at Thief River Falls, beginning the week of May 26, with the regional tournament set for here on June 2 and 3.

Talking about spring sports, the Prowler track squad is already working out in the Lincoln high school gym as it prepares for the spring opener at Moorhead on April 16 in the Dragon Relays.

Further information on both squads will be published at a later date, along with their respective schedules.

Prowler Power

This year I had the pleasure to come in contact with a lot of the students at the Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. No matter what the local people say about some of these kids they are all a fine bunch. They support the football, basketball, hockey and wrestling squads to the utmost, whether they be at home or away from home. Each one of these kids is in his or her own way proud of the school, whether it is in defeat or whether they are victorious.

One thing that I found that is lacking was the fan support at the recent district and regional basketball games. Sure this is a hockey town, but the basketball team deserved some of the backing just like that of the hockey squad. Don't get me wrong, because I don't dislike hockey, but I was brought up in a basketball town rather than a hockey town. This is why the basketball team is more in my favorite eye than hockey.

Halvorson Heads Saddle Club

At a recent meeting of the Thief River Falls Saddle club, officers for the coming year were elected. The meeting was held at Noper's Fireside room.

Reelected as president for the coming year was Harold Halvorson. Elected as vice president was Ed Fisher. Bill Vollan was elected as treasurer and Mrs. John Lang was reelected as secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Belto and Peggy Manning were appointed to the membership committee while Vollan was appointed as chairman of the recreation committee. Next meeting of the club will be held at Noper's fireside room on April 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fisher were in charge of the lunch for the evening.

The Twins open the season at Met Stadium on Friday, April 18th against the California Angels.

Girl Scouts Host Fathers During Scout Week Here

Thief River Falls Girl Scouts celebrated Girl Scout week March 10-14 by hosting a father and daughter night March 11, with the theme "To Dad with Love". Mistress of ceremonies for the event was Chris Cuppett of Cadette Troop 87.

Prowlers Finish Year With 14-9 Overall Mark

Joppru Gains All-State; Final Statistics Listed

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

Thief River Falls Prowler basketball team closed its season last week by announcing the team's most valuable player, selected by the members of the team, and presenting letters to the players at a dinner held on Friday night. Also awarded was the best free throw percentage award.

Coach Whitey Olson made the presentation of the awards, with the letter winners to be announced at the annual athletic banquet to be held on April 14 at St. Bernard's church basement.

Winning the vote of teammates as most valuable player on the Prowler squad was center Sheldon Joppru. Joppru also collected the best free throw shooter trophy as he hit 66 per cent and edged Steve Edlund by one percentage point.

Added to all this, the 6-1 senior center was also selected to WCCO radio's All-State basketball team of the year. Last fall Joppru was also honored on the All-State football squad. Joppru, along with football coach Jim Sims and Olson, will be guests at the 13th annual Prep Parade awards dinner at the University of Minnesota on Saturday, at which time he will receive his awards. Minnesota basketball coach Bill Fitch will make the presentations. Only one other region Eight player, Greg Beaumont, Bemidji guard, was named to the team.

Joppru led the Prowlers in every department this past winter except in personal fouls, best field goal percentage and assists. These departments were captured by Steve Edlund and Don Balmer.

Joppru led the team in scoring with 503 points; most field goals made and attempted with 195 and 505 for a 38 percentage; in free throws, taking 169 shots and making 113 for a 66 percentage; in rebounds with 349; and a total of 27 assists.

The Prowlers as a team proved to be the second highest scoring club in the school's history, as the 1962-63 club scored a total of 1,547 according to records kept at the Times. An article last week stated that the Prowlers were four points away from setting a new record, but further checking into the records proved that assumption to be wrong.

This year the Prowlers scored a total of 1,451 points on 546 field goals and 359 free throws. The record by the 1962-63 Prowlers was set in 23 games, and this year the Prowlers also played 23 games. Both clubs fell to Bemidji in the finals of Region Eight play.

Six seniors played their last basketball games as Prowlers this year. They include Sheldon Joppru, Steve Edlund, Tony Johnson, Dave Kildahl, Dan Brodin and Steve Hess. Six other Prowlers listed on the tournament squad will be back again next year—and four of the six started at least one game for the Prowlers this year. They include juniors Don Balmer, Kip Poppenhagen, Darrold Rodahl and sophomores Mike Hamerlinck, Tim Olson and Dale Hanson. Balmer, Poppenhagen, Hamerlinck and Olson all started at least one game for the Prowlers, while Rodahl proved to be the top reserve in the district and regional tournaments.

Of the six that are returning next year, Balmer was the leading scorer with an 8.0 average, while Rodahl had a 2.7 average; Poppenhagen a 2.3 average and Hamerlinck a 2.1 average.

In Big Five conference play, where the Prowlers took the championship with a 7-1 record, Joppru led the league in scoring with a 24.8 average, scoring 149 points in six games. He was also named to the all-conference team. Balmer was the other Prowler who came close to averaging in double figures in conference play, a the junior forward averaged 9.8 points per contest in six games.

As a team, according to statistics kept by the Prowler coaching staff, the Prowlers outscored their opposition by a 1,451 to 1,413 score. They attempted 1,492 shots and made 546, compared to the opposition's 1,339 shots attempted and 516 made. In field goal percentage Prowlers by 38.6 to 36 per cent.

At the free throw line the Prowlers attempted 587 shots and made 359 for 61 per cent while the opposition had 653 shots and made 381 for a 58.3 percentage. The Prowlers committed 458 fouls to 317 by their opposition. They were also outrebounded by a 966 to 910 margin, while having 184 assists to the opposition's 110. The Prowlers made a total of 352 errors while their opposition made 326.

The season record for the Prowlers is as follows:

1969 State Cage Tourney Starts Play Thursday

Minnesotas 1969 state high school basketball tournament will begin Thursday at 2 p.m. at the University of Minnesota's Williams arena.

Only one team that was entered in the 1968 tournament is back this year in what could be termed a wide-open battle for the state crown. Defending state champion Edina fell by the wayside in the district tournaments, while Moorhead, favorites to capture the crown, also fell in the district tournaments.

Back this year is Duluth Central, kingpin of Region Seven for the third straight year. Central along with Region One entrant Rochester John Marshall, is the favorite in the tournament.

Others in the tournament this year are Wells, Region Two; Gaylord, Region Three; Alexander Ramsey, Region Four; Minneapolis South, Region Five; Crosby - Ironton, Region Six; and Bemidji, Region Eight.

Duluth will meet Alexander Ramsey in the 2 p.m. game on Thursday, while Minneapolis South will tangle with Crosby-Ironton in the 3:30 p.m. contest. These four teams will make up the lower bracket of the tournament.

In the upper bracket, Rochester meets Wells at 7:30 p.m., while Gaylord will meet Bemidji in the 9 p.m. contest.

Semi-finals and consolation bracket games will be played on Friday while the championship game will be played Saturday night.

Great Lakes Road Group Formed To Promote Highways

Formation of an organization to promote highway development in the states bordering the Great Lakes was announced recently.

Richard W. Walker, executive director of the Michigan Good Roads federation, was elected chairman of the group to be known as the "Great Lakes Better Roads Forum. Robert M. Johnson, executive director of Minnesota Good Roads, Inc., was elected vice chairman.

Representatives of public and private highway interest groups in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota attended the forum's organizational meeting at St. Charles, Ill. Similar groups from other Great Lake states will be invited to join, Walker said.

The Forum set as its goals: change of information of highway programs and needs.

(2) Broader public understanding of highway transportation functions.

(3) Development of the organization as a forum for expression of regional interest in highway maintenance and improvement.

"There is a clear need for an organization such as this froum to promote the cause of better roads on a regional basis," Walker said. "Regardless of the development of other forms of transportation, every projection indicates that 90 per cent of our future transportation will be on roadways, he said. 'The publics interest in financing the maintenance and development of good roads must be protected and firmed up.

Weather and Road Conditions Play Role in Mishaps

Minnesota highway department records show that weather and road conditions have a definite bearing on the number of facilities which occur on the streets and highways.

This year, for example, fatalities for January and February stand at 59, compared to 124, or 65 less, than for the same two months last year.

The obvious reason for this is weather and road conditions. Last winter there was little snow and highways were clear and dry. This year, with highways plugged after heavy snowfalls, travel was down and speeds greatly reduced.

Totals for both January and February of 1969 are the lowest recorded for those months since 1956. In that year, January had 23 and February had 25 fatalities, for a total of 48.

"A map showing traffic accident and fatality rates by states reveals another important factor in traffic deaths," said Paul R. Staffeld, assistant highway commissioner. "In the East where population density and traffic congestion are high, traffic accident rates are high but the fatality rates are much lower than the average for the United States.

"As you move west and traffic congestion is lessened, just the reverse applies. In other words, there are more property damage accidents but fewer critical collisions in heavily populated areas where speeds are generally lower. But in the open areas of the middle west and west, speeds increase and the collisions which do occur are decidedly more serious.

"This of course, supports the proven theory that open country and dry, fast highways have a definite effect on the severely of accidents and an accompanying increase in fatalities," Staffeld says.

Hall of Nature Is Sport Show Feature

An expanded hall of nature will be among the new features at the Northwest boat, sports and travel show opening March 28 for 10 days in the Minneapolis auditorium and convention hall.

A well - known sled driver, George Esslinger of International Falls, and his equally famous malamutes will be spot lighted in this new section of the show that won high popularity last year.

In his talks that will be scheduled regularly throughout the afternoon and evening hours, Esslinger will draw on his 35 years' experience on the northern trails and his rescue work in the French Alps. His malamutes will give a realistic demonstration of how they work in the sled dog harness as they travel at a fast clip on a motor-driven rubber belt.

Of special interest to hunters will be a collection of wild animal specimens that show officials say is the best in the country. In the big game class will be Rocky Mountain goat, big horn sheep, mountain lion, jaguar, polar bear, grizzly bear, black bear, wolf, wolverine and possibly a leopard, antelope and deer. There will be heads of five antelope types; the various North American sheep such as dall, big horn, stone and desert; heads of moose, caribou, elk and buffalo, and also the heads of leopard, rhino, lion and buffalo.

Rounding out this display of the art of a master taxidermist —Jon Nevins of Cheyenne, Wyo. —will be a gallery of smaller animals ranging from the oribi and pronghorn antelope to the coyote, nyala, klipspringer, deer and bobcat.

Another highlight of the hall of nature will be a rock-like beach and spacious pool in which a dozen sea lions will cavort. Philip D. Perkins, show had been completed with the officials of Como park in St. Paul for the mid-winter appearance of the seal troupe.

The show patrons will have a chance to feed the seals and all funds realized from the sale of the fish food will be donated to the Como park animal emergency fund.

The zoo's baby lions & tigers, bears, monkeys and other recent additions are scheduled to make guest star appearances in the hall of nature throughout the week. Another Como park personality will appear at the sport show but not in the new section. He's Sparky II, who is billed as the "smartest seal in show business."

For many years Sharkey was the seal hero of sport show crowds. His comedy sense and spirited leaps made him the undisputed king of the field. With his passing came a series of one and two-season stars. Four years ago Sparky II moved into the limelight and, according to his trainer, Archie Brand, is improving each day. Today he's considered the best performing seal in the entertainment world.

we've been expecting you

Copyright 1969 Keister Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

On a busy night in New York—or any other city—it pays to be expected. After our wanderings we crave welcome.

There is somewhere else we are expected . . . and welcomed!

Here is an aspect of religious concern which isn't emphasized enough: Whatever you've done about it, you are conscious of the fact that you need God. But are you aware else that God needs you?

Or, putting it another way, do you realize that one of the churches in our community has been expecting you—waiting for you to add your strength to that of your neighbors, your brothers in faith?

You don't need a reservation. Only a reverent heart.

Farmes Proposes Plan On Waterfowl Depredations

CONCLUSIONS

Most committee members believed that the idea of an insurance program needed further exploration. Thus an insurance sub-committee was formed. Discussions at these meetings together with the regular committee meetings have led to the following conclusions:

1. The future success of waterfowl management programs and habitat preservation and acquisition of wildlife areas in Minnesota and North Dakota as well as in other states may be dependent upon a satisfactory solution to the depredations problem. Wildlife people engaged in waterfowl habitat preservation programs agree that a satisfactory solution would materially advance their programs.

2. As wildlife land acquisition and management by the States and the Federal Government is expanded, farmers are more closely able to identify the source of depredating ducks with Government ownership.

3. Although past court decisions have absolved the Federal Government from waterfowl crop damage claims, State of Minnesota claims have not been resolved and there is uncertainty as to Federal and State court actions under certain potential crop loss conditions. Both Federal and State agencies have in fact, assumed certain responsibilities, particularly around purchased, developed and managed areas.

4. The extent of farmer willingness to contribute money and labor toward crop protection varies widely. It is determined largely by individual "social" attitude (his willingness to contribute to the waterfowl resource), his expectations of some economic or esthetic return through hunting or enjoyment of waterfowl sights and sounds, and the immediate threat of irrecoverable loss. Some farmers believe that the entire responsibility of control rests with the Government.

5. There are wide differences of opinion among wildlife people themselves as to the extent of Government responsibility for control. The Central Flyway Waterfowl Management Plan discusses responsibility for control of waterfowl damage and states that:

"In the absence of either sanctuary or food supply, there would be no problem. With both, the problem may become grave, and reponsibility for control of damage is usually the responsibility of Federal and State game agencies. In instances which such agencies are responsible through land acquisition and development they should accept the responsibility of alleviating damage."

6. With these wide extremes of opinion about responsibility now present, a compromise level must be reached. We believe that an insurance program can offer this compromise.

7. Existing Federal Crop Insurance or private insurance policies do not offer coverage to meet the need. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, insures against all the hazards of nature including wildlife. However a farmer cannot start collecting under this program until a certain percentage of his crop is already lost. Basically, this program is designed to pay only the investment in the crop. Thus insurance for wildlife damages is already available from the Federal Government, but we believe that changes are needed in the case of waterfowl depredations.

The Province of Saskatchewan has had a wildlife crop damage insurance program since 1953. For a two per cent premium small grains are insured against damage by waterfowl, cranes and big game. Coverage is offered in multiples of $5 an acre to a maximum of $25. The program is administered by the Saskatchewan Government Insurance Office and financed by a $1 surcharge on hunting licenses together with the premium payments. Premiums just about cover the cost of administration and most crop losses are paid from the surcharge. The program has been well accepted (Klassen, 1969). In 1966, 824 farmers were insured for a total of $2,509,102. Premiums paid amounted to $51,506 and losses paid were $148,118 (Paynter, undated).

PROPOSAL

Until better control of waterfowl depredations can be accomplished, we propose that a pilot or experimental insurance package designed after the Saskatchewan plan be made available. It should be limited to one particular problem area such as northwestern Minnesota until a satisfactory plan has been developed. Then it should be made available Nationally. While the detail of operation should be determined by insurance experts with the help of knowledgeable wildlife people, certain aspects of such a program have been discussed by the waterfowl depredations committee.

The plan must have premiums low enough so that it will be readily acceptable by farmers within the potential crop damage area. This means that a major portion of the cost will have to be borne by a Government agency. A premium rate and coverage similar to the Saskatchewan program appears practical in Minnesota.

The plan must leave the farmer with an acceptable level of responsibility so that he will devote a reasonable expenditure of time and funds to the control effort. That is, he would stand to gain economically by putting forth a reasonable effort at crop protection. The pilot program would determine his "reasonable level".

A farmer should probably be required to insure all his acreage of a susceptible crop if he participated. This might help to prevent certain types of questionable farming practices just to collect insurance.

Farmers could collect for any significant waterfowl caused losses up to a suggested limit of $20 per acre in Minnesota. Since most small grain crops are worth more than this, farmers should still be interested in controlling losses. Maximum coverages should be adjusted according to area and based on the value of the crop.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation has the background and experience plus most of the field force necessary to handle such a program. State Federal Crop Insurance personnel are interested in such a program and believe that authorization to handle a pilot program could be made through an amendment to existing laws.

SOURCE OF FUNDS

A capital indemnity fund and annual funds to maintain this level could come from one of several sources:

1. An annual Federal appropriation from general revenue funds is believed to be the most because the Federal Govern- ional scope of the problem and because the Federal Government is charged with the responsibility of waterfowl management.

2. Duck stamp moneys are a possible source of funds although it is believed they should not carry the full burden if used at all. Many people in addition to duck stamp purchasers have a stake in the waterfowl resource.

3. States might contribute to the fund, but because of the National scope of the problem and the Federal responsibility, Federal funds should bear the major expense.

JUSTIFICATION

The obvious question to be raised here is why should crop insurance be made available for losses due to waterfowl and not the many other game and nongame birds and mammals that cause economic hardship? Waterfowl management by both the Federal Government and many State agencies has become so extensive and intensive that their responsibilities for problems caused by this resource are greater. The waterfowl depredation problem is a serious deterrent to accomplishing these management objectives.

The success of such a program should not be judged solely by the number of participants, or by benefits distributed. A general improvement in farmer attitudes toward waterfowl management would be an important contribution. Until this improvement of farmer and local agricultural interests is obtained, waterfowl management programs will never have the support essential to carry out these programs. Hammond (1964), I believe, expresses our thoughts when he offers this suggestion: "This country has a surplus of one crop (grain) and a shortage of another crop (ducks). Payments to farmers for concessions and operations in behalf of migratory waterfowl, may well prove rewarding to this grain-rich, recreation hungry Nation."

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my thanks to the members of the Minnesota waterfowl depredations control committee and especially the insurance sub-committee. I want to give special thanks to Merrill C. Hammond, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife for his help in developing this paper. Special credit should be given to Herbert H. Dill, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, for initiating efforts to form the waterfowl depredations control committee and for leadership through the first years of operation.

ODD FACTS

SNOW REMOVAL

AMERICA'S EARLIEST SETTLERS relied on snow shoes to get from one place to another in the wake of blizzards. The shoes of trekkers were five feet long and very narrow, while those of lumbermen were broader, but only three-and-a-half feet long.

BOOTS AND GALOSHES became popular in cities. Teams of shovelers removed snow from important thoroughfares. With the development of the "horseless carriage," motorized snow plows and shovels became feasible, then popular. Today, even rubbers and galoshes appear doomed, for economical steel pipe systems are being used to melt snow as it falls.

A STEAM OR HOT WATER SYSTEM warms and circulates antifreeze solution through buried coils of long-lasting, low-cost steel pipe, spaced about a foot apart. Steel pipe can be installed under a 50-foot driveway for as little as $300.00. Extensive steel pipe systems can be used to melt snow before it shuts down a city, crippling business and industry.

Spicy Pancakes For Breakfast Variety

Traditionally little girls acquire their sweet dispositions from "sugar and spice and everything nice." But an occasional dash of lemon adds variety. Serve these Lemon-Spice Pancakes to little girls, big girls, men and boys for sunny smiles all around the breakfast table.

The freshness of grated lemon peel and the gentle spice of cinnamon and nutmeg combine to give the pancakes a flavor lift. Served with sweet, fluffy honey butter, they're guaranteed breakfast winners! Easy pancake mix preparation gives you a lift, too, convenience and dependability contribute to your own "sugar and spice" feeling.

LEMON-SPICE PANCAKES

Makes 8 servings

Honey Butter

- ½ cup butter or margarine, soft
- ½ cup honey

Pancakes

- 2 cups pancake mix
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon

- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening

For honey butter, beat butter until creamy. Gradually add honey, beating constantly.

Editorials . . . .

"Frankly, it's time we had a little less pity for those who refuse to help themselves, and a little more respect for the doer, for the achiever. Instead of emphasizing the sideline critic, let's encourage the responsible citizen. Remember that Lincoln's name is immortal today—not because he lived in that log cabin, but because he got out of it."

Richard G. Capen Jr.

Coincidence?

Over a period of the past several years, the following copy of some of the "Communist Rules for Revolution" has been published in a number of newspapers and magazines. The copy was obtained in May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany, by the Allied Forces. We printed the list some time go, but are printing it again to keep the public aware of what is happening in our country. Here are some of the rules:

"A. Corrupt the young; get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.

"B. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby: 1—Get peoples' minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities. 2—Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance. 3—Destroy the peoples' faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule, obloquy. 4—Always preach true democracy; but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible. 5—By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credits, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent. 6—Promote unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of the government toward such disorders. 7—By specious argument cause the break down of the old moral virtues, honesty, sobriety, continence faith in the pledged work and ruggedness.

"C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext with a view of confiscating them and leaving the population helpless."

This was quite a list, wasn't it? Now stop and think how many of these rules are being carried out in the nation today? How can any thinking person truthfully say that the Communists do not have any part in the chaos that is upsetting our nation. Or is it just one big coincidence?

Hey, Metro Area . . . We're Here, Too!

The following editorial appeared recently in the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

Thousands of Minnesotans who follow the activities of the state legislature through the metropolitan daily press must be rapidly concluding that many influential powers believe little or nothing exists outside of the Twin Cities and Duluth. We would like to remind them that rural Minnesota is still very much here—and very observant in addition.

The Herald editorialized some weeks ago to the effect that we feared the urban coalition in the state legislature would become so strong that the problems of the countryside would be minimized or even forgotten. Recent comments in the metropolitan press would indicate that these fears were well grounded—that, in fact, the situation may prove to be even worse than anticipated.

A recent St. Paul Dispatch editorial commented at length on the statements of the Saintly City mayor regarding his expectations from the legislature. Mayor Byrne showed a deep understanding of his community problems, but none at all as far as out-state Minnesota is concerned. Said the Dispatch: "Apparently a number of inequities that were allowed to creep in during long years of rural dominance in the Legislature are beginning to catch up with the state's central cities. These inequities should be removed as part of a legislative package to keep St. Paul and Minneapolis solvent."

Hold it, boys. Let's try to keep the state as a whole solvent, including the metro area. And in the process let us not demean the efforts and abilities of our out-state legislators, both of today and of years past. These legislative leaders have contributed generously to the progress of Minnesota and in so doing certainly have not endangered the welfare of the so-called "central cities." (That "central cities" bit is intriguing. Wonder what ad agency coined it?)

In any event, the problems of the cities today are of no greater impact than the problems of the rural areas. Both are in need of study and solution—but neither will benefit at the expense of the other. Rural legislators, in our judgment, are fully cognizant of the metro difficulties. At least such is the case where lawmakers from our part of the state are concerned. We seriously question whether the equally basic and important problems of the countryside are receiving similar thought and consideration from either the metropolitan area legislators or the metropolitan area press.

There are a few "small town boys" up there who just might have been around long enough to help all parts of the state grow and prosper, if they are given an opportunity to do so both by the metropolitan faction and the monopoly press. We are thinking of such lawmakers as Sens. Norman Larson, Gordon Rosenmeier, Stanley Holmquist, John Olson, Lew Larson, Walter Franz, Joe Josephson, Henry Harren and any number of other extremely able people. But the "big town boys" had better remember that these gentlemen have a few problems of their own at home—and only through mutual respect and cooperation can achievement and progress throughout the state be realized.

Cost of Control

It costs the city of New York $72.87 to process each application for a pistol permit, according to an independent survey prepared for the National Commission on he Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The commission report, although only a "preliminary cost analysis," is the most detailed study yet made on how much firearms control programs cost. The 63-page report was made by Research Associates, Inc. of Silver Spring, Maryland.

During hassles over firearms controls, both sides have made guesses at how much it costs to license a gun owner and register a firearm. The commission's detailed study on New York City is the first time that "true" average dollar costs have been determined.

A New York police officer, who testified at recent commission hearings, told reporters that in some cases, where there was special checking for a new applicant, the cost was $500.

The report points out that costs to New York City vary from one precinct to another. But the $72.87 per handgun applicant is only the direct cost to the city.

The research also showed that there were many indirect costs to the applicant. In addition to the direct fee of $20 for an applicant, he loses considerable time off from work, has transportation costs, photo costs and may suffer "gross inconvenience."

The study states, "Indirect costs of firearms control programs are as important as the direct costs."

The basic research on New York City, for both direct and indirect costs, has national significance. New York was the first city to have registration and licensing and has been highly touted as a model for other cities to follow.

The report does not cover one topic that sportsmen are concerned with: When a city suddenly finds out what its control program really costs, will fees be set so high that the average citizen can no longer afford to own a firearm.

Transportation Changes

Ken Hickman's column in the Grand Rapids Herald-Review contains this list of rules for state coach passengers which was posted at the Wells Fargo museum at Tombstone, Ariz.:

"Abstinence from liquor is requested, but if you must drink, share the bottle—to do otherwise makes you appear selfish and un-neighborly. If ladies are present, gentlemen are urged to forego smoking cigars and pipes as the odor of same is repugnant to the gentle sex. Chewing tobacco is permitted, but spit with the wind, not against it. Gentlemen must refrain from the use of rough language in the presence of ladies and children.

"Firearms may be kept on your person for use in emergencies. Do not fire them for pleasure or shoot at wild animals as the sound riles the horses. In the event of runaway horses, remain calm. Leaping from the coach in panic will leave you injured, at the mercy of the elements, hostile Indians and hungry coyotes. Gents guilty of unchivalrous behavior toward lady passengers will be put off the stage. It's a long walk back. A word to the wise is sufficient."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

A family in Germany was enjoying A special mushroom dish for supper. Suddenly they noticed the family cat under the table—mewing piteously and writhing in pain. Papa, who just a few minutes before had given the animal a taste of mushrooms, rushed the entire family to a hospital where all had their stomachs pumped. Shaky from the ordeal but grateful to the cat for the timely warning, they returned home. There was the benefactress, still under the table, cuddling seven new kittens.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have been a reader of "The Thief River Falls Times" for 20 years or more, but the two articles on page one, Second Section and page one, Food Section, in the March 12th issue of your paper is the last straw. If your paper are going to be used as propaganda from the State Game and Fish Department, you can cancel my subscription. You have been taking the side of one of the farmers worst enemies, the State Game and Fish Department ever since you took over as editor of the Times, and I see no reason why we farmers should support your paper. The two animals on the inclosed photo are not farmers dogs, but wolves, four more of the same kind has been killed on our farms since last fall, even so, a few days ago one of my sons shot at wolves twice in one day, and the next morning he saw another wolf in his cattle yard when he came out to feed his cattle. If it is true that it is farmers dogs, and not wolves that are killing deer and livestock, why did we not see articles like this a few years ago when we had ten times as many deer and very few wolves? The farmers had dogs then too.

This area has lost thousands of dollars worth of crops to ducks back thru the years, now we are expected to feed the game departments pet wolves too without compensation. Is it possible that anyone are so ignorant that they believe it possible that wolves can ever become extinct in this area that borders hundreds of thousands of square miles of wilderness from here to Hudson Bay?

We are sick and tired of pouring our money into the State conservation building rate hole, and see only less game and more wolves every year, wolf feed is really expensive to the farmer and the sportsman who do not need the wolf in the first place and no one else does.

We would like to see the whole Game and Fish Department fired, except a few of the good game wardens, they could work under the Forestry Department, and the Minnesota State legislatures could set seasons and regulations, they are men with common sense, and could do a much better job, and it would save hundreds of thousands of dollars every year.

It's Spring

Look what's happening! Spring swings in, full of news and bright with fashion. For women, the look is softer, lovelier. For men, it's the handsome season. Girls and boys go carefree, bright and breezy. Home is cozier, prettier. Preview spring in this newspaper . . . see it in your Thief River Falls stores.

Vivid Color, Design Update Sport Coats

Knits get the spring nod for men. Here, a white sportcoat is teamed with dark slacks and a narrow striped knit.

Zip-front cardigan jacket takes a stand-up collar and hacking pockets for new "sculptured look" in men's sportswear.

Men's sportcoats go into the "shaped" look, and greet the season with lively colors and patterns.

In all styles the move is towards vibrant, more intense colors, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

A man can brighten his life with lively greens, bright blues, orangey-reds and lemon-yellows. Or, if he chooses to be somewhat less colorful, he can find softer shades of the primary colors.

Last season's more subdued shades are still here, but are often updated and sparked with a contrasting overplaid.

These new colors are splashed into a variety of geometric designs, and the spring shopper will find that the patterns are often as bold as their colors.

Plaids are featured in airy windowpanes, and checks are shown in houndstooth. Stripes appear in bold chalk lines.

The combination of vibrant colors and bold patterns results in some very lively sport coats.

All patterns are tailored into a host of styles, giving a choice of models. Shape is the dominant theme in the new models for spring, but here again the range is wide enough to suit all tastes.

A man who prefers the natural shoulder line or just a hint of shape to his jacket has a wide selection in Traditional models. For the man who likes to try the new in fashion, there are the highly shaped Edwardian and Regency models.

These are usually three-button models with a deep center vent. In addition to the fitted waist, they feature wider lapels and a larger collar.

Blazers, popular for several seasons, go on and on to new peaks of popularity. They are extremely versatile, and can be worn for many occasions and with any kind of slacks.

The new six- and eight-button double-breasted models are ideal for the man who wants the look of tomorrow.

Sportcoats and slacks get together for spring, in fabrics planned for color coordination —

Once limited only to sport shirts and sweaters, knits for men are branching out in spring wardrobes, and appearing in both sportcoats and slacks. Example here is a knit sportcoat which boasts stripes and three-button Traditional styling.

Little Girls Step Softly, Prettily, As Pumps, Sandals Gain in Favor

Soft and pretty is the leather shoe look for little girls this spring. Toelines generally are softly rounded, and even in school and play styles, a lower cut is starting to replace the sporty high-tongued look.

Keeping to the soft, pretty mood are American shoe leathers and colors. Pastels are pale and creamy — pink, blue, yellow. Deeper shades are clear but not hard — among them, red, lemon, emerald green and electric blue.

Lots of brown is in prospect — an integral part of the leather look.

Choice of leathers is wide, with smooth, grained, brushed, antique, lustre and patent in the picture.

Pumps go light and breezy, making their point with cutouts. Appearing at the vamp or side, these openings might be geometric or in petal designs. When the pump is closed, it's trimmed with buttons, bows and appliques.

Other slip-ons keep to the line of hardware and high tongues.

Sandals return to favor, showing straps mostly in narrow widths. T's, cross-overs and halters appear.

Laced leather oxfords offer many fashion treatments: saddles and kilties, spectator-ties in varied color combinations, soft ribbon laces.

The leather moccasin remains the classic. This spring it features modified hardware, kiltie fringe or tassels, monk straps and hand-sewn stitching. There's a choice of toe shapes — squared or rounded.

Back on the little-girl fashion scene is the leather ballet slipper. It comes in various colors, is flat-heeled and may have a bow or cockade as trim.

Play-minded sandals come in bared styles with a strippy look or sporty air. The fancier styles show flowers, bows, bells, buttons.

Brown or tan sandals with a hand-crafted look come in waxy, antiqued and hand-stained leathers and are occasionally trimmed with rope or brass.

Pants under a dress, tunic or a jumper are newly designed for mothers-to-be.

Sport Shirts Try On Bold, Quiet Styles

Sport shirts are styled this spring to fit every mood and taste. Whether a man prefers them loose and easy, shaped or close fitting, whether he likes them bold and bright or on the quiet side, there's a sport shirt for him in the stores now.

Knit shirts come out with top honors, remaining the most popular of sport shirt styles. They are extremely versatile, can be worn for many occasions and with any type of slacks, notes the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Brighter colors make news in men's felt hats — greener greens, bluer blues and brickier browns. This one has contrast band with dobby tweed texture. By Knox.

In addition they pack well, and have long been the favorite of golfers, tennis players, and other active sportsmen. Still popular are the intricately designed knits in pullover and coat styles.

For the man who likes the "coordinated" look, some of the newer spring knits have attached matching ascots. Mock turtle collars remain important, but the classic placketed collar is returning to masculine favor.

For the man who wishes to be fashionably ahead of his friends and neighbors, spring offers many new looks. The most fitted of the new models are the body shirts, which have two curved seams from the sleeve down the back of the shirt.

Most romantic of the new spring shirts is the Artist or the Romeo shirt. This style features bell sleeves and an open neck with a long flowing collar. It is often shown in silk, giving it a very smooth look.

And for the man who is in a party mood and wants to wear a different kind of shirt at home, the new Cubavera shirt fits right in. These are pleated, worn on the outside, and adorned with chain belts.

For backyard barbecues, a vacation or lounging, new print shirts come in a variety of colors and unusual designs. They add a bright note to any gathering.

Sport shirts, whether contemporary or traditional knits, spruce up in vibrant and lively colors for spring. They include Belgian blues, spruce greens and mulberry pinks.

These brilliant shades appear in solids, prints and a multitude of stripes — pin, ticking, multi and Roman.

Victorian look for spring's bride appears in organza with Alencon lace — and in diamonds worn Victorian-fashion across her brow.

Bride Turns Clock Back For Romance

The fragile Victorian Look is the fashion look appearing for the young bride in the spring and summer of 1969.

Gazebos, daisies in the grass, slides in the parlor, India carpets, cut crystal raised in a toast, her curtsy, his bow from the waist — all these can be seen as the bride turns the clock back in order to be new.

Necklines rise high and lovely with lace. Some lace lightly ornaments the throat, some forms a ruff beneath the chin—all for a prim and proper look.

Sleeves are important. In fact, no recent bridal season has seen the variety in sleeve design that this one offers.

Bridal sleeves are short, three-quarter or long. What they have in common is that they are uncommonly decorative and an important feature of every fashionable gown.

Long sleeves are either very full or very close-fitting, and cuffed or ruffed at the wrist. Three-quarter sleeves are lantern shaped, or snug to the elbow and flounced. Short sleeves are capped, poufed or double-poufed.

Headdresses are unusually elaborate. The floral wreath is back, and this season is worn in a horseshoe-shape framing the face. Lace caps and tiny high coronels may prove to be especially popular.

The spring bride who receives a diamond pin for her gift of wedding jewelry can wear it as an accent on her high lace collar, or—as did Princess Alexandra, Queen Victoria's daughter-in-law—sparkling atop a lace coronet.

Traditionally, in any era, the bride's diamond earclips are of simple design. Popular choices are the diamond "stud," a cluster or a scroll. Diamond drops for the bride should be small and worn immediately below the ear.

Wearing Bridal Jewels

Since the forehead has come to the fore in fashion, part of the bridal headdress may be a jewel on the brow.

This season, the traditional diamond wedding pendant, for example, may be worn on the forehead a la Feronniere—the revived Victorian fashion which decrees a fine chain around the head, disappearing beneath the bridal veil with a single diamond glittering in the center of the forehead.

Masculine look of leather in spring '69 shoes puts emphasis on line and detail, with leathers both rugged and refined. Clockwise, from upper left, are: antiqued patent dress slip-on, five-eyelet brushed leather casual tie, smooth leather chukka with wide monk strap, antiqued grained leather moc, smooth leather slip-on.

Shoes Make the Man Into Country Squire

Care to play the country squire? Boldly-styled leather boots or brogues make it possible for a man in spring. On the other foot, he can turn sophisticate by slipping into elegant slip-ons.

Leather, line, trim — each lends itself to the particular character of the different men's shoes being shown. The American leather textures used include a variety of tannables: smooth, grained, antiqued, cordovan, waxy, glove, brushed, split cowhide, suede leathers.

Going to the office are both rugged and refined types of footwear. For the posh look, men may wear polished high-cut slip-ons in smooth and grained leathers.

To set off the leather texture, such styling devices as gold bars and chain, monk-straps, "turtleneck" gores and medallion toes are used.

Boots for business-and-dress are most often jodhpur or demi-boot styles in glossy smooth, fine-grained and embossed leathers.

These may come with deep side gores, narrow single or double straps, or stitching.

Leather brogues, hearty and masculine, have been slimmed down weight-wise during the tanning process. The brogue shows such touches as squared or knobby toes, perfs both pin-hole and heavy, pinking, and wheeled extension soles.

New oxfords are a versatile assortment of sleek or dress-casual ties in various leathers. In the latter category, a good-looking addition is the suede leather bal-oxford with a smattering of perforations.

Another steady winner, especially with the younger man, is the saddle oxford, seen in white-with-dark and dark-on-dark tones of leather.

Dress-casual footwear with a distinctive look pops up everywhere this spring. There are white grained leather slip-ons trimmed in dark patent leather, white smooth leather boot-shoes and white suede leather oxfords.

A newcomer to this double-duty type of shoe is the slip-on, often a moc type, in "wet look" leather, a smooth leather with a highly glazed finish.

Putting feet on a strictly informal basis are soft slip-ons and tie-shoes in brushed, glove and waxy leathers. Slip-on style notes include brass plates or studs, monk-straps, or smart tunneled straps.

For casuals well-suited to hard spring and summer labor, look for tough but supple split cowhide work-shoes adapted from footgear originally designed for construction workers.

Moccasins are marked for a full schedule. Making it a foot-happy spring are beef-roll, tassel-tie and kiltie mocs.

Also available are hand-sewn moc-boots, and brogue mocs with their welted leather soles.

The boldness of brass is used as moc trim in the form of rivets, studs, plates, bits.

Shoes for more formal occasions appear in fine-grained or smooth leather slip-ons, bal-oxfords or dress boots. Dinner jackets and other "strictly formal" clothes call for patent leather oxfords or pumps (plain or with bow).

Hats Heading For Colorful Season

As the calendar changes, men's hats change for the season ahead.

New felts are brighter than anything seen in a whole month of springtimes—brick, frond green, azula blue, brown copper. A bright hue may be spiced with a tweed-weave bond for the favored pinchfront, snap brim style.

Newest look in casual fabric hats is the duo-toner. It harmonizes tweedy check wool with specially colored hopsack.

Pocket hats come on strong for spring in brighter colors and interesting fabric weaves. The non-woven polyester type takes punishment of rain and sun, avoiding wrinkles.

For the more formal casual look, there are plaids, checks, herringbones and hopsacks, with the accent on lighter, brighter colors.

Now there are "he-she" hats, too—witness the Counterspy in a range of poplin colors. A young hat for girls or boys, it takes many shapes, rolls, folds.

Men Get More Knits

More knits for men are in the offing, as apparel manufacturers take up their knitting to provide sportcoats and slacks, as well as sweaters and shirts, for the masculine market.

Sportcoats particularly show the trend which takes in a variety of colors and textures. Patterns might include stripes, miniature or pencil checks.

Knitted slacks, while perhaps not as widely available, still are present, often in dark solids.

COATS EVERYWHERE

Weather resistant, but not simply raincoats, are new everywhere coats for a man's spring. They travel, go to business and relax.

Shirtdress renaissance might well be the underlying theme of spring's new dress trend. This silhouette is seen in all manner of fabric from nylon ciré for casual wear, to delicate watered silk or print chiffon for dress-up. Shown, ruffled print polyester and cotton by Flutterbye.

Textured Fabrics Loom Ahead

Texture is the message for spring fabrics that consider the alternatives of ready-to-wear fashion — with softness, surface and body — in colors clean and clear or soft and muted.

The issue rises to the surface with cloques, piques, nubs, slubs, lenas, seersuckers, textured knits and dimensional jacquards that prove favorable prospects for afternoon-to-afterdark dressing.

Crisply tailored men's wear fabrics make fair promise to let a girl interpret the pants-plus look her way, in classic patterns, often heavily textured. Plaids, tweeds and checks dominate the theme.

Drapable fabrics with dimension think likely to slink and shine in supple knits, jerseys and clinging crepes that play the vamp to the hilt.

For sporting occasions are down-to-earth fabrics in denim, muslin, gingham (cut-out or embroidered) and bandana prints. The charm of the Pennsylvania Dutch countryside is captured in a print full of horses, houses, birds and trees.

Tender as the night tints of color bloom in spring woolens, see-through sheers, laces and chiffons for summertime wear.

Florals spring up, as it happens, to headline the news in print with wild flowers and formal gardens. They provide the basis for nostalgic patterns that borrow from the past the French toile, Victorian wallpaper and tapestry patterns.

Strong primitives reminiscent of early art forms and bold abstracts balance the possibilities.

All kinds of embellishments lavished on all kinds of fabrics appear in the manner influenced by the European couture. Beads, braids, ribbons and massive embroidery in stylized geometric patterns depart for gala evenings.

Flag-waving red, white and blue in trio or tandem parade through spring — as do the pastels. Peach, coral, mauve (either alone or as accents) and soft, silvery gray lead to a romantic mood.

TRAVELING FASHION

Fashion makes it easier to travel with a whole wardrobe of changeable looks. The new math adds up a dress or tunic over pants, jumper and blouse over pants, skirt over dress over pants.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

Projecting the men's wear news, fashion authorities point to the eight-button double-breasted look as a coming trend.

Pouffy sleeves, frilly jabot are fashion pointers displayed by bandana print dress. By Bleeker Street in Wamsutta's polyester-cotton voile.

Trims of lace, ribbon and rickrack help to make the sleeve pretty for spring.

Stockings Send Spring Message Of 'Legcitement'

Hosiery designers underscore the fashion message in a spring that puts softness, subtlety in motion.

The spring message is pantyhose as the answer to skirts which remain short, summer shoes which never bare a leg and city, country, patio pants which require a sleek underpinning.

Knee highs almost sheer and always subtly patterned in the subdued no-pastels and somber neutrals accompany brief skirts, shorts and golf skirts.

The body stocking in plain or pastel, net or lace, designed to be seen from stem to throat, fills in for sheer lace gowns, peek-aboo cutouts.

Legcitement in mad, mad legs for the young and daring proposes prints, stripes and hieroglyphics.

The message is wet and wonderful — a look silk and rainwashed gleams in sheerest evening pastels and opaque pantyhose.

Shoes Stand on Ladylike Footing, Are Treated to Higher Heels

New shoe styles rate a "soft sell" from fashion this spring and leather is an integral part of the look.

Supple yet rugged are the new shoe leathers in smooth, embossed, lustre and genuine patent leathers; suede and antiqued leathers; grained and brushed leathers, and others.

As part of the new femininity, heels are on the rise. These raised heels are not as high or thin as the stilletos once seen.

They're thicker and sport varying shapes: straight, curved, round, occasionally pinched or flattened at back. Of course, chunky low (not flat) and mid-heels are also stepping through spring.

Pumps go the ladylike route in a number of ways, and a number of leathers, notes Leather Industries of America.

There's the pump with bow or ornament — slings, and pumps with embroidered openings dotting the instep. Classic indeed are d'Orsay pumps, either cut to a V at the side or two-piece with distinct separation.

Even those chunky-heeled high-tongued "monster" pumps have undergone refinement. They show a slimming in tongue or strap, a lighter touch of brass and a higher heel.

A most important influence in spring footwear is the spectator. Many a pump, sandal, tie and even mule is wearing the spectator look, done in a range of treatments.

Especially for the urban life are "city sandals," sophisticates with a country flavor. These may be mid-heel casuals or more exposed sandals, also with a mid-heel.

Keeping it casual, the moccasin meets the season's demand for femininity with softer leathers, lighter colors and such touches as fringe, nailheads and higher tongues.

However, sportier penny mocs, moc-boots and monk-straps are also in the picture.

For after-dark dazzle shoes have a beauty that's skin-deep with the skin in smooth, lustre, suede and embossed leathers plus antiqued patents and metal-grained leathers.

Adornment comes in the sparkle of a jeweled strap or throat-line, appliqued flowers, gleaming mirror or lucite ornament.

Footwear for spring takes a soft, feminine turn, in leather shoe styles for all occasions. Clockwise, from upper right, are: suede pump with self-leather bow, spectator in grained and patent leathers, lustre leather T-strap sandal, waxy leather "city sandal" and smooth leather tie. Shoes by Caressa, Howard Fox, Palter deLiso, Sbicca and Bass "Tacks."

Pants Prevalent, But Shirtdress, Jumper Arrive

Will spring find pants completely replacing skirts in feminine fashions?

The prevalence of pants throughout fashion collections — pants for day, pants for evening, pants for everybody and everywhere — seems to say, "Yes." Common sense, however, says, "No."

Even the most style-conscious women, who may choose a citypants costume or two, will certainly continue with skirted fashions as the mainstays of their wardrobes.

Then what does fashion offer besides pants?

Shirtdresses and jumpers, always basic, really come into their own now.

The shirtdress offers an unending variety of colors, prints and style themes, from the crisply tailored to the prettily feminine.

The jumper, in every fabric and color and in new fit and flare styles, mixes well with blouses and shirts. It goes over pants, too.

Two other spring leaders are the sportswear idea of many parts that add up well and the dressier look of suit with its own blouse and/or vest or dress mated with jacket or coat. For total dressing, the costume still rules.

Picture of spring in fashion is the costume — for instance, this double-knit shift and boldly-striped coat.

Quilted vests and boleros follow the soft look into spring sportswear.

Separates look for the one-piece dress marks a trend for spring. Here, it's a sleeveless, textured skimmer, with its own [illegible] belt.

Sleeves Shape Up In Fashion Line

Long or short, the sleeve rules supreme.

As a major factor in fashion, sleeve shapes take their cues from the Forties influence now pervading spring styles. The exaggerated shoulderline which was a fashionmark of the Forties gets a '69 interpretation.

Coats Go Graceful, Have More Detail

The spring look for coats is fluid and unconfined — opting for a casual shape that relies on important details. The new coats accomplish this most with interesting collars and pockets, belts and buttons — and even a few pleated skirts.

The choice of coats is wide but, the silhouette is narrowed, fitted and flared, notes the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry.

Mainly belted, some silhouettes depend on their inner shapings for the incurving waist and light flare. All in all, the lines fit with grace, giving coats the look of bulkless little dresses.

Spring underscores the message with collars high and side-fastened with only one button, lapeled or small and rounded. In general, except for the big rounded lapels, collars are small and trim.

Because fashion says it with originality, there are other silhouettes in the offing for those who haven't done their waist-whittling exercises. One example flows straight from the shoulders with nothing but a high collar to interrupt the swing. Another is a trumpet look.

The bathrobe coat sans buttons and tied with elegant ease appears to be a spring favorite too.

Colors and fabrics are an integral part of the coat picture.

Fabrics are drapable and lightweight with enough body to hold that line. Lovely worsteds, failles, tricotines, grosgrains, crepes stand out, as do high fashion checks, plaids and tweeds (often in new pastel plaids).

The boy-girl fashion look calls for men's wear fabrics such as herringbones and flannels. And styling contributes to this togetherness.

Colors come in clean and pure from light beiges, grays and mushroom to white and navy, patriotic red-white-and-blue, no-holds-barred red-red.

The delicate shadings — tints of turquoise and ice blue, yellows pale and subtle, beige pink, peach sherbet, lilac, mauve and several others — color spring coats in the mood of femininity.

Coat and matching dress add up to spring fashion. Costume shown is in textured cotton, with gentle shape. Suggested by National Board, Coat and Suit Industry.

Back-swept hair style complements a scarfed shirtwaist dress, in checked and striped silk. Scarfed dress by Donald Brooks, hair style arranged by Helene Curtis.

Legging along to complete the spring sportswear picture are almost sheer knee-highs in subtle colors.

PANTDRESS '69—Winning all-American honors for resort wear is the pantdress in bright red, white, and blue plaid cotton. The elongated torso lines are emphasized by contrast banding and symmetrical flap detail.

Hats Heading For Colorful Season

As the calendar changes, men's hats change for the season ahead.

New felts are brighter than anything seen in a whole month of springtimes—brick, frond green, azula blue, brown copper. A bright hue may be spiced with a tweed-weave band for the favored pinchfront, snap brim style.

Newest look in casual fabric hats is the duo-toner. It harmonizes tweedy check wool with specially colored hopsack.

Pocket hats come on strong for spring in brighter colors and interesting fabric weaves. The non-woven polyester type takes punishment of rain and sun, avoiding wrinkles.

For the more formal casual look, there are plaids, checks, herringbones and hopsacks, with the accent on lighter, brighter colors.

Good Mixers Start Furnishings Trend

"Selecting, choosing from various sources, systems."

This dictionary definition of the word "eclectic" sums up the most prevalent trend in home fashion today.

A simpler, more familiar way of saying the same thing is, "mixing styles." In today's homes furnishings traditional or contemporary, from many eras and areas, live together compatibly, bringing beauty and comfort to the home — and giving the homemaker more scope in planning and arranging home decor.

The elegance of the traditional is married to the clean, airy look of the contemporary, with results that are both pleasing to the eye and beneficial to living ease. The Mediterranean mood, with its feeling of richness and a touch of the ornate, is right at home with the linear look of modern furnishings.

Providing Country Air

Country looks, either English or early American, link their sturdy warmth to the somewhat more delicate casualness of Italian or French Provincial.

Bringing outdoor furniture, and the outdoor look, indoors for a year-round atmosphere that's bright and relaxed is a part of the trend toward picking and choosing from the best of all seasons, as well as all styles, whether the furnishings are casual or formal.

The family's preferences, and the family's pattern of living, are the guides to "eclectic" home decorating, which brings together many different elements into one harmonious blend, complete in its attractiveness.

Evidence of this trend is seen, too, in the increasing emphasis on materials and colors, which may mix together or embody two themes in one.

Offering Modern Ease

Fine woods show off their grain and their patina in today's furniture. They are at once natural and opulent. Glass and metals, used in modern ways, are traditionally elegant in appearance — and both appear increasingly in decorating schemes.

Man-made fibers, in carpeting particularly, certainly offer modern ease, yet they also provide a wide range of color and pattern to lend a richness-of-yesteryear to every home.

In essence, the eclectic trend adds up to what every homemaker always knew. Good taste is a personal matter, and the basic rules for decorating are only a beginning.

Individuality — and individuals—make the difference between a neat, proper and dull decor and a home that's ready for living.

New idea for kitchens is a refrigerator-freezer with exterior door dispenser for ice water and cubes.

Carpeting makes a kitchen easier. Minimum maintenance and foam rubber backing appeal, in areas that take rough and tumble use. The carpeting shown here is Bigelow's Tiaga Deluxe.

LOOKING ELEGANT

For an elegant look, wall accessories such as cameos and medallions are mounted on velveteen under glass.

Cooking Up Plans For New Kitchen

Cooking up a master plan for a new kitchen?

Homemakers might well begin by gathering samples of paints, wallpaper, carpeting. This helps to visualize the over-all result.

Now, major appliances can play a part in the color plan. In hues such as harvest, coppertone, avocado, they might even set the theme.

For the personal touch, "season" the kitchen to taste. Show off shiny copper pots against a wall-hung pegboard. Let potted plants flourish on window sill. Or, decorate the walls with prints of fruits, vegetables.

MAKING SPACE

Space saving as well as good looks is aim of new designs in chairs, tables, wall units, which are made to stack and bunch conveniently.

MOVING INDOORS

Antique frame finishes, wide choice of upholstery patterns and colors combine to bring wrought iron furniture into living rooms.

Victorianism personified is the look of blouses for spring. Here, flower print, puffed sleeves, ruffled trim display dainty femininity, for a blouse in polyester and cotton. It's worn with a linen look A-line skirt.

Softer Mood Seen In All Fashions

Free and easy, that's the style for spring '69 — and fashions that know what being a woman is all about, for day, for night, for leisure.

The softened mood calls for pulling together the parts, but with a personal approach that bypasses the "safe" basics. A new feeling for freedom of choice prevails.

Clothes cut for closeness and ease are in the offering, with a new concept of femininity as reflected in this season's soft colors and fabrics.

Supple fabrics welcome the all female looks — slinky jerseys and acetates, nylon knits, crepes, voiles by day, and organza, chiffon, georgette, more crepe and voile for evening.

Recalling Forties' Looks

Fashion recalls the glamorous Forties with bare midriffs, flowing pantsuits, slacks plus blazer — and borrows from the Twenties and Thirties, too — then redefines the message in fresh '69 terms.

Pants costumes that practice the gentle art of persuasion take to the city or country with pants fitted and flared from the hip, the knee, the thigh.

Dresses are most often shirtwaists and smocks. The soft Forties feeling for gathered, shirred and bloused tops; short sleeves and broad shoulders influence many dresses this season.

Jumpers Innocent

The costume planned around a dress continues to thrive, in dress-jacket and dress-coat variations.

Fluid body dresses with wrapped waists act as accessories to the chains, scarves, cords and tassels that drape them.

Jumpers are for the most innocent sophisticates. The jumper as a natural extension of the vest appears in the schoolgirl tradition with a bow-tied blouse, as a sleeveless coat over pants and over skirts.

At-home looks bare the midriff, relax in softened jumpsuits, bloomer pants and flowing dresses in handkerchief weights.

If It Stays Dry, That's Rainwear

Just about the only way to identify rainwear this spring is to douse water on it and see if it stays dry.

Can a silk moire cocktail coat and dress ensemble be more than what it seems? Or a silk-and-worsted evening pantsuit? Most definitely. The more knockout the silhouette, the more it is a prototype of the exciting new breed of rainwear.

Spring rainwear encompasses just about any fashion look going, in every possible fabric. The only prerequisite—that it be weather-treated.

Classics are as impeccably tailored as ever, but in fresh new variations. A double-breasted boy coat flaunts its clean, spare lines in navy and white tennis stripes on cotton. A secret agent trench-coat makes its point in black and white silk tattersall checks.

Whether cut in lustrous broadcloth, double-knit jersey or tweedy tussah, coats are rich in detail. Braided half-belts, gold-rimmed buttons, scalloped yokes and gilded buckles on pockets and cuffs are some of the variations.

Rainwear abounds in pleats. Deep front pleats, hip pleats and inverted walking pleats enable the wearer to move and move fast in a downpour.

Prints come alive with new depths of coloring and unusual dimensional effects.

Black, white and black-white combinations are followed by white and navy. There are reds, corals and pale greens.

Annual boss-employee banquet was the main topic discussed at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Jaycees Tuesday. The annual banquet will be held on April 8 at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls, and will be open to wives and female employees. In previous years the banquet has been a stag event.

Jim Matson, general chairman for the banquet, announced that awards will be given for the outstanding young educator, outstanding older farmer, outstanding young farmer and outstanding boss, along with the distinguished service award for the community's outstanding young man.

Assisting Matson as chairmen are Art Heinz, DSA or outstanding young man award; Neil Toverno, outstanding young educator award; Wallace Sparby, outstanding young farmer and outstanding older farmer awards; Jon Larson, outstanding boss award; Jerry Hendrickson, banquet arrangements; and Bob Kosel, publicity.

Guest speaker will be Bert James, vice president of Walker Employment agency in Minneapolis and past president of the Minnesota Jaycees. Tickets for the event will go on sale this week.

A nomination blank is included in the Times today for the convenience of persons who would like to nominate possible recipients of awards to outstanding young man or outstanding boss. Jaycees request that persons making nominations provide their assistance in obtaining background information to assist judges in selection. Nominees for both awards will be selected on the basis of participation in community activities, leadership and service.

Selection of an older farmer will be based on this farmer's contribution to his community through activity in community affairs, and on his contributions and success in the agricultural field.

Agriculture plays a vital role in our local economic and social structure, and the Jaycees felt that it was appropriate that an award be given to an outstanding older farmer. The young farmer award is restricted to farmers under 36 years of age.

Two new projects were proposed and adopted. First one was a junior champ program, which is a competitive track event for boys and girls between the ages of seven and 11, and the other was a Jaycee-Prowler invitational track meet. Dates for both events will be announced at a later date.

Anderson-Johnson Vows Exchanged at Middle River

Miss Judy L. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer Anderson of Middle River, became the bride of Larry L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson of Strathcona, on Saturday, March 8, at 8 p.m., at a ceremony at the First Lutheran church in Middle River.

Rev. Philip Peterson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Over 200 relatives and friends were in attendance. Miss Sharon Syverson presided at the organ. She played the traditional nuptial music and also accompanied Judy Johnson and Jerry Strandberg, niece and nephew of the groom, as they sang, "The Song of Ruth" before the processional, and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Forming the chancel setting were lighted candelabra and a basket of yellow gladioli with yellow and white carnations. White bows and yellow carnations marked the pews.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in peau de soie floor-length, A-line gown styled with long sleeves secured at the ruffled cuff by a row of miniature buttons. Chantilly lace trimmed the slightly scooped neckline, flowed down the front of the gown and encircled the hemline. Sequins and seed pearls accented the bodice and empire waist line. Matching Chantilly lace formed the headpiece and edged her threetiered floor-length mantilla of bridal illusion. She carried three white glamellias in gradual sizes, arranged in cascading style. In her attire, the bride also carried out the traditional "something old new, borrowed and blue including the sixpense in her shoe." Serving the bride as her personal attendant was Mrs. Ingvald Anderson, her aunt and godmother.

Miss Susan Niemela of Minneapolis, a close friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Praska of Thief River Falls, a friend of the bride, and Miss Connie Johnson of Strathcona, a sister of the groom. Their floor-length, A-line gowns with self-fabric detachable trains were of yellow crepe complemented by soft yellow chiffon sleeves. Marking the empire waistline in front was a yellow satin bow with long streamers. Their veils of yellow nylon tulle were held by headpieces featuring organza flowers tipped with pearl stamens. Each carried a basket of yellow and white carnations.

Carrying a similar basket of flowers from which she scattered petals as she walked down the aisle, was Lisa Wagner, a cousin of the bride, who served as flowergirl. Her yellow floor length gown was styled like those of the other attendants.

Todd Hottem, a friend of the bride, was ring bearer.

Glenn Johnson of Stephen attended his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were DelRay Larson, a cousin of the birde, and Theodore Johnson, a brother of the groom. Michael Davidson, cousin of the bride, and Kurt Hanson, a nephew of the groom, seated the guests and served as acolytes. All wore black tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Anderson chose a blue knit dress with coordinating accessories. The mother of the groom wore a tangerine three-piece ensemble complemented by black accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow carnations. Similar corsages were worn by the honor guests, Mrs. Eli Aune, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Amy Peterson, grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, aunt and uncle of the bride, as host and hostess.

To accent the bride's chosen colors, a skirt of yellow netting graced the serving table. Marking the center drape was a white wedding bell. Centering the table was a four-tiered wedding cake topped by a basket ornament filled with sugared bells and white carnations. A special feature was the glowing candles on sugared pedestals surrounding the bottom tier. Yellow roses, white sugar bells and sugared lattice work completed the cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Earl Anderson of Stephen, a cousin of the bride.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. LeRoy Davidson of Moorhead, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Harvey Hanson of Strathcona, sister of the groom. Mrs. Lloyd Newland of this city, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Norman Strandberg, sister of the groom, poured.

Presiding at the punch bowl, which was surrounded by varied foliage and yellow carnations, were Mr. and Mrs. Denn Klegsted. Petra Larson, aunt of the bride, was in charge of pinning the corsages and distributing the gifts from the bride.

Diane Davidson and Claudell Strandberg passed the groom's cake from a basket trimmed with a yellow bow and yellow ribbon streamers. Waitresses were Elaine Aune and Tanna Jean Anderson, cousins of the bride, and Debbie Hanson and Loretta Johnson, nieces of the groom. Their yellow aprons with yellow satin trim were gifts from the bride. Gift carriers were Lenny and Mark Davidson.

Miss Lynette Larson, a cousin of the bride, registered the guests. They came from Minneapolis, Crookston, International Falls, Warroad, Stephen, Karlstad, Little Fork, Gatzke, Moorhead, Roseau, Hallock, Blaine, Red Lake Falls, Bemidji, Greenbush, Thief River Falls, Strathcona and the Middle River area.

The evening preceding the wedding, the parents of the bride hosted a bridal supper at their home for relatives and friends.

The newly-weds are now at home at Karlstad where the groom is employed.

TLCW Meetings To Feature New Guinea Speaker

Mrs. Dennis Falk, who lived in New Guinea for several years while her husband was missionary there, will speak and show slides of the mission at meetings of the Trinity Lutheran Church Women set for Wednesday at 8:15 p.m., and Thursday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Falk has spoken at various Lutheran church women's meetings in the area. In 1965, she visited Trinity and spoke about the work at the Nee Gon Nev Lutheran church, an integrated congregation of Indians and whites, on Roy Lake, east of Mahnomen. Her husband has been pastor there since 1964 after returning from a mission term in New Guinea. Because of health reasons, they were not permitted to return. They have three children, including a six-month-old girl, part negro, whom they adopted last fall.

Since the special focus of the General American Lutheran Church Women for the 1968-69 biennium is on the New Guinea mission, Mrs. Falk's pictures will give the women an opportunity to become better acquainted with the people of that area. Church organizations have been encouraged to sew dresses for the little girls and donate money to buy T-shirts and sweat shirts. Women of Trinity have participated in this project. These garments must be turned in by the middle of April. Stewardship secretaries, Mrs. Alvin Anseby and Mrs. Walter Wicklander, will be in charge of the packing and shipping.

The Wednesday and Thursday meetings will include special music. Mrs. William Penning and Mrs. Dunne Mattson will sing a duet at the Wednesday evening meeting. A solo by Mrs. William Jenson will be a feature of the afternoon session. Mrs. Kenneth Lindberg will lead in devotions on Wednesday and Mrs. Curtis Charlson on Thursday. Members of the Eunice circle with Mrs. Marion Williams chairman will serve as hostesses Wednesday with the Joanna circle members. Mrs. Inga Geving, chairman, in charge of the hospitality duties. Mrs. Harlan Lee, stewardship secretary, will be in charge of the worship offering. At the Thursday meeting, the Miriam circle, with Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson as chairman, will be the hostesses. Mrs. Grundy Ankhus, stewardship secretary, will be in charge of the worship offering and the members of the Lois circle, with Mrs. Roy Lee, chairman, will be in charge of the hospitality duties.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

of this city

At a recent club meeting that I attended, a sweet concoction was served following the salad luncheon. Not only was this concoction tasty, but it was so appropriate for this Easter season. In tracing the recipe, in order to share it with the readers of Kitchen Kornival, I invariably received the same answer, "Oh that isn't my recipe, I received it from...". We are grateful to Mrs. Anna Magnuson of this city, who although she had received it from someone else, submitted the recipe to us.

Peppermint Snowballs
one-third cup sugar
2 tablespoons white syrup
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon peppermint flavoring food coloring
16 or more marshmallows

Method: Combine sugar, syrup and water in a small saucepan. Stir until sugar is dissolved and then boil for two minutes. Remove from heat, add flavoring and a few drops of green food coloring. Place saucepan in a pan of hot water to keep syrup hot. Using a toothpick, fork or ice pick, spear a marshmallow and swirl it in the syrup until completely coated. Drain slightly and then roll in coconut. The number of marshmallows covered depends upon speed in swirling and in the temperature of the syrup.

Using this basic recipe, a multitude of variations are possible, depending upon one's imagination. Yellow with lemon flavoring, pink with cherry, raspberry or strawberry flavoring, lavender with grape, or white with vanilla are a few of the ideas that may be used in making a variety of different balls for the Easter baskets. Colored coconut may also be used, as well as the miniature, regular or puffed marshmallows. Flowers, chicken, rabbits or other animals made out of marshmallows may also be coated and rolled in coconut. These coated marshmallows freeze well.

For ease in rolling, Mrs. Magnuson suggested placing the coconut on waxed paper. This also saves on the clean-up.

Mrs. Magnuson stated that although she is a widow and living alone, she is thoroughly enjoying her senior years by participating in church activities and attending public functions. She is a member of Trinity Lutheran church and active in its ladies aid, circle and the Golden Years group and its choir. She is also a member of the Campanula garden club. Of her four sons, only Malcolm resides here. The others are in Minneapolis, California and Mississippi.

FHA Week Will Begin Here Mon.

"Time and Treasures to Value" is the theme for the 24th National Future Homemakers of America (F.H.A.) week which starts today. F.H.A. week was first observed in June of 1945.

Membership in the organization is open to any junior or senior high school girl who has completed one year of home economics. In observance of the occasion, Lincoln senior high school girls have a number of committees working on events scheduled throughout the week.

Starting the observance off on Monday will be an F.H.A. "Thought-for the Day", which will be read over the public address system in the school. Each day, a committee consisting of Connie Hillyer, Mary Jo Harris, Sheila Johnson, Barb Breiland, Gail Fuller and Sharon Peters, will present a "thought" for Lincoln high students.

Also on Monday, the F.H.A. will host a tea for the Lincoln faculty at 1 p.m. Committee for the tea includes Jackie Neson, Judy Aandal, Gail Sande, Shirley Hillyer, Susan Gaven, Peggy Newlun, Cheryl Okstad and Linda VanderWeg.

Wednesday, F.H.A. girls will conduct a clothing drive for needy children in Korea. They will be stopping at the homes of Thief River Falls residents between 1 and 6 p.m. Committee for the drive is Rax Berg, Marilyn Bisch, Barb Wilson, Sue Scheuneman, Geno Wells, Linda Rolson, Peggy Manning and Val Schulin.

Saturday, the future homemakers will host a sliding party for the retarded children from the day care center. In charge of the party will be Susanne Bruggeman, Joyce Feragen and Gail Anderson.

During the week, several displays will be placed in the high school, and one will be constructed in the window of a business place. In charge of the displays at Lincoln are Ruth Bummer, Nellie Carlson, Julie Hermanson, Barb Dee and Cindy Grondhaus. Making the display uptown will be Marilyn Bisch, Sue Scheuneman and Linda Rolson.

Also, to add spirit and fun to the week, Bonnie Habedank and Paul Mickelson made red roses for the girls to wear each day. If an F.F.A. boy sees an F.H.A. girl without her rose, she must be his slave for a day. The red rose is the flower of the future homemakers.

Lincoln F.H.A. officers for this year are Paulette Philipp, president; Barb Dee, vice president; Gail Fuller, secretary; Delma Folkedahl, treasurer; Judy Aandal, parliamentarian; Diane Timm, song leader; and Connie Hillyer, reporter-historian. Advisor is Miss Janet Shaw.

Franklin junior high school F.H.A. officers are Debbie Roodfeldt, president; Penny Myers, vice president; Angie Szepanski, secretary; Ruth Reed, treasurer; Myrna Dugen, parliamentarian; Val Hanson, song leader; and Eleanor Balmer, reporter-historian. Advisor is Miss Linda Rolfson.

90 Dairy Cattle Lost in Blaze On Clow Farm

Fire destroyed the barn and 90 head of cattle recently on the Laverne Clow dairy farm located 1½ miles northwest of Orleans.

The dairy farm was the largest in Kittson county.

Hallock Farmers' Mutual fire insurance company said it carried $11,000 insurance on the property but the loss is conservatively estimated at $60,000. Replacement value of the barn involved was estimated at $20,000 with the balance of the loss due to cattle and equipment.

Destroyed in the fire were 50 registered Holsteins and 40 grade cows and calves. Also destroyed were 6,000 bales of hay in the loft of the barn, tractor, new manure spreader, automatic barn cleaner, stalls and stanchions and other articles of equipment. A bulk tank located in a structure immediately adjacent to the barn was saved.

Both Lancaster and Hallock fire departments responded to the call, but were unable to gain control of the fire.

Holte Awarded Purple Heart And Bronze Star

Army Corporal Roger A. Holte Grygla was awarded the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star medal with "V" device posthumously on March 11. The awards were presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Holte, at an informal ceremony in their home by Captain George L. Bridges of the ROTC department of the University of North Dakota.

Corporal Holte was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in military operation in Vietnam, against hostile foreign forces, which resulted in his death on Dec. 1, 1968.

Bronze Star medal with "V" device was awarded Holte for heroism. His unit, while on a search and destroy mission, became engaged with a hostile force causing heavy immediate casualties, according to a citation accompanying the medal. "With complete disregard for his own safety, Corporal Holte advanced through a hail of fire to give protection and aid to his fallen comrades until he was mortally wounded by enemy fire," the citation says. "His courage and unselfishness under fire are in the finest traditions of the U.S. Army."

Roseau Expects 20-Foot Flood Crest This Year

A 20-foot flood crest is expected in Roseau this spring as a result of melting snows, the Corps of Engineers told CD director Paul Knochenmus and Orris Rasmussen and Leonard Willson who attended a special flood meeting in Moorhead last Monday.

The Corps indicated a few low spots may have to be sandbagged and it plans to furnish several large pumps to take care of backwaters. "If it later appears that the crest will go higher because of rain or more snow the Corps will help us (Roseau) by providing more sandbags and more polyethelene sheets," Knochenmus said.

The Roseau river crest in 1966 was 23.6 and last year was approximately 20 feet.

The meeting in Moorhead was under auspices of the Corps of Engineers, whose personnel are preparing actions to combat floods on three flood plains in the area. "They are pre-contracting for dike work and other measures ahead of time for villages which have had no experience in combating floods. They are also doing the supervisory work for them," Knochenmus concluded.

Ross District Joins Roseau and Badger Schools

Voters in the Ross school district have approved consolidations with both the Roseau and Badger school districts. The school will officially be consolidated with the Roseau and Badger districts as of July 1 according to O. A. Roberts, Roseau county superintendent of schools.

Vote for consolidation in the Badger portion of the plat was 16 for consolidation and none in opposition.

Present enrollment at Ross is 72 students. When school begins next fall there will be approximately six students from Ross attending school in Badger and an estimated 66 going to Roseau.

Present board will continue to operate school business until July 1 when it will be dissolved.

Former Resident Uses Training To Deliver Baby

Serving as a policeman in one of the suburbs of Minneapolis can provide a variety of experiences, a former Thief River Falls resident found out recently while on patrol with his partner. James Nelson, son of Harold Nelson, Thief River Falls, is presently on the police force at Spring Lake Park. He has been on the force for two years after working in Thief River Falls at Hall's flower shop and the 59-JH Drive-In. He also worked for a security company in St. Paul before moving into police work.

The following story is taken from the Spring Lake Park paper:

The time is 9:01 p.m.

Destination — a small apartment house in Spring Lake Park.

Patrolmen Gene Schmugl and Jim Nelson are racing their squad car through the narrow streets on what is thought to be a routine transport.

At 9:03 the patrolmen enter the apartment house complex to find two older women, a teenage girl and a couple of kids restlessly roaming the small room.

In the adjacent bedroom a young mother is about to deliver her first child.

Schmugl enters the bedroom and realizes the baby must be delivered now—there.

A reluctant woman is soon convinced of the officers qualifications and, working side by side, Schmugl and Nelson prepare the mother.

Minutes pass . .

The ambulance drivers enroute to the apartment arrived and so did Louise.

It was a girl—a healthy normal baby.

The ambulance drivers provided transportation to Unity hospital where the mother and her baby will rest and recuperate for a few days.

Schmugl and Nelson collapsed on the couch—totally exhausted.

It was their first delivery but they didn't tell the mother.

"Babies have their own clock" said Schmugl, "and they're going to come when they want to."

Both the patrolmen have been employed by the village of Spring Lake Park for more than two years and were trained in emergency child birth during basic police training.

Both are married but don't plan on delivering any of their future children.

Suddenly Schmugl and Nelson were aroused by the call of duty in another area of the village.

Another job—police work like robberies, speeders and things like that—we hope.

Nelson is married to the former Myrna Hallstrom of St. Hilaire.

Hallock Board And Teachers Settle Salaries

Teachers in Hallock voted by a narrow margin of 14-13 to accept the salary schedule and personnel policies offered by the Hallock board of education at a recent meeting. The schedule raises the salary for a beginning teacher with a degree from the present $5,800 to $6,300, with increments ranging from $190 per year for non-degree teachers to $250 per year for those with five years preparation or a master's degree.

This gives each teacher who has not reached the top of the schedule a raise from $690 to $750 plus an insurance extra which is new this year. Those teachers who have been in the system long enough to achieve the top step of the schedule will receive a raise equal to the raise in base or $500 plus the insurance. Extend Deadline On Feed Grain Signup in State

Because of adverse weather conditions, the U.S. department of agriculture has announced a two-week extension of the 1969 wheat and feed grain program signup period through April 4 in nine states. The regular seven-week signup period ends March 21 in all other states.

The nine states receiving additional time are Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

Exceptionally deep snow and severe cold in many areas of the nine states have made it virtually impossible for many grain producers to visit county ASCS offices in order to sign up for participation in the 1969 programs.

Participation in the 1969 wheat program as of a March 12 progress report was lagging by about nine per cent in the Northern Plains region, and by about six per cent in the Northwest, compared to last year. Barley is in the feed grain program this year for the first time since 1966.

Compared to 1966 at about the same time in the signup period, the barley acreage on signup farms this year is lagging by about one million acres. Barley is grown mostly in the states of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Idaho, with North Dakota having about one-fourth of the total national production.

Behind Closed Doors

When negotiations on teacher salaries began in Thief River Falls a few weeks ago, we made an issue of public access to the negotiating sessions. We indicated the belief that the public's business should be conducted in public forum, and that taxpayers in the district had the right to know how the affairs of this district are being conducted.

By individual letter, we informed the negotiating parties that we intended to be in attendance at the sessions. In conversation we told members of both negotiating teams that we planned to attend. If excluded from any of the meetings, we said, we would report in our news coverage that we were denied access to the meeting and by whose request the access was denied.

Teachers were honest in their reaction. They expressed the belief that negotiations could be carried out more effectively without the press or public in attendance, since individual expression would be less restrained. One teacher believed we were doing a disservice to the public, rather than a service, by insisting on attending, and told us so. Nevertheless, teachers have never objected to presence of the press or public at the negotiating meetings this year.

The board of education's negotiating team did not object to open meetings. Spokesmen for that group indicated that open meetings were desirable, and arrangements were made for a larger meeting area if persons attending could not be accommodated in the superintendent's office—the regular meeting place. "We have nothing to hide," one of the board's spokesmen assured this writer.

Last Monday evening a special meeting of the board of education was held. Under consideration was the dollar amount to be placed on each contract offered to each teacher in the school system for 1969-1970. In order to accomplish this, the board had to determine what step each teacher was to be placed on in the salary schedule. Occasionally this would be a delicate situation.

Apparently the board determined that the situation was too delicate for anyone other than members of the board. It went into executive session behind closed doors for about two hours. When the board reconvened after that two-hour session, it routinely adopted a salary schedule calling for an increase of $196,440. Obviously, what took place in that two-hour secret session was of public interest, yet the public was denied access to it.

We sympathize with the board of education and with the teachers' negotiating council in their attempts to reach a settlement in a very controversial and emotion-stirring situation. We were advised in advance Monday that the board would be going into executive session, and made no effort to attend. But we did not indicate that we were satisfied with the board's procedure, for we are not.

In the past few weeks we have spent hours on end (literally) at fruitless meetings, gaining background and assessing the tone of negotiations. We have spent more hours at other board meetings where the same topics were discussed. Then, when some significant action was finally at hand, the doors were closed. To a newsman, this is like being permitted to dig through rocky ground to reach a treasure chest, and then being told to go home while the chest is opened.

This is not to suggest that the board made any decisions in its executive session that were not in the best interests of the public. Rather, it is to indicate that no one other than the board will ever know, will they?

Necessary Snooping?

Just how much of an interest by the government in the private lives of citizens should be tolerated in a free nation? That question may soon be asked in all seriousness when the 1970 census gets under way and the collection of all sorts of "vital" information begins.

We have no quarrel with a head count of the nation's citizens, which would certainly be useful and perhaps necessary for a number of purposes. And there really is nothing unusual with providing government with a current address, occupation and statement of home ownership. Much beyond this, however, we don't particularly feel is the government's business.

Forms for the census have already been printed and, we understand, contain a number of personal questions—particularly the "long" form which will be used for every fourth respondent. Questions will be asked about physical fitness of the person filling out the form, place of parents' birth, personal marital history, and whether or not a person owns such things as a clothes dryer, dishwasher, food freezer or second home. Long form recipients will be compelled to reveal such pertinent information as whether or not they share their bathrooms.

"Just how much of this are we intended to tolerate?" asks W. L. Thornton, president of the Southern States Industrial council. "Have we so completely capitulated to every insulting whim of our government that we supinely comply—without ever a whimpered protest, let alone a real blast?

"Whether I share a bathroom may be pertinent to the government, but the question is impertinent to me. Where I was employed five years ago and how many hours I worked last week (excluding those spent filling out government forms, I presume) have absolutely nothing to do with a population count," he says.

"If the Feds want to know so much about the people of this country, the prying process should be on a voluntary basis—not one accompanied by punitive reprisals against the reluctant participants of this statistical 'Kinsey Report on the Private Life of Every Citizen'."

We are inclined to agree in principle with Thornton's thoughts. If the government is interested in refrigerators and dishwashers, the manufacturers could give plenty of information. It is their business to know what the market potential is, and their studies provide that information. And why should Uncle Sam have a particular interest in how many people use a particular bathroom? To think that our tax dollars are used to pay people who devise questions like that one....

Cost of Licenses

Minnesota's legislative committees have been wrestling with bills proposing substantial increases in license fees for fishing, small game hunting and deer hunting. Increases are probably justified, but not to the extent proposed.

Under terms of the bill being considered, individual fishing license fee would be increased from $2.25 to $4, and hunting licenses would be raised from $2 to $4 and deer from $5 to $7.50. Also proposed is a moose season with the license fee set at $50.

When the state conservation department must draw its operating revenue from license sales, it is reasonable to believe that it can not conduct an expanded conservation program without increased income through higher license fees. All of this assumes, of course, that the same number of people buying licenses before will buy licenses at the higher fee. At the increases proposed, this assumption is subject to question.

There is no question that the fisherman and hunter has more than a casual interest in the state's conservation program. He or she shares a concern that fish and game will be available for sport and recreation for succeeding generations. Over the years it has been the sportsman's dollars which have made conservation programs possible. Those who criticize the hunter often do not realize that the hunter has been paying the bill for preservation of the species.

Why should the sportsman who buys a license (or often several licenses) foot the bill for the rest of Minnesotans who benefit from fish and game? Hunting and fishing create dollars for the service station, clothing and food stores, hardware and sports departments, boat builders, resorters and others. Managed water and land areas benefit the pleasure boater, hiker, nature-lover, bird-watcher, sightseer. Conservation in general benefits the entire state and every person in it.

If everyone benefits from conservation, why shouldn't everyone participate in its cost? Why should hunters and fishermen carry the load through license fees? Why shouldn't the conservation department receive a portion of general fund receipts—a generous portion—so that it can conduct a program of improvement rather than simply trying to hold the line?

We would favor a modest increase in license fees if necessary to continue conservation programs. But we believe that outdoor resources in the state should be available to all people of the state, and the cost of participation should be prohibitive to no one.

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

The House of Representatives passed a bill which will increase the salaries of State Civil Service Employees throughout the State.

This measure provides for an eight per cent increase for all classified Civil Service workers starting July 1, 1969, with an additional increase of four per cent the following year.

There is a provision in the bill that sets up the machinery for what might be termed "merit pay in reverse". According to this provision, all employees would receive an annual increase as established by the Legislature "unless withheld for stated reasons of inadequacy by the appointing authority." This review of salaries would take view of salaries would take place for the pay period starting July 1 of each year.

A legislative subcommittee, of which I am a member, is studying several proposals that would prohibit certain corporations from engaging in the business of farming. The purpose of this proposed legislation is not to stop a farmer from incorporating his farming operation, but to prevent giant industrial corporations from adding large acreages of farmland to their holding.

Several hearings have been held to date to determine a method for dealing with this problem. I strongly favor action to resolve this problem but many difficulties arise in our endeavors to come up with workable legislation.

Members of the Legislature have received a 72 page report of the Morrill Hall incident at the University. The report was a factual account of what took place. The judgment, if any is to be made, will be made by another body. This week the House passed a bill which would make it a gross misdemeanor for any individual or group to deny others access to, or egress from any public building or property. It is an attempt to prevent incidents similar to the Morrill Hall take-over.

Minnesota is one of the few states not having an Automobile Title law. The House Highway Committee has approved a measure which provides for local filing in the County Courthouse. It would provide positive information regarding loans or mortgages on motor vehicles.

CAPITOL COMMENT

BY
MARTY McGOWAN

Comes now the major pronouncement: the Property Tax Relief fund is running short. This is the Fund financed by the sales tax which is used to reimburse local communities for the taxing privileges they gave to the state by the passage of legislation in 1967.

Gov. LaVander and his financial advisors said last week that either there will have to be cut backs in programs and spending or new taxing sources will have to be found. The governor is not very optimistic about any cutbacks so that means a new source of revenue will have to be found.

At the same time that the governor made this pronouncement he said he did not expect an increase in the sales tax as one of the sources which might be used to make up the deficit. That's what he said, but there are many who doubt this is not being considered.

It will be recalled that in his original budget message he proposed only two tax increases, those on cigarettes and liquor. Those proposals helped to balance his budget, which was strongly predicted on the growth of the economy producing most of what will be needed in the next two years. He did propose some minor increases in licence fees and also assumed the federal income surtax would be dropped.

On that latter point — which means $40 million to be the budget—there has been some confusion in the top echelons. The governor said if the surtax was continued this would indeed result in a deficit and if that happened he would propose alternative methods to meet the deficit. However, his commissioner of administration and former tax commissioner, Rolland Hatfield, said the continuation of the federal surtax would not affect the state budget. The two officials were still making these contradictory statements last week.

There are only three sources which will produce the kind of revenue a state needs to operate: property, income and sales. The first has been pre-empted by local units of government for generations. A state income tax was enacted in Minnesota about 30 years ago and the state finally moved into the third area in 1967. About all that can be done now is to alter either the exemptions or the rates to produce the necessary income.

Reason given for the shortage in the Property Tax Relief fund is that expenses of local units of government to be reimbursed are rising two or three times faster than had been estimated two years ago. This is undoubtedly true as expenses of schools have zoomed. Municipal problems have not lessened and the counties have also been called upon to assume added burdens.

An administrative snafu was discovered in the first year of operation of the fund. This related to some municipalities located across county lines. These few municipalities received double relief. Getting the full amount allowed the municipality but getting it from both counties. This also meant that other municipalities received proportionately less than they were entitled to receive.

It would be too much to refigure it all over again and ask for rebates. It is not clear whether those communities which were overpaid will be asked to take less than next time or whether it will just be forgotten and a lesson learned in how to administer the act.

This pronouncement of a shortage was trundled out at an appropriate time midway in the current legislative session. Most of the major presentations of budgetary requests have been made or soon will be made by the end of March. Starting about April 1 the appropriate sub-committees will have to begin allocating how the money of the state is to be spent in the next two years—and how this spending is to be paid. The half dozen major spending bills are the only real reason for holding a legislative session and to best utilize the time of the session other bills can be passed while this cumbersome process of hearings and allocations proceeds.

At any rate the issue is now out in public. Some increased revenue will be needed. The remaining weeks of the session will be used to determine whether the increase comes in the income tax area or whether the sales tax rate is boosted or exemptions removed from necessities not now bearing a sales tax. This could be an interesting struggle before the issue is decided.

ASCS Activities

by Wallace Sparby, Manager

The signup period for the Wheat and Feed Grain Program has been extended through Friday, April 4th, 1969 in Minnesota and a few other states. The reason for the extension was due to the adverse weather conditions which have made it impossible for many producers to visit the county offices to enroll in the 1969 diversion programs.

The sign up in Pennington County through Friday, March 21st is slightly ahead of last year. All producers must come to the county office to sign up and participate in the program. With the diversion available in both wheat and feed grain the farmers with bases of 25 acres or less may divert their whole base and be paid for not planting.

If the surplus is going to be reduced we must have good participation. The goals have been set and thus far we are short of those goals both locally and nationally. We do hope that the extension of time in the sign up period will assist the total enrollment and increase the acres for diversion.

On a recent spot check of several grain bins we found them to be in fair to good condition. There were several that could possibly mean problems as soon as warm weather arrives. There were a few bins that were in serious condition now with the high moisture content they had. We suggest that you keep a close watch on your grain in the weeks ahead.

Measurement Is Good Business On Crop Acres

Making sure that crop acreages and land uses fully meet farm program provisions will pay off for participating producers in Marshall county during 1969, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

"It's always good business to know the correct acreages of the crops you plant," the chairman said, "and it is especially important this year because of the program provisions under which we operate."

Failure to certify the exact acreage being devoted to each crop and land can result in a substantial reduction in the payment otherwise earned under the wheat and feed grain programs. All operators of participating farms are being encouraged to obtain measurement service to eliminate the guesswork and assure maximum benefits under the programs.

"If a farmer is not sure about his acreage," Dahl said, "a measurement service is available through the county ASCS office. Now is a good time to apply for the service. Once acreage has been staked out by an ASCS reporter, compliance will be assured if farmers abide by the staked areas."

If a producer requests measurement service and the service discloses that he has already planted more than the permitted acreage or is deficient of diverted acreage, he will still have time to alter his plans to fully comply. On the other hand, producers will not be able to change their certifications if the farm is spot checked and the acreage is found to be in error. Errors in reporting can result in loss of all or a substantial part of payments otherwise earned.

"Guessing about acreages can be costly," Dahl said, "and no one should lose money, either through overplanting or underplanting. The ASCS office stands ready to provide information about its measurement service and to explain other details of the farm programs."

Legislators Eye Big Increase in State Payroll

Minnesota lawmakers are casting sharp eyes at budget proposals which would hike the state's annual payroll costs by more than 20 per cent, according to Harold T. Miller, research director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

One proposal is for a pay scale increase that would up the maximum annual payroll liability for existing state positions by nearly $48,000,000. The other would create 2,784 new jobs, adding more than $26,000,000 to annual payroll costs.

Both proposals, Miller said, are wrapped up in appropriation bills encompassing the budget recommendations of the Governor, who last week forecast a possible need for additional tax revenues in order to balance the budget.

"Annual payroll costs for the present 42,166 positions approximate $364,000,000," Miller said. "The pay increase play would send these costs to nearly $413,000,000 by the end of the coming biennium, and the additional staffing, at the new, higher pay rates, would boost the total to more than $439,000,000.

"Together the pay hikes and new positions would increase the state's payroll costs by $47,000,000 for the 1969-70 fiscal year, and by $75,000,000 for fiscal 1970-71."

Payroll costs, Miller notes, include salaries, social security taxes, life and health insurance and pension or retirement contributions.

Of the 2,784 proposed new jobs, 2,469 are in departments and activities over which the legislature has direct appropriation authority, Miller said, including 960 academic and 728 civil service positions at the university, state colleges and state junior colleges.

"When budget figures are being tossed around in terms of hundreds of millions of dollars it is easy to overlook the true magnitude of the $75,000,000 payroll cost increase here proposed," Miller said. "Looking at that figure from another viewpoint helps to bring it into perspective. For 1965, the last year for which final figures have been completed by the state department of taxation, the 554,695 Minnesotans who had gross incomes of from $1,000 to $9,000 paid a total of just over $75,000,000 in state income taxes."

City Bank Debits Up 36 Per Cent

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during February showed an increase of 36 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal reserve bank of Minneapolis. In dollars, Thief River Falls bank debits volume during February was $14,333,000. In the same month of 1968, the total figure was $10,542,000.

It's Fix-Up Time For Barbeques!

If you are one of the millions of Americans who is taking to outdoor barbequing this year, these tips will come in handy.

Like any art, successful outdoor cookery has a base. In the case of barbequing, the base is an efficient grill and

Put the grill in condition with a thorough cleaning, brush any rust spots, and touch up bare metal with paint.

Check the grill motor and clean tools and related accessories.

Find a location where smoke will not blow directly into the house or be offensive to neighbors, yet is accessible for serving.

When you have reached this point, you're ready to test your culinary skill. W. R. Grace & Co., producers of Vermiculite, suggests these simple steps for best results:

1. A layer of a special grade of coarse vermiculite, such as Bar-B-Sorb, should be spread on the bottom of the grill. The material absorbs drippings and protects the grill, while providing a better draft beneath the coals. Because it insulates, the grill stays cooler, thus safer.

2. Center the charcoal briquets on the vermiculite. Spray fire lighter fluid across the coals, and ignite. Vermiculite acts as a wick to provide uniform burning.

3. Tap coals frequently with a tool or utensil to remove ash. Ash insulates the coals, and retards the heat.

4. After the guests leave, pour a layer of vermiculite over the hot coals for safety's sake. You'll be able to save the charcoal for the next cookout—both the briquets and Bar-B-Sorb can be re-used.

When you do decide to change the vermiculite in the grill, it's easy. The lightweight mineral can be dumped in the garden as a soil conditioner.

The coarse grade of vermiculite recommended for outdoor cooking is usually found wherever charcoal is sold.

GAME OF THE WEEK

by Bob Wielinski

Last year I picked a "Game of the Week All-Star team" from the [illegible] teams which I covered during the last ball season and out of these 15 players picked a most valuable player.

Today I would like to announce the selections for 1969 but this year the most valuable player award will go to two of the players selected to the squad. It was pretty tough to pick a most valuable player this year as there were many fine seniors on the 10 teams that I covered. But looking into how the teams finished in their respective leagues and how they fared in district and sub-district tournaments I finally picked two boys that I thought helped their teams get as far as they did during the season.

First of all I will name the All-Star team. There are three carry-overs from last year's team on the 1969 squad. Mark Schimanski, McIntosh; Jim [illegible], Clearbrook, and Steve Radnecki, Oklee. Schimanski and Radnecki are seniors and [illegible] is a junior. This year no sophomore made the select squad, which is composed of seven seniors and nine juniors.

Clearbrook placed senior center Gordy Engelstson and junior forward Gary Posser on the squad with Goodridge. Goodridge placed a guard position for the Hornets who won their first sub-district crown and then lost to Ada in the District 31 finals. My records show that in 17 games Engelstson averaged 15.7 points while Goodridge averaged 12.6 points in 12 games. Posser had an 8.8 average but was a real good rebounder this past year for the Hornets.

Three players were also named to the squad from Goodridge, and included seniors Roger Blaine and Ray Molsberger and junior Brian Wiseth. Blaine was the squad's top guard with a 15.2 average in 15 games, while Molsberger was the Huskies' center and averaged 10.1 points per game in 17 contests. He also had to be the most improved ball player on any of the 10 teams over his play of a year ago. Wiseth, a forward, was the squad's leading scorer with an 18.7 average.

Newfolden and Mentor placed two members on the team as every other team only managed one on the squad. Coming from Newfolden, which won the North Border conference title this year with a 13-1 mark, were senior guard Dave [illegible] and junior center Clyde Strandquist. Strandquist led the [illegible] in scoring with a 16.9 average, [illegible] Sether averaged 12.1 points per game.

Two of the five reasons why Mentor made it to the finals of District 30 this past season were the shooting and scoring of Robbie Super, who sparked the Trojans with a 22.2 average, and the play of Bob Johnson, who averaged 13 points per contest. Both were juniors for the Trojans who will be well-balanced once again next year as they only had two seniors listed on their squad. Both Super and Johnson were the leading rebounders for the small but fast Trojans.

Making the team from Plummer was guard-forward-center Doug Martell. He only stands about 5-9, but is one of the better ball-handlers around the area. He averaged close to 16 points per game for the losing Cardinals this year and will return for the Cards once again next year.

Mark Schimanski, McIntosh's one-man team, tallied in 18 games a total of 185 points as the Scots were one of the top favorites to capture the District 30 crown this past year but fell to Clearbrook in the sub-district finals. Schimanski tallied 187 field goals and 111 free throws. In his career at McIntosh the short center for the Scots must have scored over 1,000 points.

Making the squad from Middle River was junior forward Jerry Johnson, who led the Skippers in scoring and in rebounding this past year. The Skippers, expected to be down after last year with no starters returning, proved to be tougher than expected and posted a 9-8 overall season mark. Johnson averaged 15 points per contest.

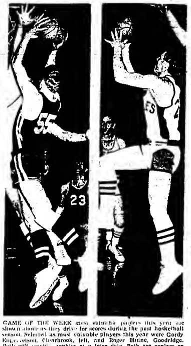
One of the holdovers from last year's All-Star team was Oklee's fine athlete, Steve Radnecki, who was left off the North Tri-County all conference team this season. Radnecki averaged 15 points per contest for the Bobcats who finished with a losing season this year, only because they could not find a big man to play the pivot position for them.

Hailing from the Eskine club this year was Carl Jenson, another junior, who played center and averaged 22.6 points a contest for coach Joe DiMaggio's Comets, which a year ago posted a perfect 10-0 mark in the North Tri-County conference.

Making the squad from Gonvick was Rick Steile, a forward for the Bulldogs. He was the leading scorer for the Bulldogs who failed to win a game this year and posted an 0-19 record. The center for the Bulldogs averaged 10.9 points per contest.

These 16 players were named to the All-Star squad with two seniors being awarded the most valuable player trophies this year. They are Roger Blaine of Goodridge and Gordy Engelstson of Clearbrook.

Last year's winner of the most valuable player award was Kirk Holmes of Middle River. Each member of the squad will receive a certificate stating that he made the squad, with Blaine and Engelstson getting trophies in the near future.



GAME OF THE WEEK most valuable players this year are shown above as they drive for scores during the past basketball season. Selected as most valuable players this year were Gordy Engelstson, Clearbrook, left, and Roger Blaine, Goodridge. Both will receive trophies at a later date. Both are seniors on their respective squads.

Early Trout Season To Open March 29

A sure sign that spring is not going to be late was recorded today when the conservation department announced the annual early trout opening on North Shore streams.

The early opening is scheduled to give anglers a crack at the steelhead, which enter the streams to spawn as soon as the ice breaks up.

This year, all streams and rivers from Lake Superior upstream to posted boundaries will be open for trout and salmon fishing starting March 29.

An exception is the posted areas of the Knife river where the season will not open until June 1, and will close August 31. The other streams will remain open to fishing through Nov. 30.

Except for the Pigeon river in Cook county and St. Louis river in St. Louis county, anglers are limited to using a single hook on their line.

Hjalmar Swenson, Department fisheries supervisor, predicted that the streams would be nearly free of ice by the time the season opens.

"There is very little ice cover on the streams or in Lake Superior this year," he said.

SAVE MINNESOTA DEER

The Save Minnesota Deer organization was started in January of 1969 in Grand Rapids. Wayne Jacobson of that community started the campaign by donating $500 to start feeding the deer. Dave Shaw, the Grand Rapids florist and Jimmy Williams, the tackle man, joined. They adopted the name Save Minnesota Deer, and for several weeks money has been coming in from all over the state.

The Conservation Department wants an increase of $2.50 in the big game license. The Save Minnesota Deer organization wants an additional $1.50 for the improvement of deer habitat. We have not met a deer hunter who would object to paying a $4 increase. If you are a deer hunter, please write to your state senator and state representative and ask for support for the two following bills:

SENATE BILL 939

The specific objectives of Save Minnesota Deer are:

a. The emergency winter care of deer by browse cutting and trail making.

b. To provide more deer on a long range basis by the improvement of their winter food supply.

BENA DOES A GOOD JOB

The federal Dam-Bena sportsmen's club has done a good job this winter browse cutting and trail making.

LIARS CONTEST

If you have not yet entered the 1969 Minnesota Outdoors Liars Contest, better tell your tall tale this week. Send your story to this newspaper or to Minnesota Outdoors, 1011 Rossman Avenue, Detroit Lakes, Minnesota 56501. One of the prizes in the jack pot is a Johnson 710 reel from the Johnson Reel company of Mankato, Minnesota.

FISHING REPORT

In spite of bad winter fishing, there have been a couple of bright spots. Roger Johannes of Cold Spring reports good crappie fishing in nearby Schneider lake. Limits of half pound crappies have been taken on minnows.

DONNYBROOKE

This famous race track at Brainerd will open the summer season on May 30, 31, and June 1st with The Skogmo Memorial.

EDITORIAL

Reports that deer are being killed along Snowmobile trails is disgusting. Snowmobile clubs are offering rewards for the conviction of these outlaws. Let us not blame the snowmobile for such acts. It is the person operating it illegally who is to blame. Maybe a law should be passed which would require confiscation of the violators snowmobile. The snowmobile is a wonderful addition to Minnesota's winters.

LAKE OF THE WOODS

Swede Carlson, the Warroad flying service man, reports excellent walleye fishing in Lake of the Woods. Wilbur Kalpin of Parkers Prairie, Harold Wagner of Carlos and Clinton Dahlberg of Nelson all got limits off Oak Island. They averaged 2½ to 3 pounds. The walleye season is still open on Lake of the Woods.

Without Aid, Trout-Salmon Project in Danger

Richard D. Wettersten, Director of the Minnesota game and fish division, today asked that Congress increase funds for Great Lakes lamprey control "or be prepared to see a multi-million dollar lake trout and salmon program damaged while on the verge of success".

Wettersten said a cut back in federal funds for the fiscal year 1970 will imperil the future of the lake trout rehabilitation and coho salmon introduction program in the Great Lakes.

"Of what use is it to spend thousands, even millions of dollars, building and operating trout and coho salmon hatcheries, installing fish ladders and other facilities," said the director, "when it is only to provide food for the parasitic sea lamprey"?

Lamprey control is the heart of the entire program to restore fishing, both sport and commercial, in Lake Superior and the other Great Lakes, he declared.

Wettersten said the Bureau of commercial fisheries reported a considerable increase last year in the number of adult lampreys taken at test weirs as they entered spawning streams.

"This is a very dangerous sign," he said. "Unless the major lamprey producing streams can be treated at the proper time with chemicals to kill the young, an increase in lampreys is assured."

The budget recently submitted to Congress calls for an appropriation of $234,100 less than that requested by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission to carry out the program, he said.

Races Remain Open In City Bowling Leagues

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

With four weeks left in most of the Thief River Falls bowling leagues, only two league championships are assured right now while the other leagues have up to three teams battling for that first place finish. It is expected that all the races will go down to the last week for the league championship. Leagues that look already wrapped up are the American League and the City league, both men's leagues.

In all three of the women's leagues there are still races on for that top position while in the Mixed Doubles leagues there are also races for the top spots.

Having titles just about wrapped up in the men's leagues are Joppru's in the American League and Thief River Realty in the City league. Three leagues are still up for grabs. They include the Service league, Business league and Commercial league. In the latter two leagues, the leaders at this time have leads from one-half game to a full game over the second place club. In the Service league, four games separate the first three clubs.

In the running for the Service league title are Sjoberg's, Mutual of Omaha and Klewel's. Sjoberg's leads the league with a 61½-35½ record while Mutual of Omaha has a 61½-38½ record and Klewel's has a 60-40 record.

The Business league is led by the Elks, who have held the lead all season but are now being pressed by Northern Motors. The Elks have a one-game edge as they have a 66½-33½ record, compared to the Northern Motors record of 65½-31½.

Three teams are still in the running for the Commercial league title, with Bridgeman's, Ekeren Drug and Bugge's Pure Oil sparring for the lead. Bridgeman's holds a one-half game lead over Ekeren's for the league lead while Bugge's is 10 games out of first place. Bridgeman's hold a 65½-34½ record while the Ekeren team has a 65-35 mark. Thursday night Bugge's Pure Oil moved up into the race as they took three games while the other two leaders were losing three games. Bugge's moved from fourth place to third, ahead of Miller Ford of Red Lake Falls, with a record of 55½-41½, while Miller Ford had a 53-43 record.

In the American league, Joppru's has a pretty fair lead over second place Melvie's Trucking. Joppru's have a 71½-28½ record compared to Melvie's 66-34 record.

Thief River Realty in the City league can almost be declared the winner as they hold a 73-23 record compared to second place Soo Line's 59½-36½ record.

So far Northern Motors holds the high game mark by a team with a 1,077 game and the high team series mark with a 2,926. Individual high game for the year so far is held by Mark DuChamp with a 269, while the high three-game series is held by Bob Kosel with a 693.

Others in the top ten for high games besides DuChamp's 269 are Pat Poole with a 265; Ken Bergman and John DeKay at 257, M. Washnesky, 256; Carl Onkka, Dean Anderson and Terry Joppru at 255, and Glen Krenz and Chuck Krause with 254.

In the Mixed doubles league the third part championship is open as Melvie's Trucking and Sno-Sports are leading the league with 12-1 records. In the Thursday night Mixed doubles league the Misfits are leading with a 26-10 record, followed by Family Bowl and Union State bank with 23-13 records.

Having the high team game is Wilson's Sport Centre with a 752, and they also hold the high series with a 2,049. Individual honors for high game goes to Bob Kosel with a 267, while Ken Bergman holds the three game high series with a 6[illegible]. Women's high for the year so far is Judy Aker's 221 for single game, while Bess Lang has the high series with a 599.

In the three Women's leagues—the Women's Afternoon Coffee Cup, Nite Hawk and Moonbeam Leagues—the races for the top position are still wide open, as there are at least two teams battling for the top spot in each league. In the Coffee Cup league, Fountain Cafe is the leader with a 62½-25½ record, while Sinding's Ambulance is second with a 56-32.

The Nite Hawk league is still closer as three teams are in the running. Mac's Market leads with a 56-32 record; Soo Line is second with a 55-33 record; and Elaine's is a close third with a 53½-34½ record.

The Moonbeam league couldn't get any closer as the top position is right now in a tie with Amway and Thune Insurance leading the way with 65-23 records. Third place team is far out of the running.

Highs for the season in the women's leagues include Land O'Lakes with the high game, an 881, and Sinding's with the high three game series of 2,419. The high individual game is held by Bess Lang with a 237, while the high series is held by Mary Ann Myhrer with a 615.

Others having 200 games so far this year are Hildie Humre, 229; Caroline Bedard, 228; Teen Berg, 225; Mary Ann Myhrer, 224; Ella Anderson, 222; Patti Dicken, 218; Pat Stringham, 216; Dorothy Strand, 215; Eunice Flynn, Linda Johnson and Ann Yonke, 211; Marvel Carlson, Lu Lundeen, Bunny Dondelinger and Alice Konickson, 210.

Alexander Will Manage Tamarac Wildlife Refuge

Claude R. Alexander, manager of the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge near Holt, has been named the new manager of the Tamarac National Wildlife refuge near Detroit Lakes.

He replaces Nellus Nelson, veteran refuge manager, who retired recently to Jamestown, N. D. Alexander will assume his new post at Tamarac in the near future, according to the regional office of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife in Minneapolis.

Alexander, a native of Iowa, received his B.A. degree in biology and education at Simpson college in Indianola in 1939. He taught school at Winterset, Iowa, from 1939-42, while also taking graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and Wisconsin state teachers college.

He joined the Iowa Conservation commission in 1942 and entered the U.S. Navy the following year, serving as an officer until 1946.

He worked for the Iowa agency until 1948 when he joined the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife as assistant manager of the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge. During the period 1949-51, he served as refuge manager at Rice Lake Wildlife refuge near MacGregor and DesLac National Wildlife refuge near Kenmare, N.D. From 1951-58 he served as a federal game management agent at Bemidji and Jefferson City, Mo.

In 1948, Alexander rejoined the bureau's division of wildlife refuges and served at Rice Lake National Wildlife refuge and Arrowwood National Wildlife refuge near Kensal, N.D.

In 1964, he became manager of Agassiz National Wildlife refuge, a post he has held to the present time.

The Alexanders have three children—John, David and Carol. A new manager to replace Alexander at Agassiz has not been appointed yet.

$410,654 Contract Let for Street Work

Contract totaling $410,654 for 1969 street improvements and water and sewer extensions was awarded Tuesday evening by the Thief River Falls city council. Bids were opened Tuesday afternoon studied by the city engineer and considered at the regular council meeting. A number of other items of business were also transacted by the council at the meeting.

Low bidder among eight contractors was S and S Construction company of Moorhead. Second low bidder was William Collins and Sons of Fargo, N. D., with a bid of $418,000, while the high bid was for $482,000. The S and S bid was about $50,000 below the engineer's estimate for the project. The successful bidder has announced that Abbott, Arne and Schwindt of Moorhead will be the subcontractor for the sewer and water extensions.

Included in the project are the following items: Excavation, back fill, curb and gutter and surfacing in the area north of Eighth street and east of Main avenue; north of 11th street and west of Main avenue, excluding 13th street; on Atlantic avenue from Second to Eighth streets; on Second street from Horace to Atlantic avenues; on Kneale avenue from Nora street to Alice drive; and on Alice drive from 150 feet east of Kneale avenue to 600 feet west of Kneale avenue.

Also surfacing of city parking lots south of the post office, north of Northwestern hospital and south of the city arena; water and sewer extensions on Pine av. N., along the airport park and Heinze addition, service lines and connections for 16 trailers at the tourist park, and extension of service to the first southeast addition. Storm sewer work will also be done where needed connection with street projects.

The council received a preliminary report on 1969 sewer and water extensions not covered in the above contract but did not act on the report.

In action concerning the municipal airport, the council directed the city engineer to prepare a preliminary study, sketches and cost estimates for a new administration building at the airport. A resolution was also adopted asking the state to prepare plans and specifications and take bids for six hangars for single-engine planes and two hangars for larger aircraft. These hangars would be of the "T" type, accommodating the shape of the airplanes. The hangars would be built with an 80 per cent state loan to be repaid without interest over a 90-month period. State participation of up to 50 per cent in financing construction of the administration building is also available.

A resolution was also adopted directing the city attorney to extend the council's opposition to pending state legislation regarding control of municipal electric utilities and gas service. The legislation would freeze the boundaries of such service and set up a regulatory commission. The council's opposition is to be made known to legislators from this area.

Final reading was held on ordinances annexing land on both sides of the airport road (Indus-

LHS Musical Will Play 3-Day Run Through Sat.

PICTURED ABOVE are the four Lincoln high school students who will play the leading roles in Lincoln's production of "My Fair Lady". Seated left to right are Debbie Steen and Debra Swanson who play a dual role of Eliza Doolittle. Standing are Tim Hoel and Larry Fonnest who portray a dual role of Henry Higgins. Curtain time is scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Tickets will be on sale at the door for $1.50 per person each night of the performances.

"My Fair Lady", based on the George Bernard Shaw play "Pygmalion", will be presented by the Lincoln high school concert choir and concert orchestra on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Tickets for the production will be on sale at the door on all three nights and will be priced at $1.50 per person.

Director of the musical is David Morken and the orchestra conductor is James Solsten. Technical director is William Jensen, set co-ordinator is Donald Lerud and choreographer is Mrs. Kay Novak.

The story revolves around a crude flower girl, Eliza Doolittle (Debbie Steen and Debbie Swanson), and a middle-aged bachelor, Professor Henry Higgins (Tim Hoel and Larry Fonnest). He wagers his colleague, Colonel Hugh Pickering (Scott Vettleson), that he can transform Eliza into a lady within six months. The period of transformation is one of exhausting work and traumatic experiences for the Higgins' household.

"Lady" Eliza's first public appearance is at the Ascot horse race where she completely captivates Freddy Eynsford - Hill (Tom Amundgaard) and embarrasses everyone else, while reverting to her Cockney character. The final and supreme test occurs at the Annual Embassy ball where Eliza proves to be a complete success. Higgins receives all the credit and ignores Eliza. Hurt and disillusioned, Eliza returns to her former neighborhood, discovering her father, Alfred P. Doolittle (Rob Womack), now wealthy after receiving a large inheritance and preparing for marriage to Eliza's mother.

In Eliza's absence, Higgins reflects on his feeling toward her and discovers that he has grown "Accustomed to Her Face".

Grey Goose Line Asks Permission To Drop Service

Grey Goose Bus lines, which has served Thief River Falls on its route from the Canadian border to Detroit Lakes on highway 59, has asked the Minnesota public service commission for permission to discontinue the service. Grey Goose filed the petition March 7 and asks to discontinue the line on April 30.

The bus line, which has its main offices in Winnipeg, Man., states that it operated from February of 1968 through February of 1969 at an actual loss of more than $52,000. Gross revenue amounted to 14.05 cents per bus mile while the actual operating cost was 43.5 cents per bus mile, officials said in their petition for discontinuance.

Grey Goose sought authority to provide the service on the grounds that Soo Line passenger trains 9 and 10 had been discontinued and that sufficient patronage would support the operation. At the hearing on its application, the bus line stated that it would be willing to operate the service for one year to learn the extent of patronage.

Local BPW Club Votes To Give Two Scholarships

At the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Business and Professional Women's club, held Tuesday at the Elks club meeting room, members voted to present two $50 scholarships this year in place of the one scholarship previously given. The scholarship committee was instructed to work with the guidance counselor at Lincoln high school in making the selections. Presentations are to be made at a meeting later this spring.

Guest speaker at the meeting was William Fossen of Fargo, N.D., division manager of Mutual Funds. He gave a brief account of the beginning of the organization that made it possible for these funds to be brought within the means of the general public. He stated that at present the American women own 60 per cent of the American stock market. Fossen also showed a film illustrating the part women play in the field of finance. He was introduced to the group by Mrs. Inga Shetler, chairman of the March program committee on finance. Special guest at the meeting was Mrs. Eleanor Bothman, Thief River Falls representative of Mutual Funds.

Included on the agenda was the progress report of the equal work for equal pay bill that is being supported by the Minnesota Federation of BPW clubs, Inc. It was noted that Mrs. Ida M. Geittman of Bemidji, state chairman of the Federation's legislative task force, testified before the House Labor Relations committee stressing the unfairness of wage discrimination in certain vocations. Thirty-one states in the union have equal pay for equal work laws, five states have fair labor employment practices laws that prohibit discrimination in rate of pay or compensation based on sex, and 11 states do not have this law. Minnesota is among these 14. Mrs. Geittman pointed out that in January of 1968, women constituted more than half of the work force in local government, banking, apparel and other textile products manufactured, general merchandise stores, eating and drinking places, drug stores, medical and other health services and telephone communications. Yet 61 per cent received less than $3,000 annual salary compared with 27 per cent of the men. At the upper end of the scale, 4 per cent of the women earned annual incomes of $7,000 or more. In comparison to 35 per cent of the men.

It was also noted that in response to communications from members of the local club, representative Andy Skaar favored the bill. Mrs. Norma Hanson, the club's legislation chairman has been the liaison between the state federation and the local group.

The birthdays of Mrs. Walterine Gilbert and Mrs. Connie Ferber were noted with a token presented to them by Mrs. Eileen Horejsh, member of the birthday remembrance committee.

The program concluded with a safety film, "How to defend yourself in case of attack." It showed the various methods that a lone, inexperienced woman could use to defend herself. Many lives could be saved if women would realize that they must fight for their lives by using their fingernails, teeth, elbows, heels, knees and their purse in inflicting pain. Screaming was especially emphasized. The film was shown by Clarice Collins through the courtesy of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

BPW Clubs Make Headway In Wage Battle

In their battle to prohibit wage discrimination based on sex, the Business and Professional Women's clubs were informed that legislation has gained unanimous support in the Minnesota House of Representatives and will be heard in the senate Labor committee. This information was given by state corresponding secretary Doris Matzke of Crookston at the district I meeting held recently in this city.

She stated that Representative Arian Erdahl of Blue Earth, chief author of the bill, and Representative C. A. "Gus" Johnson of Mankato, had joined forces to support the Minnesota Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Inc., in their 30-year battle for equal pay for equal work. The clubs in the district were commended for their work in pushing for this legislation.

In addition to Doris Matzke, other state officers attending the district meeting were state parlimentarian Betty Ummen of Crookston, state emblem chairman Rose Blood of Walker, and state civic participation chairman Clarice Collins of Thief River Falls. Chairman Lynn Netzer of Bemidji presided.

The highlight of the meeting was the election and installation of officers which included two from the Thief River Falls club. They are Dolores Johnson who was chosen chairman in place of Lynn Netzer of Bemidji, and JoAnn Reeve who replaces Alice Mullen of Bemidji as secretary-treasurer. Florence Richardson of Leech Lake-Walker club was elected as vice chairman. Serving as installation officer was Clarice Collins of this city.

Ruth Wilson, president of the local club, was appointed to serve on the budget committee together with Jeanette Fix of Park Rapids and Florence Richardson of the Leech Lake-Walker club.

As president of the local club hosting the meeting, Ruth Wilson welcomed the group and also gave a report of the club's activities. Reports were also given by representatives of the other clubs to the district. They are the Bemidji, Crookston, Park Rapids and the Leech Lake-Walker clubs.

Plans were also made for the state convention to be held in Alexandria on May 23-25.

Special entertainment consisted of a medley of Irish songs by the Thief River Falls BPW trio composed of JoAnn Reeve, Marilyn Winter and Agnes Hanson, accompanied by Jean Harger, Marge Hanson, Eileen Horejsh, and Gelene Peltier registered the guests and presented each with a shamrock name tag. Table decorations for the luncheon served at noon were also in the St. Patrick day theme. In addition, at each individual place setting were favors from Thief River Jobbing, Yvonne Brennen, Marilyn Slager, Union State Bank, Mostue Floral and Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

This years district Scout exposition will be held at the Red River Valley Winter shows building in Crookston. All local scouting units from Thief River Falls will be participating in the district sponsored show. Forty Cub scouts from Winnipeg, hosted by local scouts, will also be participating in the show. Can Use Mileage Rate for Driving

You may use the standard mileage rate and deduct 10 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business driving with your personal car and seven cents for each additional mile, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal revenue.

This method does not require a complete record of driving expenses. You must be able to prove, however, the number of miles you drove your car for business purposes.

You can also deduct the actual cost of operating your car in your employment, including depreciation, instead of using the optional standard rate.

trial park and Heinze addition' into the city. Second reading was held on the ordinance annexing certain property south of highway 1 and east of Centennial park east of the city. All annexations are on petition by the property owners.

Roger Tunberg resigned his position on the city planning commission and was appointed by Mayor A. E. Jacobson to succeed Dr. W. P. Kaister on the park and recreation board. The appointment was confirmed by the council. Mayor Jacobson was appointed to serve on the Northwest Crime council, a newly-organized regional association.

Neil McEwen, appearing as counsel for the Great Northern railroad, informed the council that the railroad intends to complete construction of an antenna tower next to its depot west of Northwestern hospital. The council countered with an offer of the use of the city's water tower and no final action was taken.

Inter-Church Discussion Held In R. L. Falls

Second in a series of three county-wide inter-Lutheran discussion meetings was held on Sunday at the Bethany Lutheran church of Red Lake Falls. Congregations of the American Lutheran church and the Lutheran church . Missouri synod are taking part with a view toward the establishment of full church fellowship.

Theme of Sunday's meeting was the Bible as God's Word to men in human language. Two filmstrips were shown. Devotional leader was Rev. M. J. Sheldahl of Plummer and discussion leader was Rev. Paul R. Biegner of Thief River Falls.

Church fellowship would involve the mutual recognition of pastoral ministry, would permit the free exchange of pastors for preaching and would formally encourage intercommunion.

New Stamp Will Feature Apollo Moon Mission

A new six-cent stamp commemorating the Apollo 8 mission will go on sale on May 5 at Houston, Tex.

Leonard E. Buckley of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing based his design on a photograph supplied by the National Aeronautics and Space administration in which the moon, the foreground of the stamp, is approximately 780 kilometers from the spacecraft. To the top of the stamp is half an Earth, the rest in darkness, with the sunset terminator bisecting Africa.

The words "In the beginning God. . .", printed in the center of the stamp, were spoken by a crew member of the Apollo 8 spacecraft when he read from the Book of Genesis during the course of the historic flight orbiting the moon. This reading, while not a part of the flight plan, has become closely associated that the flight in the public mind. The moon is gray, outer space is deep blue and the world is blue and white.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, the Postmaster, Houston, Texas 77002. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Cover 6 cent Apollo Stamp." Requests must be postmarked no later than May 5.

Living Outdoors

Yesterday, it was the porch. Today, the favored outdoor living areas for most homes are the deck and patio.

"Patio" is an elastic term, applied to almost any recreation-relaxing area in the out-of-door and with prescribed boundaries. It may be open or roofed.

A deck is really just another elaboration of the patio—a patio with a wooden floor. It answers site problems, for sloping or uneven land can be turned into a flat-surfaced patio with the construction of a wooden deck.

$330,800 Given To Waubun for Water and Sewer

Approval of a $330,800 grant to help create jobs for the unemployed in Mahnomen county was announced recently by the Economic Development administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Federal funds were requested by Waubun to help build new water and sewer systems to serve expanding industrial and commercial firms and the entire community.

In applying for EDA assistance, village officials said the new facilities will enable the Witch Craft company, manufacturer of hoods for snowmobiles, to expand and create 50 new jobs, and the White Earth company to provide 25 additional jobs in painting and pre-packaging of toys.

A decline in farming and forest industry jobs in the Waubun area has led to high rates of unemployment in recent years. Waubun officials, in their application to EDA, noted that Mahnomen county had an unemployment rate of 12 per cent in 1967, compared to the national rate of 3.8 per cent. For Indians on the White Earth reservation, where Waubun is located, the unemployment rate was 36 per cent and the median family income in the last census was $1,580.

Witnesses Back From Assembly Held in Ely

Thief River Falls delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses has returned from the assembly held recently in Ely. The assembly theme was "Making Wise Use of the Remaining Time".

R. L. Balzer, district supervisor from New York, speaking on "Law and Order—When and How?" said, "People today accept, as commonplace, accounts of lawlessness and disorder. In fact, we are surrounded with so much lawlessness that it takes an extreme example to shock most people, such as the assassination of some statesman or world leader. Lawlessness of a less spectacular type—shoplifting, stealing on the job, cheating on the expense account and on tax statements—are all part of the breakdown in law and order."

Balzer continued, "Christians today strive to develop a proper attitude toward law and order. This starts with little things like eliminating the 'me first' attitude and pushing ahead in lines and crowds. They avoid mobs and riots. Children must be taught to respect the authority of parents and school teachers. Then they will respect other offices of authority. Christians will never take the law into their own hands."

17 from Area To Hear Staley At NFO Meeting

Oren Leo Staley, national president of the N.F.O., will headline the speaking platform at the 4th annual rally sponsored by the Minnesota National Farmers organization. This year's assembly will be held at the National Guard armory in St. Cloud, starting at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

Those who plan to attend from this area are Mr. and Mrs. Durrow Lundeen, Trail; Maurice Stenseth, Lewis Stenseth, Jens Steen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Berhardson and Marvin Mehrkens, Thief River Falls; Don Erickson and Richard Peterson, Plummer; Daniel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Max Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. Oldrich Hoffman, Goodridge; and Mr. and Mrs. Juell Chervestad, Oklee.

A special election will be held in connection with the rally this year, to enable the county delegations to name a director to the national board. The vacancy occurred earlier in the year when Ralph Kittelson, Appleton, resigned to head the national grain commodity department at the organization's headquarters Corning, Iowa. Other national board members from Minnesota are Brynolf Grahn, Roseau, and Clarence Ewert, Mt. Lake.

The National Farmers organization now has an active membership in 44 states. "N.F.O. members have been marketing through livestock supply contracts, phase II dairy agreements and the new grain contracts," said Hugh Crone, Minnesota N.F.O. public relations coordinator. Advantages of the marketing efforts will be reported by President Staley in his address at the rally."

Seed Purity and Germination Tests Are Extended

Time for farmers to obtain free seed germination and purity tests has been extended to April 16, according to Robert W. (Bob) Carlson, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture.

This extension of time was made possible because of the prompt action on the part of the legislature and governor in adopting legislation permitting this extension. The extension is in effect for 1969 only and was in recognition of the adverse weather conditions prevailing in the state. Normally the free seed testing service is available from July 1 through March 15 of each year.

Farmers wishing to avail themselves of this service should send their seed samples to the Seed Laboratory, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101. Service sample envelopes are available from the agriculture inspector in each county.

It was pointed out by commissioner Carlson that the legislation also provides for an increase from five to six such free tests each year for each resident of Minnesota.

Changes in the law became effective March 12, 1969, when they were signed by Governor LeVander.

Letters to the Editor

Marvin Lundin, Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minn. 56701

Dear Mr. Lundin:

I have read parts of the governor's proposed "Gun Bill" and I would like to comment and question. How is a man who has owned a pistol for 26 years supposed to get that gun from his home to a target range? One part of Governor LeVander's Bill provides for a $5,000 fine and up to five years in prison for carrying a hand gun in a municipality. Another part of the Bill provides for a $1,000 fine and up to one year in prison for carrying a gun outside the municipality. Therefore you couldn't transport a gun from your house to a target range, nor from your home in the city to a farm in the country or vise versa.

The governor said he would not infringe on the sportsman or farmer. This is a direct infringement on the sportsman and "failure to record" gun transactions. You might take note on the wording of this: "Failure to record gun transactions" can be twisted to mean all guns not just hand guns. This is another infringement on the sportsman. A sportsman will have red tape to contend with—even if he was going to trade his gun to a friend or sell it outright. On a handgun only, I would say yes, but not on all guns.

In order to get a permit to carry an exposed or concealed handgun, an individual would have to produce evidence that would "materially reduce" danger to himself resulting from his work or a threat to his person. This is another law aimed directly at sportsmen and farmers. Sportsmen and farmers do not carry a handgun for safety, only for plinking, target shooting and killing varmits. As I understand it, we, the sportsmen and farmers, are to give up our rights all together.

A farmer couldn't even carry his pistol around his farm to shoot gophers, coons, skunks, etc. for the bill only permits you to have the handgun "in your own home."

As for us getting a permit, it would be virtually impossible. The issuing authority would be granted to just one individual in each municipality—a lot of authority granted to one man I'd say! Also I'd say here and now—we are fast becoming a police state. There aren't two men in any two municipalities that have the same opinion on how this should be regulated. So we would all be under the whim of our one particular "authority". Fine situation, huh?

According to the laws enacted last year, we have no gun "registration and permit" on the books, but the Johnson administration turned it over to the Treasury department to interpret as they see fit and what do we have now!? Back door registration of our guns. We can't even buy a box of shells anymore without registering our name, age, birthdate and place of birth. We must also show This is an example of how these laws are twisted to fit the opinion of one man or one organization.

I do hope our legislature takes all this into account. I also hope they put Governor LeVander's proposal in file 13 for good.

I am in favor for laws against the criminal or criminal acts. But I'm opposed to laws against the farmer and sportsman. Not for his sake only, but for the economy of the state—to which sportsmen and farmers contribute some 50 million dollars annually.

Sincerely yours,
Raymond O Olson

Northwest Boat And Sports Show Opens In Mpls.

Northwest boat, sports and travel show opens in Minneapolis March 28 with a mixture of new and time-tested features for the outdoor minded. The 10-day event will cover 160,000 square feet of space on four levels of hall.

Here the outdoorsman can get a line on what's new and at the same time engage in vicarious thrills pertaining to his favorite sport. Outdoor sports have become a family affair in contemporary America and sports shows are supermarkets of recreational ideas.

Some 35 boat manufacturers will be represented with their 1969 models ranging from the small children's boats up to 40-foot craft.

Because of their growing popularity, sailboats and canoes will occupy more space in this year's show than ever before, said Philip D. Perkins, show manager. There also will be an increase in the number of exhibitors who make a specialty of outfitting sportsmen for canoe trips into the north country.

In addition to the newest in motors and marine accessories, the 50,000 square feet boat section still have an area devoted to docks and dock materials.

Twenty-one national manufacturers have reserved booths in the tackle section and a corps of experts will be on hand to supply authoritative answers to the fisherman's questions. Facilities are provided by the show for those who wish to test new equipment.

The greatest expansion, however, will be in the camping section where some 200 travel trailers, pickup campers and motorized homes will be spotlighted.

Armed with literature, slide presentations and on-the-spot experience, approximately 200 travel counselors from 13 states, five Canadian provinces, the Northwest Territory and the Republic of Panama will be on duty throughout the show to help vacationers formulate their vacation plans.

The popular Hall of Nature, inaugurated a year ago, will be expanded to include dog sledge driver, George Esslinger and his malamutes; the seals from Como Park zoo; a collection of live baby wild animals, and one of America's outstanding collections of wild animal trophy specimens. The catch-your-own trout pool will again be a show feature.

The doors will open at 6 p.m. Friday, March 28, and the stage show is scheduled at 9:30 p.m. Daily hours thereafter will be 1 p.m. until midnight on weekdays and Saturdays, and the Sunday hours are 1 to 9 p.m. with the doors closing at 9 p.m. Stage shows will be at 3:30 and 9:30 p.m. daily except Sunday when the starting times are 3:30 and 7 p.m.

Admission prices are $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for children, 12 years and under.

Firearms Safety Course To Start Here Next Week

Beginning Wednesday, April 2, will be the only class in youth firearms safety training to be conducted this spring. Boys and girls between the ages of 11½ and 15 years inclusive, who wish to receive the training in order to hunt next fall, should be at the main floor of the city auditorium at 7 p.m. next Wednesday.

After the first meeting on April 2, class sessions will be held on April 9, 11 and 16, in addition to a field trip, according to Fred Mittelstadt, certified firearms safety instructor, who will conduct the course. He will be assisted by members of the state conservation department and local sportsmen, and requests that volunteers interested in providing assistance contact him prior to the first meeting.

A fee of $2 per person will be charged for the course and will cover the four classroom-type sessions, field trip, course materials and the certificate awarded upon successful completion of the course. Boys and girls must have completed the course and received a certificate in order to hunt small game or big game next fall.

Mittelstadt emphasized that the course beginning Wednesday will be the only one offered here before the next hunting season. Youngsters who wish to hunt next fall must enroll in the class and successfully complete it in order to obtain the necessary firearms safety certificate.

"We hope to retain the Northwest conference and District 31 championships that we won last spring." These words came from head track coach Jim Sims as the Prowlers prepared for their season opener at the Moorhead indoor track meet on April 16.

Sims has a total of 33 boys out for the squad, including 10 lettermen from last spring's championship squad. There are six seniors, 19 juniors, seven sophomores and one freshman vying for spots on the squad which has been working out since March 3.

"We will be weak in the weights and hurdles this year," Sims said, "but it is expected that by the time that conference district and regional meets come up in the later part of May that we should be able to make a good showing in these events." The Prowlers will be strong in the dashes, distance races and the high jump.

"Our relay teams were hurt this year as it looked like we would have the mile and 880 relay teams back, boys with experience, but two of them decided not to come out for the squad this year," Sims stated. "We are now trying to find two boys who will be able to help us in the two events, but what can you do inside of a gym?" added the head coach.

Back this year are three seniors and seven junior letter winners from last spring's team. John Harris, elected as captain of this year's squad is a senior and will be running the half mile for the Prowlers. Sheldon Joppru, who has been named to both the all-state football and basketball teams this year, is also back. Joppru will compete in the low and high hurdles, high jump, discus and could win up in the long jump, according to Sims. The other senior is Richard Habedank, a speedy dash man who will be competing in the 100 yard dash, 200 yard dash, both the mile and 880 relay squads and the long jump.

Tim Olson, a junior, will more than likely be running the low hurdles and the 440 yard dash this year. Bill Norman, a speedster from last year's team, will be running in the 100 yard dash, 440 yard dash and mile and 880 yard relay teams. Expected to help out in the half mile and pole vault this year is Gary Kayser. Lynn Stromberg will be the Prowlers biggest asset in the distance meets as he will be running in the mile and two mile meets this year. Lynn was out for cross-country this fall and has been running during the winter months to keep in shape for the distance races. He was the Prowler's leading miler last year and he could come up with a good time by the end of the season.

Another speedster back from last year's squad and expected to give the Prowlers added strength in the dashes, along with helping on the relay squad, will be Rex Rugland. Jon Swick and Neil Rondorph will help in the pole vault and the mile and low hurdles respectively.

Seniors out for the squad but who didn't letter last year and expected to help this spring are Jim Gibson in the 880, 440 and in relays; Scott Vettleson in the weights and Mike Munt in the distance races.

Other juniors out for the squad—include Darroid Rodahl, in the hurdles and high jump Mark Kays, weights; Wayne Olson, hurdles; Ralph Swick, high jump, pole vault and low hurdles; Russ Delorme, distances; Jerry Breiland, pole vault, mile and relays; Brian Bowmnn, dashes; Kim Engelstad, 440 and 880 yard runs; Don Schindler, high hurdles and 440; Randy Wentzel, pole vault and 440; Dave Holm, distance races; and Steve Espeseth, pole vault.

Sophomores listed on the squad include Dennis Nabben in the dashes; Larry Langevin, also in the dashes; Merv Erickson in the high and low hurdles along with the 440; Kim Murphy on the 440 and 880 yard runs; Jeff Borning, hurdles; Charles Hanson in the distances; Terry Dahl in the weights and 440.

Also listed on the squad is freshman pole vaulter Ken Thompson. All these are listed and subject to change, according to Sims, as some of them will be placed where they will do the best to help the squad.

Missing from this year's team that were expected to be a help to the Prowlers are juniors Dennis Johnson and Gary Jordet. Both were promising members of the relay teams a year ago.

The Prowler schedule is as follows with some of the meets tentative as no confirmation has been given on the meets yet:

April 16, at Moorhead, Indoor, 4:30; April 19 — Sioux Indoor at UND, 9 a.m.; April 26 —Sioux Outdoor at UND, 9 a.m.; April 30—at Bemidji (Dual meet tentative), 4 p.m.;

GAME OF THE WEEK

State League Votes "No"

Meeting during the Minnesota state basketball tournament in Minneapolis, the representative assembly of the Minnesota state high school league met and discussed different subjects which were brought before them.

One of the main issues was the proposal to place junior high school interscholastic athletics under the control of the league. This issue was tabled for one year and a committee will restudy it.

The action would just about put an end to most of the youth hockey programs that are now in effect around the state, hurt the basketball and all other junior high school sports, in which boys who are working make the grade on a future high school team.

In other action taken, the 32-member assembly established, by an unanimous vote, interscholastic athletics for girls.

The assembly also heard University of Minnesota basketball coach Bill Fitch, who asked the league to permit the high schools in the state to play a 20-game basketball schedule, that athletes be allowed to participate in summer clinics, and a high school All-Star basketball game be started.

In action on this the assembly voted down the amendment to increase the schedule from the present 18 games to the proposed 20-game schedule; they also voted down an amendment to increase the baseball schedule from 18 to 18 games per season.

They did approve the following measures:

A football conference champion may play a game to determine an inter-conference or intra-conference champion. This will allow the Suburban conference, which presently is divided into two sub-conferences, to play an overall conference championship game. League member schools will still be limited to playing nine games, excluding this inter-conference or intra-conference game. This game must be on the schools schedule at the time the schedule is required to be submitted. All teams that will be eligible for this game will have to put it on their schedules whether they play in it or don't play in it at the end of the football season.

Only individual honors rather than team points or victories will be forfeited by a school if it inadvertently allows a student to play who is ineligible because of violation of the rule on alcohol, tobacco or drugs.

Tennis players will be allowed to participate in 20 matches instead of the current 15. The league considers a student to have participated in two matches when he competes in both singles and doubles of one meet.

Trackmen may participate in the state championship if they have attained a set standard of competition. Previously, only the first and second place winners in regional competition were allowed to compete in the state meet.

It was a bad decision that the league decided to vote down the 20-game basketball schedule, for teams that would like to stage a holiday tournament during the two-week Christmas break have to include these two games on their 18-game schedule now. This addition of two more games would help the boys as the season is only three or four games old when Christmas comes around, and not playing during these two weeks makes it hard to come back and get back into condition for some of them.

Some of the schools in voting against the merger had their reasons while others feel that the season is too long already at 18 games. If you look further into the matter a school doesn't have to schedule the 20 games or the 18 games, as they can schedule as many as they see fit. The state league doesn't say how many games a school has to play, but it can't play more than the established 18.

Representatives from the different regions will now propose an 18-game schedule and a two game holiday tournament which won't have to be on the regular schedule for the schools. It is hoped that they can get it in before the board meets again in May.

Region Eight representative Whitey Olson, Thief River Falls, stated that it was a surprise that the league didn't accept the 20-game schedule. He added that the state basketball coaches' association will now try and find a way that they can get the 20-game schedule if it means to get the regular 18 plus two in a holiday tournament.

DDT in Flesh Of Minn. Fish Is Very Low

Concentrations of DDT in the flesh of Minnesota fishes are generally lower than that permitted by federal regulations for many fruits and vegetables and animal fat.

Special publication 59 of the conservation department's game and fish division summarizes the finding of a study of pesticide levels in both game fish and rough fish in Minnesota streams and lakes.

The study covered the period 1962-68 and measured levels of DDT, DDE and dieldrin.

The report was prepared by John Moyle and John Skrypek of the division's technical services section.

The highest concentrations found in flesh of game fish was 3.43 parts per million but several rough fish contained amounts in excess of this figure.

No federal levels of pesticide have been set for fish, but the maximum acceptable levels for certain green vegetables and animal fat in meats is 7 parts per million.

Most of the fish analyzed had concentrations below 1.0 parts per million, however, occasional fish were found with high concentrations.

Highest readings were recorded generally from fish taken from streams or lakes in certain agricultural areas and from forested sections of northeastern Minnesota where there had been extensive spraying to control damaging forest insects.

Since 1962, both the state and federal forest agencies have largely discontinued the use of DDT, but resorts and private cabin owners still use the chemical to control insects such as mosquitoes and black flies.

A total of 134 fish were collected from various parts of the state and analyzed by the Minnesota Department of Health. More fish samples will be gathered this summer and analyzed with a new machine recently purchased by the Conservation Department.

Investigators noted that higher concentrations were found in the brain tissue than in the edible part of the fish, reflecting the tendency of DDT to accumulate in tissue high in fats.

Since 1962, there has been a general but irregular decline in DDT concentrations in Minnesota fish.

Skrypek and Moyle said there has been no change in the percentage of egg survival among walleyes produced in state hatcheries that can be traced to DDT.

The report points out that although no serious effects of DDT on fish in Minnesota have been found, the long range and more subtle effects of pesticides such as DDT are very difficult to evaluate.

Copies of the report are available from the conservation department, bureau of information, 350 Centennial Building, St. Paul.

Book Describing Minnesota Lakes Goes On Sale

First accurate inventory of Minnesota lakes has been completed by the Minnesota Conservation department and is being offered for sale by the State Documents section.

The book contains about 500 pages and lists 15,291 lakes of ten acres or more in size, including 3,527 lakes which have been completely drained or whose water levels have been seriously affected by drainage.

Lakes are numbered and grouped by counties with the name, location, area and other information given for each. Also included is a brief summary of the geologic origin of lakes and a short history of the lakes in each county.

E. R. Gere, director of the Conservation department's division of waters, soils and minerals, said the publication is an essential part of a comprehensive inventory of the natural resources of the state.

"It will replace the only other listing of state lakes ever printed, called the "Gazetteer", which was published in 1928 and showed only meandered bodies of water. It has been out of print for many years," said Gere.

Those wishing to purchase the new publication should contact the Documents Section, 140 Centennial Building, St. Paul, and ask for Bulletin No. 25, "Inventory of Minnesota Lakes".

The price is $4.64 including the sales tax.

Gere said lake names have been a problem in compiling the inventory because very few have been approved by the state or federal board which have jurisdiction over place names.

Frequently the name listed has been chosen as the most appropriate from among two or more possibilities. But the book also contains an alphabetical listing of all lakes in the state including alternate names and alternate spellings of names.

This list shows that there are 156 Long lakes and 83 Bass lakes plus a few Upper Longs, Lower Longs, Little and Big Bass lakes. Because of the many duplications in names, an identification number has been assigned to each lake, said Gere.

Underground Highway

At International Nickel's 68-year old Creighton mine in the Sudbury District of Ontario, a 16-foot wide, concrete-surfaced ramp spirals down a 20-degree incline to a vertical depth of nearly 2,000 feet. To be further extended, this ramp provides an economical method of recovering low-grade nickel ores that would be valueless if more conventional mining techniques had to be used.

Answer Questions on Federal Income Tax

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—Can I use 1968 income and expense figures to make a declaration of estimated tax for 1969?

A—Yes, this is one method that can be used. Should there be a change in these figures during the year then an adjustment can be made at the time an installment is paid.

One change that has to be made when last year's figures are used concerns the surcharge. The rate for the surcharge was 7.5 per cent for 1968 but since June 3, the rate that should be used for 1969 declarations is five per cent.

If you received a preaddressed package of estimated tax forms in the mail be sure to use them when you file. It will help assure proper crediting of your payments.

Q—Do you have to pay self-employment tax on income from a part-time business if social security tax has been taken out of your regular wages?

A—If social security taxes have been withheld on $7,800 of wages, then you will not have to pay self-employment tax on your other income. If social security taxes were withheld on wages less than $7,800 then you may be liable for selfemployment tax.

The maximum income on which social security and or selfemployment tax has to be paid is $7,800.

Quick Lighting

Sectional lightpoles fabricated of nickel stainless steel can be buried directly in the ground without the need for a base. Two men, using no special equipment, can erect such a pole in 20 minutes.

Hot Chambers

The thrust chambers used in the first stage of Project Apollo's Saturn rocket must withstand heat of 5,000°F—half the temperature on the sun's surface. The fuel is used as a coolant by circulating it through tubular thrust chamber walls made of a high-temperature nickel-chromium alloy. This cooling system lowers the thrust chamber walls to a mere 1,000°F.

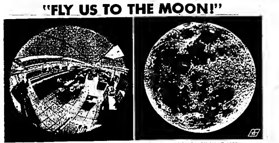
"FLY US TO THE MOON!"



As the Apollo astronauts bustle toward the moon, seen close-up at right, five UNIVAC 1108 computer systems developed by Sperry Rand Corp., will provide data on their fuel loads, oxygen consumption and psychological condition. The computer systems capable of performing one million calculations per second are seen, at left, in NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

HOUSTON, TEX.—The world's most efficient communications system—including a globe-girdling network of super-high speed computers—will make Apollo astronauts the best informed, least lonely explorers in history as they fly to, and explore, the moon.

The astronauts will be in far closer touch with earth than are pilots on commercial airplane flights. Almost every second of their journeys, a torrent of data will be transmitted from the spacecraft to tracking station computers for instantaneous flashing to the Mission Control Center in Houston. Like an invisible umbilical cord, messages and vital signals from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Apollo support facilities also flow through the computers to the spacecraft.

The tracking station computers—UNIVAC 1230's from Sperry Rand Corporation's Univac Division—can process up to 288,000 separate bits (pieces of information) per second! Super high speed UNIVAC 494 computers in the global communications network route the telemetry and command data flowing to and from the 1230's allowing most messages between moon and earth to reach their destination in five seconds at most.

During the 11 days Apollo 7 flight, the computer-aided global network conveyed over two billion bits of high speed data information!

Books for Adults

The papers, TV and radio thoroughly covered the Plaisted Polar expedition last year, and now Charles Kuralt has come out with his hour-by-hour record of the intrepid party's endurance contest in his book, "To the Top of the World." Plaisted, a St. Paul businessman who led the expedition, brought interest in the state to a high level and spread its fame around the world. If you like your adventure in great raw chunks, you'll get your kicks from this one. The beauty of it all is that you can live with the guys who endured it and never leave the comfort of your recliner or lawn swing. The writing is sharp and crisp, like the air of the Arctic that took out of the explorers almost all that they had to give, but had to concede to them the final victory.

"The Men in Your Life" by Genevieve Dariaux, has a come-on for a title and includes everyone of the female sex by amplifying this with "a guide for every woman". There is a delightful assessment of the male urge to grow a beard at some point in life: "Growing a beard can also be a distraction and a diversion or, on the contrary, the renunciation of all effort." Going on in this vein, age, a happy one, is simply a succession of successful dinners . . .the menu and conversation of which should both be varied. About dishes: "Let him dry them if you must, but remember that this is not really a job for a man." And another observation worthy of comment: "Good manners consist in knowing when to say : 'That's enough,' knowing how to leave when your hosts yawn, knowing at what age a woman can no longer dress the way her daughter does." To explain habit, she says: "Habit is the fog that makes the most beautiful scenery" and a honeymoon she characterizes as "the period between parentheses, so marvelous that some people can't bear to see it come to an end. . .contracting one marriage after another." After reading these few gems, who will still dare to say that all sages are men?

David Parks, the Minneapolis-bred son of Gordon Parks, famous for his writing and his photography, gives a close-up look at the pain of Vietnam, in his "GI Diary." He is seared by the obvious prejudice shown against him by his officers and fellow GI's alike, and only because his skin is black, not because of his poverty, ignorance, or his illiteracy, for none of these are his heritage, only his color. "Had a letter from Dad Today" he says in one place. "He and the family are doing well. So many months and so many bullets before I see them all again. At times like this I wonder if I ever will." This and so much more: "Charlie fights like h— when he is cornered." Charlie of course is the enemy, the VC, the unseen peril with the stealth of the jungle bred in him; he is of course, the reason for "GI Diary."

"Care and Repair of Antiques" by Thomas H. Ormsbee not only tells how to reconvert the "finds" you make in some out-of-the-way junk or antique shop (if this is your pleasure) but how to enhance and preserve the aged look of those you don't want to change too much. Also given are valuable tips on knowing if your "find" is valuable, or just junk, or a cheap imitation. This covers not only furniture but glass, china, all but glass, china, silver, pewter ver, pewter and other items to which collectors are partial. There is likewise a good explanation of hallmarks and what they tell you about an article.

Books For Teenagers

Guys if you're looking for something up-beat enough to be labeled "today", be sure to read both of these books from the teenage section: "Sea Treasures", by Willard Manus and Patrick O'Connor's "Seawind from Hawaii." Searching for the graveyard of wrecked ships didn't die with the pirates; it's more sophisticated today, but it's still a pretty cool way of getting your kicks, and Manus knows how to latch onto his young readers and give them all the shocks they can stand. Imagine his finding a fortune in one second and in the next, having the Ripper of his diving suit caught on a sharp rock. And if that weren't enough, just above the hero, lurking in the water like a great gray hulking submarine is a killer whale! Well, that's what this yarn of the sea is like. As we promised, it'll grab you, man! All the action is in "Sea Treasure."

In "Seawind from Hawaii," your stomach will be made to feel as if it's practically standing on end when the winds pitch your 40-foot ketch on top of a wild, wild wave. You're helping deliver the boat from Hawaii to southern California, and what you don't know about sailing at the beginning of the trip, you'll have learned before it's over. Taking along an old-timer when one of the original crew couldn't go, was one of the really important decisions of the whole venture, as it turned out. Learn why, as this sea yarn unravels, with one of the crew breaking his arm and leg, and having to be transferred to a tanker in monstrous seas. Can you take more? There is more, and it doesn't quit until the end of the book.

Books for Children

"Mary - Mary Stories" by Joan Robinson are about a little girl in the middle, with five older brothers and sisters all telling her what to do. But Mary-Mary, having a will of her own, knows how to use it, and how to get herself into trouble doing it. Like the day when, pretending to be a bride, she puts a towel over her head and walking blindly, she hums the wedding tune blithely. The dream is shattered when she trips over a chair on which she kept her doll house, and she lies on top of the dollhouse and the furniture. That ends the marriage plans but not her episodes of wackiness. Life for the family was far from dull with Mary-Mary on the job.

Robert Stock's beautiful "Natural Wonders of the World" pictures and tells about the greatest sights on earth. There's beauty under the ground, like the Carlsbad Caverns and the Dead Sea, the sea below the level of the other seas; the highest point on earth, Mt. Everest, taller than 20 Empire State buildings stacked on one another; the volcanoes of Hawaii, "Greatest fireworks on earth," and a rocky trip back thru time, in the depths of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River. Also the earth's oldest living things, the giant redwoods of California; the world's greatest jungles; the world's highest tides, and the greatest, driest deserts. And even more to surprise you.

Kiddies: "Whatever Happens to Bear Cubs?" is one of the new books, a tall white one with the full order of enchanting today's sophisticated little readers who, even long before kindergarten days tell you about spacemen and LEM, the moon module. But even the little TV watcher likes the books about bears: they just about top the list of favorites.

TEST FOR FOOLPROOF FISH COOKERY

Most homemakers overcook fish and seafood.

So say the results of research conducted by Booth Fisheries, the world's largest producer and processor of frozen fish.

"70% of women who dine out order fish or seafood," say company spokesmen, "But they often produce unpalatable results when they prepare fish at home. This discourages them from serving it to their families as a regular meal."

Properly cooked fish is succulent, tender and flaky. The secret is to begin early in the cooking period to test for doneness. Remove the fish from heat as soon as the flesh flakes easily when touched with a fork. This may be anytime from six to twenty-six minutes after cooking begins.

Most package instructions tend to encourage overcooking, warn Booth authorities. The only way to be sure your family will eat fish at the peak of perfection is to test and test again.

HUMOR IN THE NEWS

John S. Wagner skidded off the road in Berkeley Heights, New Jersey, and might have been seriously injured as his small sports car plunged into a deep ravine, but while soaring through the air it landed plump into the top of a big tree and Mr. Wagner climbed down unhurt.

Ray Hoover walked into his carport and found an elephant standing beside his station wagon. The discovery ended the hunt for Kim, a favorite at Knowland State Park, Oakland, California.

FOR SHOWERING

Beef Cobbler is the kind of dish which, if made "from scratch" using beef stew meat and fresh vegetables, would require considerable preparation time for the vegetables and long slow cooking for the meat to become tender. Not so this Beef Cobbler, however! It features canned and packaged convenience foods, put together in the heartiest, healthiest, most delectable and easiest fashion.

Lean meaty chunks of roast beef with gravy, canned and ready to use, are the flavorful start. Mixed vegetables and button mushrooms are there, too, at the flick of a can-opener. The attractive topping of pastry cut-outs is made from packaged pie crust mix.

The casserole bakes just long enough to heat the beef mixture and brown the pastry topping. Time enough, however, to toss a salad of mixed greens with French dressing for accompaniment, and to whip up a package of dessert topping mix to spoon over chilled canned fruits for dessert.

BEEF COBBLER

- 2 cans (12 ounces each) roast beef with gravy
- 1 can (1 pound) mixed vegetables
- 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms, drained
- 1 can (5¾ ounces) brown gravy
- ½ package (11.25 ounces) pie crust mix (about 1-1/3 cups)
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds

Combine roast beef with gravy, mixed vegetables, mushrooms and brown gravy in a shallow 2-quart baking dish. Prepare pastry mix according to package directions adding sesame seeds. Roll into a rectangle and cut into desired shapes. Place pastry cut-outs on roast beef mixture. Bake in a 400 degree oven 25 minutes or until hot and pastry is browned.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bequeathing Your Body

Since time immemorial, men have been making bequests of their money or other worldly possessions. But suddenly, just within the past few years, a new kind of bequest has come into being.

Today a person can bequeath not only his wealth but also various parts of his own body. This has become possible because of a series of scientific breakthroughs. Doctors are now able to transplant, from the dead to the living, everything from eyes to kidneys, from skin to bones.

One result of this development has been to focus attention on the unusual legal problems that are involved.

Offhand it might seem that it should be just as easy, legally, to donate one's body after death as to donate one's blood during life.

But there is a stumbling block. In matters of burial, the law has traditionally given consideration not only to the wishes of the deceased but also to the wishes of his surviving family. And even though the deceased may have wanted to donate all or part of his body, the widow or other relatives might well feel differently about it.

In many states, relatives do have a legal right to say no. The doctor who defies them, removing organs or tissue without their consent, may be exposing himself to a damage suit—and perhaps criminal liability too, for tampering with a dead body.

Even if the rights of relatives are in doubt, the mere delay caused by a dispute may make the whole question academic. For the transplantation of most bodily parts must be done swiftly, within minutes of death, to be successful.

To clear away these difficulties, a special committee has gone to work under the auspices of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. It is drawing up a model statute, to be recommended for adoption by the various state legislatures.

The committee is seeking to insure, to every person willing to be a donor, that his wishes will be carried out. It is seeking to devise a modern mechanism for a new kind of gift—and to transplant it into the body of the law.

70,000 In State Get Assistance In Food Plans

Over 70,000 low income persons in Minnesota received food assistance from the U.S. department of agriculture during January, according to Dennis M. Doyle, midwest district director of consumer food programs.

The total included 13,248 in 22 commodity distribution program projects and 56,758 in 48 food stamp program areas.

In 11 midwest states, about 1,171,000 persons received USDA food assistance. Around 465,000 were in 374 commodity programs and 706,000 in 417 food stamp projects.

The commodity program provides some 22 USDA donated foods to supplement the diets of needy people. The foods are shipped to the Minnesota department of education, which handles the storage and transportation to local distribution centers and public assistance agencies.

The food stamp program enables low-income families to buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid. The food coupons are spent like cash at authorized retail food outlets for any domestic foods. Minnesota recipients bought around $835,000 in coupons during January and were given nearly $327,000 in bonus coupons. The average bonus per person was $5.76.

Woodbury Named To Direct News On Conservation

Richard A. Woodbury, Bloomington, has been named director of the conservation department's bureau of information and education, it was announced today.

The appointment was announced by Robert Rygg, assistant conservation commissioner, who said Woodbury will succeed the retiring director, Carl Moen, who had held the post for 22 years. Moen will remain in the bureau to assist Woodbury until July 1.

Woodbury has an extensive background in education and public relations work. Prior to joining the conservation department he was manager of public relations for North Central airlines.

Woodbury holds membership in numerous professional organizations. His hobbies include hunting, fishing, camping and model ship building.

One of his primary objectives in his new job, Woodbury said, will be to focus increased emphasis on the educational role of the bureau in promoting the wide use of the state's natural resources.

Increased Use Of Aspen Lumber Seen for State

Current construction boom combined with an increasing shortage of lumber and higher prices for forest products, should stimulate the production of aspen lumber in Minnesota.

These factors favor the utilization of aspen which in the past was considered suitable only for the construction of disposable palets or packing and crating, according to Robert Thompson, assistant professor of forestry at the University of Minnesota.

This increasing market will depend on the selective use of aspen logs, however, Thompson says. Not all parts of the log are acceptable for high grade lumber.

It will be necessary to develop integrated utilization of aspen, where part of the log may be used for veneer and part for chips, or part for high grade lumber, part for low grade lumber and the residue for chips for use in pulp manufacture. Recent experiments by foresters and manufacturers indicate that aspen can be used for a variety of quality products Thompson says.

For example, Thompson found that the outer part of 10-12 inch aspen logs can be cut for studs for structural framing in houses. These studs are comparable in physical properties and quality to studs from other species of trees now being sold.

A manufacturer of millwork in Minnesota is considering cutting one inch boards from aspen logs, then working and treating these strips into laminated boards which will be machined into shapes for millwork parts and covered with a rigid vinyl so they will never need painting.

Another manufacturer had some Minnesota aspen logs cut into veneers which were made into plywood and sold on an experimental basis. Both the product and consumer acceptance were good, Thompson says.

This product could have opened up a new area for aspen production, but the company was concerned about not being able to get enough logs and did not enter into full scale production of this product.

Minnesota has plenty of aspen but the ownership pattern of the lumber is such that large industry can't rely on it, Thompson says. So much is in county and state owned lands that big manufacturers are required to rely on public sales for their raw material supplies, and public sales have not been consistent.

It is important to develop aspen production so manufacturers have a local resource base, Thompson says. This can be an important factor in keeping manufacturers in Minnesota.

Thompson believes that the ultimate solution would be large plants which cut veneer, have several sawmills for producing products best suited to a particular log and a chipper for the small logs and residues.

Such plants could recover the highest economic return for conversion of aspen into useable products and could operate within the framework of resource ownership.

Tulips For a King

The lake is green today. Sparkling waves ripple across its surface, borne of the same gentle breeze that ruffles through my tulips. I walk among them, filling my arms with beauty, listening to the murmur of early morning.

Soon I gather up baskets of orange and scarlet, pale pink and lemon yellow and hurry to the church in the valley.

My heart is full. I'd come to this church, some months ago, burdened with sorrow. Here, I'd found comfort and purpose in the life and teachings of God's Son. Since then, I'd been happier than I ever thought possible.

Now, in the stillness, I whisper a long-ago paean, "Hosanna to the Son of David!" And I lay blossoms gently among palm branches, as though in His presence.

Attend your church. Find the joy and happiness you've been seeking. Sing hosannas to the living Lord.

The state of Iowa this year has begun holding such such annual sessions. A mandatory mechanical safety inspection of autos and trucks at designated commercial garages was not favored. It was argued that most accidents are not the result of mechanical defects. The price of $50 for a grade animal and $100 for a registered animal was considered very fair indemnity to farmers for losses suffered as a result of condemnation of their swine herds due to hog cholera infection. The question regarding the reduction agreed the voting age should not be below 19. Just for fun, give a pink party tea! It could be a shower honoring an early Spring bride, a birthday party for a sweet sixteener or even a silver wedding anniversary celebration.

Set the table with a pale pink cloth and use pink carnations for a centerpiece. Keep the refreshments in the pink pastel shades, too. Tiny tea sandwiches can be pink and white delights if you use white bread cut in heart or diamond shapes and filled with cream cheese blended with red currant jelly or deviled ham. Tint the frosting for an angel food cake with red food coloring to complete your pink party theme.

The tea itself, of course, should be piping hot and full of flavor. To make it, follow these simple directions recommended by the experts. First, use a teapot and warm this by rinsing it out with hot water. Second, bring freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil. Third, measure out enough tea — one teaspoonful or one teabag per cup. Then, pour the boiling water over the tea. And finally, let the tea brew 3 to 5 minutes to bring out all its flavor. Serve with a choice of lemon slices or milk and sugar.

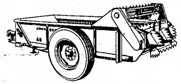
NEW from John Deere 34 and 40 SPREADERS



Easy to load . . . easy to operate . . . easy to maintain. Those are three good reasons to buy a 145-bu. 34 or 175-bu. 40 Spreader.

Both spreaders are built low to scoot under barn cleaners or fill easily with a front-end loader. Simplified rope controls and single pole hitch mean easy operating, easy maneuvering. Greasing and adjustment points are in the open, easy to reach.

Beater and endgate options let you choose the best combination for your individual needs. Credit? You bet.

"The college no longer exists to produce men prepared for life in a society of men, but men prepared for employment in an industry or profession. Our original American belief in our human capability, our human capacity to 'govern ourselves' faltered with our failure to control the greatest and most immediate of human dangers. We began to see science as a kind of absolute beyond our own reach, beyond our understanding even, known, if it was known at all, through proxies who, like priests in other centuries, could not tell us what they knew. It has never crossed our minds apparently—or if it did we turned our minds away—that a population of consumers, though it may constitute an affluent society, can never compose a nation in the great, the human sense." —Archibald MacLeish

Nixon's Chance

Concern has been expressed among conservatives that the change in government asked by the American people at the last election is not coming to pass as requested. We believe it is still too early to draw conclusions regarding the Nixon administration, but we have seen little so far to indicate that major changes will take place.

The Algona (Iowa) "Upper Des Moines" editor had some comment on opportunity for the President when he wrote the following:

If there is one way in which President Nixon can earn the support of Middle America, it would be to turn from a government of dominating bureaucracy back to a Republic as it was intended to be.

We refer to "Middle America," because the high strata folks are the ones who have managed to manipulate themselves into the position of power, to get legislation favorable to their own tax structure, and to obtain the fat government contracts that have been priming the economic pump for their benefit for a long time. The low strata folks have been kept in line by a policy of government handouts of various kinds. The great bulk of the country, has been the forgotten group.

The major part of our daily lives must be regulated by ourselves in our city and state governments. No group of men seated in Washington can possibly understand the various individual, local problems. Election or appointment to federal office does not create supermen or complete understanding of everything.

The filtering of vast sums of our tax dollars through the Washington bureaucracy may promote political power, but it assuredly does not improve a sound economy; it does allow the growth of special interest expenditures and handouts — at the top or at the bottom, but not for "Middle America."

President Nixon has a chance to earn the support of the segment of the public which seems to have been slightly forgotten these past few years. It will be interesting to see if he senses the opportunity.

Teen Thoughts

Deborah Templin of McLeod county, winner of the 1969 Minnesota 4-H radio speaking contest, gave the following talk on the subject: "Who Am I and How Can I Make My Presence Felt in Today's Society?"

Who am I?

In 1951. . .I was born. . .I am now 18 years old.

When I was 3 years old the Supreme Court banned racial segregation in public schools.

When I was 8 Fidel Castro assumed power in Cuba.

When I was 9 John F. Kennedy was elected president.

At the age of twelve I saw him assassinated.

We bombed North Vietnam when I was 13.

There was a march in Selma when I was 14.

When I was 16 sections of Detroit and Minneapolis rioted.

In 1968 I saw Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Robert Kennedy slain.

Who am I?

I am an American teenager, pulled between the past and the future. I have grown up with traditionalists like Henry Welk; and progressives like the Beatles, the Kennedys and John Lindsay.

My future could be changed by the drop of a bomb in Hanoi, the alienation of the races at the university, or a change in farm policy in Washington. I am a citizen of the world. I can shrink from my responsibility by retreating into isolation or I can make my presence felt in society by furthering its potentials of peace and understanding.

Today I will support the thesis that awareness and involvement make an individual's presence felt in a society.

Today America may be called a melting pot of nations, but it is not a homogenized one. The diversity of cultures in our nation have made this country rich in experience. . .rich in potential. But our future depends upon our ability to bring our experiences together under the discipline of democracy.

Cities all across the land have been broken by racial discord. Many asked why did it happen here? There was a definite lack of awareness. But one 16 year old girl in Detroit said, "I knew it was going to happen."

In Kansas City a teenager started Operation Hello to help stem the trouble brewing in his city. On the telephone two men talked, one black and one white, and found they had a lot in common although they had never met. The concern spread and the same idea was used in other U.S. cities. In my community we attempted to create better understanding between the races by group discussions with black teens.

As a delegate to the state Junior Leadership Conference, our aim was excellence in communication. The panel discussions on civil rights, religion and politics brought to us a new sense of urgency. We demonstrated our commitment by sending two state 4-H officers to the Poor Peoples' March in Washington, D.C.

This year as never before young people have became involved. Senator Eugene McCarthy said there was nothing radical about what the younger generation did in 1968. They merely practiced what the older generation had always preached; the right of participation, the right of petition, and the right of the people to make public judgement upon policies that affect their lives.

For example in high school many people feel children should be taught how to "adjust to life." The present state of the world demonstrates that society needs improvement. We express our ideas through school newspapers, open class discussion, and through the student council. We are learning not merely to "accept" values but to think.

Today throughout the world 15,000 people will die of hunger. I could accept this fact and rationalize myself out of the problem; however, I have to become involved. Right now I'm spreading information on the Biafran crisis to as many people as I can. The urgency is there, tho awareness and involvement must follow.

Many teens try to evade making a decision by dropping out, but in so doing they have already made a decision. I have made a decision also. . .I am involved. Service is not merely a 4-H motto to me, it is an acceptable explanation for why I am alive. I have inherited a world of urgency; I must respond with the awareness and involvement of youth.

Who am I? I am an American teenager.

Where am I going? Into a complex world.

What a Curriculum!

The following editorial appeared in the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

Black students at the University of Minnesota are demanding increased emphasis on African culture and Afro-American history in the school's curriculum. We're for it.

We are also for other things. We feel that the Irish, Germans and Italians should receive even more attention based, of course, on their percentage of the nation's total population. Perhaps the Jewish people have also been neglected in some of our schools and deserve additional consideration. Then, too, we have the Scandinavians—and these highly reasonable people may even come to the aid of the educators by including Swedish, Norwegian and Danish culture all in one big course. At this point, only the Indians and Orientals seem to have much reason for dissent, demonstration and destruction.

Too bad, but it appears we won't have the time or space to teach law, medicine, journalism, architecture, chemistry, physics and the like in the years ahead.

Register Bombs?

"It's hard to understand why they are having so much trouble with the nuclear treaties. It's real simple. If the nations with A-Bombs and H-Bombs would only register them all the problems would be over.

"Registration should be at a central registry, perhaps in Switzerland. If some country lost a H-Bomb, the finder would just look at the serial number and know right away who it belonged to and could return it to the rightful owner. And if a H-Bomb from a foreign nation exploded in the United States, after the smoke cleared away the Army could go in and find a serial number and know what country sent the bomb over here. There's something real magical about registration—just record the serial number some place and all the H-Bomb problems of the world will be over."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The following article is being written for two reasons. I. to inform the petitioners of district 441 of things that transpired at the meeting held in Newfolden on March 5th and after this date. Somethings which Mr. Larson didn't mention in his report to the people.

The other reason is to inform Mr. Kjellberg and the school board and other interested people as to the reasoning behind the petitioners ideas.

To begin I'll have to go back to last fall when the school board decided to sell a million and a half dollar bond issue to the newly consolidated district 441 (or the old Viking, Holt and Newfolden school districts) Yes I said sell the idea of this large bond issue with no other idea's given consideration enough to even have a discussion or a choice for the people to vote on. Now the school board member's seem to feel everybody should just shut up, go home and let them run the business well this is normal in the every day school business but not on a bond issue. Don't forget your elected to represent all of the people in district 441, not just a segment of it. We as tax paying voters feel the board in the case of this bond issue should have took 2 or 3 different approaches to the building program or 2 or 3 different ideas on how it could be accomplished and serve the district and then advise the people on to which way they felt it should be done. But no they mailed out a propaganda brochure as one sided as I have ever seen written. It was printed by T. B. Evenson a bonds man for the school bonds with information presented by Supt. Kjellberg.

Now Mr. Kjellberg is a real good Superintendent in my estimation and is interested in good education for our children I am sure but in this school bond issue he has gone I think to far since there is more involved in a bond issue than just good education like the costs. He doesn't pay for it we do, or the future population of District 441 talking of school age children, if we run into a shortage of pupils or have trouble operating it in other areas? He can pick up and leave but we're hung with it for 29 years yes and we had what was called an information meeting once before the bond issue was voted on. However, it did not really product any other ideas from the board or Mr. Kjellberg at that time in fact, Mr. Floyd Erickson from the state board of education, who advises and looks into the construction of new schools, so they meet the states qualifications, scared the people at that meeting into thinking if we did not build now why the school would be closed in 3 years. This was not true and the board knew it and sat there and allowed it.

At this meeting it was brought out openly the bond issue was for almost 1½ million dollars but didn't bother to tell the people that the interest would also be 1½ million so District 441 your going to pay 3 million dollars and they said at that meeting it could be operated cheaper than the old school. I think they're changing their minds and they better because there's a few things I'm going to mention like heat approximately twice the area. More custodians, 6 or 7 more teachers to teach these new class rooms, also the old teacher's their base salary will be up because of a larger school and I think the Superintendent will be included to. These are just some of the more obvious things.

Now I know as do the rest of the voters in 441 that our taxes are rising and if or when this school is built. They will raise still more due to the building. However, in all or most districts today taxes are not low and if you want good education facilities it's costly, this brings us to the reasoning for the petition which was signed by 148 voters I believe from this figure of 148 the board doesn't feel it was enough to consider, well it so happens we believe there could have been 3 times as many signed had the time been available.

But the board seemed annoyed that anyone should ever start a petition let alone present it to the county Supt. office.

The petition asked that the board consider consolidation with Thief River Falls school district, and yes they declined in fact I think they had decided before they ever heard the reason's or argument as to why the petitioners and the state board of education recommended it. The reason I say they had decided before coming is that they had no discussion about it among themselves but still told us they were not in favor of the consolidation.

Mr. Hendricks from the state Dept. of education, who works and advises consolidation of schools, that night, advised the Newfolden school board to have a referendum vote in the district because as he said population figures of young people in rural areas especially is decreasing at an alarming rate as is shown in our own districts records. He did say in my conversation with him that District 441 would have problems in operating in the future if this trend continues.

The Petitioners thinking and it is based on records that if this present trend with less and less young people staying here continues Viking school will be closed in 4 years and our high-school at Newfolden in 15 years or less. The school board shunes this aside but even their son's are being advised to leave for greener pastures, the why think someone else raises son's who are going to stay. I am not excusing myself as I have the same attitude for my 6 sons.

Now at first no one liked consolidating to another district. I don't think Viking or Holt did when they were consolidated with Newfolden. Now Newfolden if not now then in the future will have to consolidate with Thief River Falls. I don't like it either, but using common sense, both schools have a limit of 30 pupils per class and many other similarities.

The reasoning behind the petition was to rebuild the old part of the Newfolden school and send the top 3 grades to Thief River Falls. There by saving maybe ¾ of a million dollars on the principal and more on the interest.

Most of the petitioners signed were from the Holt and Viking areas. You really can't blame them since when they consolidated with Newfolden they were given the impression that the Newfolden school was in good financial condition and had no immediate building plans. Then after consolidation a 1½ million bond issue was passed on to them when they could have consolidated to Thief River Falls before and saved themselves 47 mills on taxes and had their children in the city where they do most of their business. In other words they got wooden nickols for silver dollars. Had this happened to the Newfolden area they'd be petitioning out also. No harmony can be derived from this kind of tactics in any district.

These are some of the questions which need answering or correcting to the petitioners, whichever you prefer. That is why when the school board refused the petitioners the right to a vote on the referendum I felt the least the board should do is hold an open meeting for all the district to get answers or corrections to these feelings. But they didn't did they? because to them you don't even count for a chance to be heard. They don't want to hear your voice but they sure wanted your money.

I'll say again to the school board, your supposed to represent all the district not particular areas.

Maybe to some of you in the district you didn't like the idea of a petition, but it is the only democratic way you can be heard in this type of a situation. Also had bond issue failed the first time which most of them do, more information is brought out why and they are voted on 2 or 3 times, which might have been better in this case, at least we all know the same questions and answers.

Some of you may not like the way we have stated the petitioners arguments, but we are not entirely in harmony with your thinking either.

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Every session several bills are introduced in the Legislature that would reduce its size. One bill sets limits of 50 for the Senate and 100 for the House. Another would try a new approach by putting five legislative districts in each congressional district. Under this approach there would be 40 legislative districts which would elect one Senator and three Representatives from each, making 40 Senate members and 120 in the House. The most drastic bill would set the maximum size of the Senate at 39 and the House at 79.

I do not favor a reduction in the size of the Legislature. To reduce the number of seats would mean less representation from rural Minnesota. The Legislature faces reapportionment following the 1970 census and this will mean an automatic drop in rural voice and influence in our state government. The population of Roseau, Marshall and Pennington counties have shown a decline since the 1960 census. According to the latest population projection by the Department of Economic Development by 1970 Roseau will show a loss of 1,450 Marshall 1,261 and Pennington 718.

Some people contend that a reduction in the size of the Legislature could save tax dollars. They agree that a reduction from the present 202 to 118 could save $403,200, but in the same breath they insist a smaller body should be better staffed, more professional and would have to receive higher salaries, so there would be no saving.

The problem of how to handle or treat the juvenile offender is receiving much attention from the members of the Legislature. A recent study of the Department of Corrections brings out some interesting facts. This study shows that the median age for the male juvenile offender is 15½ years and for the female offender 15 years of age. The majority of all committed offenders come from broken homes.

The most common juvenile offenses have been found to be noncriminal in nature such as runaway, truancy and the like. The most common criminal charge brought against juveniles is theft.

It is interesting to note that 50 per cent of all juvenile offenders reside in the urban counties of Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis. Incidently, these counties contain 43 per cent of the state's population.

Much discussion in recent weeks has been on the question of how to handle certain offenders after arrest. When the Legislature established the institution at Lino Lakes, many people in the welfare and corrections field felt we had found the answer to this problem. However, experience tends to prove that this is not the case.

The problem of housing juveniles in such a way as to prevent them from receiving what might be called, "a course in advanced crime," from older offenders is a difficult one. The major problem is to develop a program to effectively rehabilitate the juvenile offender. There problems.

MEA List Compares All School Districts

Minnesota graded elementary and secondary school districts range in student enrollments from 50 to 70,143 and in assessed valuations from $826 to $374,287,643. While others generally are increasing in both categories, the state's wealthiest and most populous district is decreasing.

These are among the thousands of statistics delineating the diversity in the state's education picture, as outlined in a research study just released by the Minnesota Education association (MEA)—its annual "Basic Financial Data of Minnesota Public School Districts."

A compilation and categorization of statistics from several state agencies, the study shows that three of the top five school districts with the largest enrollments are in the same order as in last year's study (last year's figures within parentheses): Minneapolis, 70,143 (72,604); St. Paul, 50,383 (49,242); and Robbinsdale, 27,641 (25,879). Fourth is Anoka - Hennepin, 25,185 (22,838), which was fifth last year. Fifth is Bloomington, 24,754 (21,556). Last year's fourth - Duluth, with 22,865-is out of the top five this year, despite an increase to 23,547.

1968-69 enrollment for Times area schools is as follows: Goodridge, 384; Middle River, 274; Newfolden, 333; Oklee, 434; Plummer, 278; Red Lake Falls, 725; St. Hilaire, 276; and Thief River Falls, 3,070.

Smallest enrollments again are led by Petersburg, 50, compared with last year's 48. The other four (with last year's figures within parentheses): Lake Bronson, 51 (144); Doran, 58, (99); Naytahwaush, 63 (63), and Odessa 75 (76). (Petersburg has merged with Jackson and Lake Bronson has merged with Karlstad and Hallock.)

(Last years smallest five, ranging from 48 to 99; Petersburg, Naytahwaush, Odessa, Vineland and Doran.)

(Ed. Note: Except for some current enrollment figures, all statistics are from the 1967-68 school year, the most recent available.)

Total assessed valuations (the basis on which are computed real estate taxes, which bear the burden of school support at the local level) range from Vineland's $826—exactly the same as in the last two years' studies—to Minneapolis' $374,287,643, which compares with last year's $403,518,092, which, in turn, had dropped from $425,338,009.

Others in the top five (last years figures within parentheses): St. Paul, $218,834,271 ($240,635,925-which also dropped, from the previous year's $243,423,032); Robbinsdale, $51,737,945 ($48,692,209); Bloomington, $48,954,389 ($48,749,857), and Duluth, $47,245,125 ($51,048,599).

(Last year's top five - ranging from $403,518,092 to $46,749,857; Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Robbinsdale and Bloomington.)

Others in the low five (last

Water Pollution Is Cited by Ag Groups

GETTING WEIGHED at the pre-school round-up at Washington elementary school on Saturday was Dean Skibicki. Operating the scale is Marcia Hruby. This was just one of the posts that the pre-schoolers stopped at on Saturday. Others included vision testing, height, hearing testing and other stations set up at the school.

"The alternative to cleaning up our own water pollution problems is to have someone force us into keeping our water cleaner," declares a combined statement from four agricultural agencies serving Pennington county. The agencies expressed a concern about water pollution as a local problem and issued a challenge to local people to help stop pollution.

Issuing the combined statement were the Pennington County Soil Conservation district's board of supervisors, county extension service, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee and the Farmers Home administration in Pennington county.

"We hear a lot about water pollution these days—mostly in far away places," the statement says. "Do we have water pollution problems of our own? We feel that we do have water pollution problems, that we should be doing something about them, and that some of our water pollution sources should be pointed out to county people.

"We challenge our local people to make a sincere effort to do something definite about stopping water pollution in our own area," the agencies said. "Most of us are guilty in some respect, but if everyone would make a genuine effort, we certainly could greatly reduce the pollution of water in this country."

The groups noted that the Minnesota Pollution Control agency has the government-granted power to administer and enforce all laws relating to the pollution of any water in the state. "It seems to us we would be better advised to clean up our own waters by ourselves than to have others force pollution controls upon us," the group statement adds.

Seven sources of pollution were listed by the groups as follows:

(1) Rural and urban people are dumping raw sewage into the Thief and Red Lake rivers and into county ditches which drain into rivers;

(2) Some livestock owners have been guilty of dumping manure and putting dead animals on the river ice in winter, and placing dead animals in the river during summer months;

(3) People are careless with the use of pesticides which contaminate the waters, often dumping left - over chemicals rather than burying them;

(4) People who use the rivers for recreation leave litter on the ice in the winter and drop refuse into the water in summer;

(5) Pollution problems are increased by people who dump trash and garbage, cans and bottles in the roadside ditches;

(6) Silt is a major pollution cause, and results when land owners construct field ditches which drain into the rivers or deep county ditches without non-erodible outlets;

(7) Barn yards and feedlots that drain directly into our streams are major sources of contamination.

Several Injured In Auto Mishaps

Due to icy conditions that prevailed over the area Thursday evening and early Friday morning, the Thief River Falls police department and the Pennington county sheriff's department reported a number of traffic accidents. The accidents sent a number of victims to Northwestern hospital, but only one was seriously injured.

The most serious of seven accidents reported was a car-pedestrian accident at 7:20 p.m. on Thursday. Donald Breiland, city, driving east on Third street and entering the intersection at LaBree avenue, found the signal light turning red before the left turn traffic had cleared. He proceeded to clear the intersection and struck a pedestrian, Diane Kildahl, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kildahl, who was crossing the street from the Northern state bank to Bostwicks. Miss Kildahl was taken to Northwestern hospital where it was reported that she suffered a broken pelvis and is in good condition. There was no damage to the Breiland vehicle.

Two accidents reported by the sheriff's department sent four persons to Northwestern hospital on Thursday to be treated, but none was injured seriously enough to be hospitalized.

The first accident occurred at 2 a.m. one mile south of Thief River Falls on trunk highway 32, when a car driven by Mike Kelly, city, went out of control and ran into the ditch. Kelly and a passenger, James Furuseth, city, were taken to Northwestern hospital where they

New Telephone Directory To Be Mailed Thursday

A new telephone directory will be released and mailed on April 3 to all customers in this area, according to Donald Lindquist, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager.

"The cover of the directory is new this year and features a color photograph of a typical Minnesota lake at sunset," he said.

The new directory listings for Baudette, Crookston, Roseau, Thief River Falls and Warroad in the alphabetical and classified sections and for Beltrami, Holt, Malung-Wanoaska, Middle River, Newfolden, Roosevelt, St. Hilaire, Viking, Williams and Rainy River, Ont., Canada, in the alphabetical section only.

Lindquist said that a "Call Guide", which contains useful information regarding long distance calling, area codes, tips on good telephone usage and services available to telephone customers, has been substituted for the introductory pages in the new book.

Emergency telephone numbers for fire, police and other agencies are listed inside the front cover of the directory. Lindquist urged all subscribers to list the numbers for their community in the appropriate blank at the top of the page.

Old directories should be discarded as soon as the new one has been received.

Judge Gives Decision On Adjustment Panel

School board and teacher salary settlements should now move with expediency as a result of a recent ruling clarifying the formulation and withdrawal from adjustment panels in school districts where an impasse has occurred, W. A. Wettergren, executive secretary of the Minnesota School Boards association, stated today. Wettergren stated that the 1967 legislature enacted legislation calling for the formulation of adjustment panels to be advisory to school boards and teachers in those districts where settlements came to an impasse.

The office of the association has recorded 281 such adjustment panels, all but one being called by teacher councils or representatives. The law makes it mandatory that, upon request prior to March 1, the school formulate such an adjustment panel. After this was done many teacher groups notified school boards they would not participate.

This was the case in the Moorhead school district. The Moorhead school board requested a clarification of the withdrawal request by the district court. On March 18, District Judge Chester Rosengren, Fergus Falls, ruled that the teachers could not unilaterally withdraw from an adjustment panel once it had been formulated by the school board.

In a letter to Milton R. Olson, chairman, Moorhead Teachers Negotiation Council, Moorhead, Minnesota, dated March 18, 1969, Judge Rosengren listed the following facts from the information given to him:

"1. That your council, sometime prior to March 1, 1969, and pursuant to Chapter 633 of the Minnesota Laws of 1967, duly requested the school board of Independent School District No. 152 (Moorhead) to create an adjustment panel;

"2. That the said school board by resolution duly established an adjustment panel and appointed one panel member;

"3. That the organization which you represent has failed or refused to appoint a panel member;

"4. That the jurisdiction of this court has been invoked by a petition or application filed by and on behalf of the said school board asking the court to select a panel member to represent your organization on the adjustment panel;

"5. That your organization now wishes to withdraw the request to which I earlier made reference.

"I have no interest and should have none in either the political overtones of your negotiating procedures or the status of the same or the merits of the same. I am, however, obligated to perform the duties imposed upon me by statute.

"There is no provision in the statute for any unilateral termination of the proceedings now pending in this Court by your attempted withdrawal of the previous request. I call to your attention the provisions of Section 125.25 MSA which provides in substance: That the school board shall set up an adjustment panel at the request of the recognized teacher organization, teachers council, or at its own instance. I refer to this specific language because the school board has now advised the court through its counsel that it does not wish to rescind its action, thus I must construe the action as having been taken either pursuant to your request or at its own instance, and if done on its own instance a withdrawal of your request would be immaterial. At the present time, the statute makes it mandatory, as far as the court is concerned, to make an appointment.

"Therefore, I request that you forthwith submit to me, and prior to March 28, 1969, a request in writing naming the individual your organization desires to designate as its representative on the panel and I should appoint such individual. If no name is submitted by said date I shall appoint you since you are manifestly the chairman of your council.

"As an alternative, if your council and the school board jointly request the court in writing to dismiss the pending application, I shall, of course, honor such mutual request."

Wettergren stated that on March 10, Fulton B. Klinkerfues and A. L. Gallop, president and executive secretary of the Minnesota Education Association, advised their membership not to participate in adjustment panels, even though they had been requested by the teachers. "Mr. Klinerfues and Mr. Gallop should now advise their membership at the earliest possible time to cooperate with the laws of Minnesota instead of creating superficial harrassment of local communities and their school boards," Wettergren said.

Newfolden and Lake Bronson Break-ins Solved

Newfolden and Lake Bronson burglaries were cleared a week ago when Sheriff Oscar C. Erickson of Warren and Sheriff Trygve Ingebretson of Hallock were called to Mandan, N. Dak., to question three suspects who admitted the crimes.

The three men, all professional burglars, were arrested in the act of safe cracking in a super market store in Stanton, N. D., when a family living in the basement apartment was awakened by the safe cracking blast and notified the Stanton sheriff.

Arrested on the scene were Delmar C. Campbell, 24, Minneapolis; Howard Myron Dunhum, 28, Coon Rapids; and Richard Walter Axtman, 28, Minneapolis. The three admitted burglarizing of many places in North Dakota and Minnesota and considered their chances of being caught as a part of their confession, Sheriff Erickson said.

Sheriffs Erickson and Ingebretson drove to Mandan and were given an opportunity to question the men about the five burglaries at Newfolden and the five at Lake Bronson. During the questioning, they readily admitted the crimes. All three men are on probation for burglaries in Minnesota. They are being held in the Mandan jail for Mercer county, of which Stanton is the county seat. Mercer county authorities will determine whether they should be tried under North Dakota law or be returned to Minnesota probation officers for disposition.

April Proclaimed Cancer Control Month In State

Governor Harold LeVander has proclaimed April as Cancer Control month in Minnesota.

Noting that cancer can strike any one at any age, children as well as adults, Governor LeVander urged citizens to protect themselves "by learning the facts about cancer and its warning signals".

His proclamation added that in 1969 Minnesota will have approximately 11,000 new cases of cancer and 15,000 patients under medical care for the disease. In 1968 6,095 died of cancer in the state.

A force of 55,000 volunteers will participate in the American Cancer society's drive during April in Minnesota. In calling at homes and businesses, the volunteers will distribute a total of nearly a million pieces of literature. Goal of the drive is $850,000. The literature will emphasize the seven warning signals of cancer and the importance of early diagnosis and prompt treatment. The warning signals are:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowl or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

Engineers Revise Expected Crest Of Roseau Flood

Expected flood crest in Roseau this year has been lowered to about 17 feet and it appears no serious flooding will come, Corps of Engineers official Jim Gagnon told Mayor John Reese recently.

Gagnon went to Roseau to view the flood potential and to talk with village and civil defense officials regarding action which might be taken in the event flooding conditions might occur.

He left a resolution and a contract for the village in case heavy rainfalls or added snow should create flood conditions. They would make it possible for the Corps of Engineers to furnish equipment on an emergency basis without a declaration of disaster by the federal government.

If such machinery were used and work on diking done, the government would pay to put the necessary diking in, but the village would pay to restore conditions to pre-flood levels, Mayor Reese said.

Gagnon said it would take about three inches of additional water to create flood conditions in Roseau this spring.

"Conscientious newspaper staffs regularly spend hours and inches telling their readers that the difference between a democracy that succeeds and one that fails is its citizens' involvement. An informed, concerned citizenry is indispensable to a going government, on whatever level. Unknowing, uncaring citizens constitute odds that almost guarantee their government's failure."
—Oneonta, Ala., Democrat

Big Government

If you're not aware of the extent of the problem facing Nixon Administration efforts to reform the vast Federal structure, U.S. News and World Report has come up with some statistics that reveal the sheer monstrosity of our Federal establishment and dramatize the task ahead. For instance:

There are 6.4 million Federal employees in civilian and military agencies—one out of every 13 American workers. Federal salaries alone amount to $39 billion a year. Uncle Sam now owns 760 million acres—one-third the land area of the Nation. Government owns 41,493 buildings. Its real estate is worth $103 billion. It has 380,000 vehicles 46,742 airplanes and 906 ships, plus thousands of pieces of other equipment, worth about $200 billion.

The government doesn't even know how many programs it has going. Some 1,000 have been catalogued. The government spends $4 billion a year on research in its own laboratories, but has no report on who is doing what in how many other labs. Federal agencies, with their fetish for multiple copies of everything, wade through a trillion sheets of paper every year in administering Federal laws that are codified in 16 books containing 11,749 pages.

Government is spending $350,000 tax dollars a minute, $3.5 billion a week. The Defense Department alone has more real estate in its $41 billion holdings than 125 of the Nation's biggest corporations combined. The so-called "public sector," which some claim is neglected, owns a third of the land area, spends more than a fourth of the gross national product—all in the name of providing government to some 200 million citizens.

Last week, Congress passed and sent to the White House a bill giving the President authority to make organizational changes in the Federal establishment. This legislation simply authorizes the President to proceed with the job—it doesn't tell him how to do it. And that's a monumental task which would well take the first four years of the Nixon Administration to accomplish. But the job must be done—if the American people are to have a government which provides them with the greatest service at the least cost.

What People Want

Americans want anti-crime and law enforcement programs kept or increased and would like to see the space program the first to be cut—if results of a Harris survey on federal priorities is close to accurate. The poll includes 1,500 households across the country—hardly a truly representative cross-section.

The poll shows that 22 per cent of those polled think that crime control and law enforcement programs should be kept or increased while only one per cent think they should be the first program cut. Only two per cent think the space above all other programs, while 39 per cent believe it should be the first item cut.

Nineteen per cent believe aid to education is most important and 17 per cent favor the anti-poverty program. Eighteen per cent think financing of the Vietnam war should be cut first and 10 per cent favor cuts in welfare and relief.

If nothing else, the poll should indicate public concern for the needs of law enforcement and lack of support for the space program. Law and order is what most people want.

If You Had $86,400

If you had a bank that credited your account each morning with $86,400. . . That carried over no balance from day to day. . . And every evening cancelled whatever part of the amount you had failed to use during the day. . . What would you do? Draw out every cent every day, of course, and use it to your advantage! Well, you have such a bank. . . and its name is TIME. Every morning it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it rules off, as lost, whatever of this you have failed to invest to good purpose. It carries over no balances. It allows no overdrafts. Each day it opens a new account with you. Each night it burns the records of the day. If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours. There is no going back. There is no drawing against "tomorrow."

The Escapist Urge

"On the band of the River of No Return, in the Salmon River Mountains of Idaho, lives Sylvan Ambrose Hart—alone. And happy. And envied by millions."

This is the beginning of an article by Stephen A. Franzmeier which deals with the increasingly common urge of the American people to "get away from it all. Franzmeier quotes Bob Smith, newspaper columnist, who said: "It's not new to want to get away from it all, but there seems to be more to want to get away from these days."

Some people might regard Hart as "some kind of a nut", but most would regard him with at least a tinge of envy. Since 1932, when he graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a master's degree in engineering, he has lived alone, 60 miles over a rugged trail from the nearest town.

He gets his mail by airplane drops twice a month, has made several hundred tools that enable him to produce all the essentials of his life, and pans gold to sell for money that buys items he doesn't or can't make. To make his own copper utensils, he mines copper, smelts it and refines it. He makes his own rifles, bores the barrels and molds the shot.

"I work three, four hours before it gets hot, then maybe two more after the sun goes down," Hart described his work schedule. "But I just might stop and watch an otter play."

Franzmeier describes Hart as "the ultimate individualist, an anachronism in a complex, technological society, a paragon for the sweating, worried, hurried hordes that populate the cities.".

He says that some people flee the frustrations resulting from their own weaknesses. Others are disgusted by characteristics of an over-civilized society that bother most people sometimes: traffic and taxes, pollution, impersonal people and population crowding, crime in the streets and the high cost of living, the fast pace of life, unethical behavior, student unrest and delinquency, riots and war.

What we consider to be significant about this tendency is that most of the people who want to get away from it all are looking for the kind of life that rural America has to offer. While government porgrams are aimed to push people into the crowded confines of the industrial complexes, the people themselves are looking for ways to get out of these areas into the country. If government would stop long enough to listen, it would be able to hear the people saying something.

It doesn't take a genius to figure out which of two extremes would be more desirable after reading the following thoughts:

A millionaire about to retire remarked, "I can't remember anything but work, day and night and weekends, for the past 35 years. I lost contact with my wife. I don't know my son. I don't even know how to fish. I'm a real success."

Thoreau, a noted naturalist, said: "I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately....to front only the essential facts of life, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived."

Rules of Grammar

Any person who speaks or writes for the public lives in constant fear of making a classic grammatical error. In the rush to meet deadlines and during the times when interruptions break the writer's chain of thought, errors appear which would otherwise be caught. The following rules, which we have seen before but noticed most recently in the Warren Sheaf, should provide a guide to proper grammar:

(1) Don't use no double negative; (2) Make each pronoun agree with their antecedent; (3) Join clauses good, like a conjunction should; (4) About them sentence fragments; (5) When dangling, watch your participles; (6) Verbs has to agree with their subjects; (7) Just between you and I, case is important, too; (8) Don't write run-on sentences they are hard to read; (9) Don't use commas, which aren't necessary; (10) Try to not ever split an infinitive; (11) Its important to use your apostrophe's correctly; (12) Proofread your writing to see if you any-words-out; (13) Correct spelling is esential.

Cars Kill Wildlife

American motorists kill one million animals a day, according to a UPI story quoting the American Automobile Association. "We kill more game with our cars than our hunters do with guns," the association reported.

The recent AAA report said that in 1968 at least 365 million animals, most of them wildlife, were struck and killed by vehicles in the United States. As an example, Pennsylvania vehicles killed 22,610 deer and 37 bears in 1967.

CAPITOL COMMENT

BY
MARTY MCGOWAN

An interesting proposal was made last week by Sen. Nicholas Coleman, of St. Paul, assistant minority leader in the senate. Sen. Coleman suggested that the legislature adjourn from April 2 to April 28, sort of to fall back and regroup for the final push to adjournment. Obviously the suggestion had political overtones since Sen. Coleman also said the adjournment was necessary because of a lack of leadership from Gov. LeVander and the adjournment would provide time for the legislative leadership to work out a program for the state.

Politics aside, there is merit to the suggestion. It has also been made by others. There is a formality at the outset of a session whereby the majority leader requests a formal opinion of the attorney general setting forth specifically when the legislature must adjourn since die if it is to comply with constitutional requirements. In his reply Attorney General Head said the final day would be May 26—unless the legislature chose to do otherwise.

This was interpreted as a broad hint that the legislature might well consider periodic adjournments during the year. The state constitution says in Article IV, Sec. 1 that "the legislature shall meet.. for a term not exceeding 120 legislative days." In the past this has always been construed to mean 120 legislative days in one continuous stretch, though the constitution does not say specifically this must be done. That is where the suggestion of adjournments arises.

However, the constitution also says that one house may not adjourn for more than three days (Sundays excluded) without the permission of the other house. That is why Sen. Coleman says he will make a motion to ask this permission of the house just before Easter and then return on the last Monday of April. Sen. Stanley Holmquist, majority leader, answered Sen. Coleman on the flood of the senate last week by saying it taken more than a motion. But undoubtedly Sen. Holmquist is thinking about it for it has been learned he pursued the matter again with Attorney General Head.

At this point in the legislative session it might be well for the members to take off a month. They could use a period of rest away from the capitol. They could benefit from some visits back home with their constituents to gain reaction on how they feel about proposed legislation. The leadership of both houses could use the period to determine what bills they wish to consider in the closing days of the session, though, of course, they are already doing this but would have more time for reflection during an adjournment.

Farmer members of the legislature could well use the month of April for needed chores back home. Lawyer members who practice alone could use the time to put their business in order again and catch up on needed affairs that must be neglected for five months during a consecutive session.

Something similar to such an adjournment has already happened in the past. This was one term when Elmer L. Andersen was governor. The affairs of the session were not completed on time that year and a special session was needed. Usually the special sessions commence immediately upon the expiration of regulation time. If it would only take a day or two to complete the business of the session, members would prefer to stay on and finish. This was always the rationale for the covered clock session of three days that no longer are held.

But in this particular year, Gov. Andersen saw more that than two or three days would be needed. Tempers were high, the two houses were divided on tax to go home for a week to rest and sample public opinion. The suggestion worked. Members returned refreshed and the business was completed without too much more delay.

If the idea of short adjournments is finally accepted this also opens the door to spreading out the session over the entire year. This might obviate the necessity for holding annual sessions, the business of the legislature would be more orderly and not so hectic and compressed, members could take care of needed business back home and could still serve in the legislature. This would preserve the citizen-legislature of varied interests now prevailing instead of developing a professional politician legislature which might develop under annual sessions where some members now serving could not devote the time necessary to annual sessions.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor;

I was very interested in a letter in the last issue of The Times written by a Grygla resident.

I cannot understand how any resident of Northern Minnesota can call wolves his worst enemy. After all we take pride in vil in the wild wilderness of the north. In fact, wolves were here long before men os if they were going to kill all the game why haven't they?

Another point I would like to make is that it is not farm dogs but strays that take deer. These dogs kill for pleasure and not for food as do wolves and they also kill sheep.

I for one am in favor of preserving the wild wolves to pass on to future generations. I enjoy hunting but would be in favor of protecting fox, and wolves for a few months in the spring when they mate and raise their young.

I have to agree the State Game and Fish Department needs a good shake down but we can't fire the whole bunch because of the few local officers we see. I don't belive in putting a bullet through a deer head when it could have freed him by breaking his horns.

Terry Anderson
Goodridge, Minn.

P.S. I have lost sheep, and rabbits to stray dogs but never to wolves.

Governor LeVander Reports

We in Minnesota have long recognized our unique good fortune in the abundance, distribution and quality of our water resources. No other state can boast of more than 15,000 lakes covering 3.4 million acres.

Minnesota also has six of the 20 largest inland freshwater lakes in the United States, each having a water surface area of over 175 square miles. In fact, approximately seven per cent of the state's surface area is water.

Because of this tremendous natural resource, I said in my State of the State Address that we would be destroying our very lifeblood if we allow our waters to become desecrated.

To prevent the distruction of our lakes and river, I have proposed an extensive Crystal Waters Program which has now been introduced into the State Legislature.

Perhaps the most important facet of this legislation is a proposal for a $20 million statewide bond program to provide funds for municipal sewage treatment construction.

Under present law, communities that need to build new sewage treatment plants can become eligible for 30 per cent participation from the Federal government. This mean the local people have to raise 70 per cent of the capital outlay.

However, last year alone, more than 60 Minnesota communities were prepared to construct some $55 million in sewage facilities but many were unable to go ahead because of a shortage of Federal funds.

As in many other programs, the Federal Congress authorized a program but filed to fund it properly.

As a result, while Minnesota was certified to receive more than $13 million in Federal funds, less than $4 million was provided.

Under the Crystal Waters Program, those communities which are approved for Federal funds, but which do not receive them because of the under-appropriation, would receive State funds as a replacement for the Federal 30 percent participation.

In the event the Federal funds come through, later the community would repay the State. If there is no Federal reimbursement, the State funds would become an outright grant to the community.

This program would eliminate costly and dangerous delays in sewage treatment plant facilities.

Other important parts of the Crystal Waters Program deal with technical training for sewage plant operators, better enforcement of pollution control laws, a lakeshore management program, a problem lakes study and demonstration program, and a plan for repair and reconstruction of public dams.

As a Minnesotan who has enjoyed beautiful lakes and streams for many years, I am personally dedicated to assuring is not destroyed.

Seven Vocational Classes May Be Added at Roseau

Roseau County vocational center school may begin operation in the fall of 1969 with seven new vocational courses planned in addition to those being offered now, vocational director Joe Freeman reported recently.

Freeman indicated that courses of study and a budget for yearly expenses and capital purchases to implement the program have already been made up. "These proposals have been favorably acted on by Bob Madson, director of programs for the department of education. This action was taken at a meeting of the Northwestern Minnesota manufacturers association with the school superintendents in attendance," Freeman said.

He reported that there are 292 of next year's 11th and 12th graders in four Roseau county high schools who have indicated they wish to take part in the vocational offerings the new center vocational school would provide.

The courses, in addition to those offered now would be in the fields of nurses aides; small motors; forestry and conservation; secretarial; mechanical drafting; carpentry; and charm, personality and sales. The classes would be offered on the basis of two class hours per day five days a week. Adults could participate on an evening class basis.

"This is a new program that is being carried on by the four Roseau county high schools under the planning and research section of the vocational division of the Minnesota department of education," Freeman emphasized. "The programs will be locally planned and controlled under the guidance of advisory committees which are already functioning."

Next steps in the creation of solutions, memorandum of agreement by each of the school districts which will formalize areas of previous agreement, he indicated. Organizational charts are to be drawn up to detail how the school program will operate. Advisory committees will make plans to implement the program for the fall of 1969 and to plan programs on a long-range basis for the total program, Freeman concluded.

MFT Says MSBA Possibly Has Interest Conflict

Minnesota Federation of Teachers (MFT) has recently requested investigation by the Minnesota public examiner as to possible conflict of interest on the part of the Minnesota school Boards association.

Minnesota law allows public school revenue to be used to pay dues for membership in the Minnesota School Boards association with no limit, except as may be established by the MSBA. It is the MFT understanding that counsel for the MSBA, Peter Popovich, and its officers have guided the Minnesota School Boards association to advise its member school boards to use the adjustment panel procedures in teacher-school board negotiations. It is also the MFT understanding that many school boards have hired Popovich or members of his law firm to represent them on their adjustment panels.

The MFT feels this situation presents a conflict of interest, namely, the advice to use adjustment panels before there is an opportunity to see if they are necessary, and the acceptance of a position at additional pay as a member of the various panels.

"It would seem that to use tax money to develop guidelines to spend additional money, and then to accept this tax money for performance of the additional self-recommended service might involve a conflict of interest," states Edward Bolstad, MFT executive. "We also believe it is about time that the public knows why and for what its tax dollars as dues for membership in the Minnesota School Boards association are being spent.

"We also believe it is inconsistent to advise the commencement of negotiations begin in middle January when the adjustment panel, under the state law, must be selected, if at all, by March 1. That period of six or seven weeks before an adjustment panel must be designated is so short that it seems that adjustment panels are made inevitable. If negotiations, good faith negotiations, were suggested by the Minnesota School Boards association to begin in the fall and winter, it is possible that much of the conflict may be eliminated," Bolstad said.

"Under these circumstances, we can only conclude that the Minnesota School Boards association may not be singularly motivated by a desire to amicably resolve differences and avoid conflict by direct negotiations between the parties," he concluded.

Present Coaches Have Winning Ways

Major Sports at LHS Prove To Be Winners

Four major sports at Lincoln high school have posted winning seasons over the years. The four football, basketball, hockey and baseball—all have winning records.

Of the four, football and basketball are the oldest, dating back to 1915 when records were started by the Times staff. The football squad has posted a 218-129-16 record under 20 different coaches. Basketball, under the like number of coaches, has posted a 668-369 record. Hockey under seven coaches since the sport came to being in Thief River Falls, has posted a 328-135-27 record. Baseball, in 16 years under one coach, Ralph Skay, has posted a 221-64-2 record.

The baseball percentage is the best among the four major sports at Lincoln with a 77 per cent winning record. This is followed by hockey with a winning percentage of 66 per cent, basketball with 64 per cent and football with 60 per cent.

Teams coached by Skay have yet to be beaten by the Oslo and Goodridge teams, as Prowler teams hold 11 and 18 wins over the two schools without a defeat. Bemidji is the only team that the Prowlers play regularly that holds a winning record against the Prowlers, as they have beaten them 14 times while losing 11 to the Prowlers.

One game ended in a tie. Taking a further look into baseball series with area schools, the Prowlers have the following records: Alvarado 10-3, Crookston 27-8; Warren 26-2, Red Lake Falls, 35-8; Rugley 8-0, Climax, 12-3, Fertile 9-6, Warroad 3-0, Middle River, 1-0; Ada, 6-1; Erskine 2-1; Roseau 12-4-1, and Fosston 5-2. The Prowlers are 11-7 against other state teams, while they have dropped two games to Little Falls in the state tournament.

Hockey is the second winningest sport at Lincoln as the hockey squad has won 328, lost 135 and tied 27 since the sport became a major sport in the 1944-45 season. The hockey team has had seven different coaches with Dennis Rolle, who coached two state tournament champions, having the best record at 109-19 or 86 per cent. Present coach George Schlieff is second with a 807 percentage compared to Gene Sack's 800 percentage. Schlieff's record at Lincoln is 82-17-11 while Sack in four years had a 51-12-2 record. Schlieff just completed his sixth season as head coach of the Prowlers.

Only one of the teams that the Prowlers played last season holds a winning record over them, as Eveleth has only dropped five games to the Prowlers in 17 meetings between the two clubs. As of this past season the Prowlers have yet to lose a game to Red Lake Falls as they hold a perfect 14-0 mark against the Eagles. The Prowlers second best record comes against Halleck with a 45-3-1 record. Other series against teams are as follows: Williams, 33-9-2; Roseau, 30-28-9; Warroad, 34-26-2; Crookston Central, 30-3-0, Baudette, 38-9-2; Grand Forks Central, 14-11-0, International Falls, 4-4-0; Bemidji, 3-1-0; and Virginia, 3-1-0.

Basketball ranks as the third best of the four major sports at 64 per cent. This 668-369 record has been compiled under 20 different coaches with George Lee in three years having the best percentage 791 with a record of 53-14. Roger Dooley is second with a 772 percentage and a 78-23 record. Both coached undefeated teams which won state championships. Following these two is Bob Nick with an 81-51 record for a 672 percentage. John Lindenmeyer is next with a 666 percentage Leonard A. Thune is fifth with a 622 percentage and present coach Whitey Olson is seventh with a 606 percentage in four years on 54-35 record.

The Prowlers hold some impressive wins against present opposition with Bemidji, Detroit Lakes and Grafton holding winning records over the Prowlers. The Lumberjacks have won 76 while losing 22 to the Prowlers while Grafton holds an 11-10 record over the Prowlers. The Lakers have a 15-10 mark against Thief River Falls.

The Prowlers have winning records against the following Clubs: Ada 21-10, Warren 87-22 including a 13-game winning string; Crookston 81-36; Fosston 28-20; East Grand Forks 61-37; Rugley 16-5; Climax 21-6; Oslo 6-0; International Falls 2-1; Stephen 20-6; Red Lake Falls 42-1; Argyle 20-4; Roseau 30-5; Plummer 16-0; Fisher 9-1; Alvarado 3-0; Goodridge 3-1; Halstad 14-4; Moorhead 4-12; Grand Forks Central 15-35; and others 101-41.

In football the Prowlers have won 60 per cent of their games as they have posted a 218-129-16 record under 20 coaches. George Lee in three years as head coach posted the best record as far as percentage goes as his teams won 17 and lost three for an 850 percentage. Glenn Hanna is second with a 722 percentage and a 13-3-2 record; Ralph Skay is third with a 677 percentage in four years having a 21-10 record. Present coach Jim Sims is fourth with a 640 percentage in three years as his teams have posted a 16-8-1 record. Joe Mrkonich in seven years at the helm of the Prowlers posted a record of 36-23-3 for a 600 percentage.

Bemidji, Grand Forks Central, Moorhead, and Detroit Lakes all hold winning records over the Prowlers with Bemidji having the greatest margin with a 38-9-2 record. Grand Forks Central holds an 11-7-2 record; Moorhead a 10-3-0 record and Detroit Lakes an 8-7-1 mark over Prowler teams.

On the winning side the Prowlers have the following winning records against teams: Grafton 14-9-2; Warren 26-2-0; Crookston Central 35-12-3, Red Lake Falls 36-5-4, East Grand Forks 32-11-2, Roseau 15-4-0, Dilworth 2-1-0, and Grand Forks Red River 2-0-0.

Hockey Referees Clinic To Be Held at Bemidji

Vern Buffey
NHL's Senior Referee

Bemidji state college will conduct the first annual Pro-Am referees clinic on July 19 at Bemidji state college. Two of the nation's top referees will conduct the clinic. They are Vern Buffey, the National Hockey League's senior referee and Hal Trumble, veteran Olympic and world championship hockey official.

The clinic is primarily designed to help referees with varying degrees of experience and is also set up to accommodate coaches and other hockey people who are interested in advancing their knowledge of the rules and their interpretation.

The clinic will be held in cooperation with the Olympic development summer hockey school and the Vern Buffey referees school. It will cover rule familiarization, rule interpretation, judgement, position outlook, attitude, conduct and warm up exercises. A short course on emergency first aid will be presented by Arno Buntrock, associate professor of physical education at Bemidji. Films including "A Day in the Life of an NHL Referee" will also be shown.

The clinic will begin at 8 a.m. and last until 5:30 p.m., and will be followed by a fish fry and smoker for officials and guests. The clinic also includes a golf tournament which will be held July 20 at the Birchmont country club, Bemidji.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained from Amateur Hockey association secretary Don Clark, Cumberland, Wis., or from the Olympic Development hockey school, Bemidji state college, Bemidji Minn.

Smelt Run Not Very Far Off

Minnesota conservation department said today it is already receiving calls inquiring about the prospects for smelt fishing. Department fisheries specialists, reminded that the smelt run usually begins about April 20 and reaches its peak between the 25th and 28th.

Smelt fishing regulations are the same as last year, said Hjalmar Swenson, state fisheries supervisor.

Smelt may be taken with dip nets or with seines not more than 25 feet in length or more than four feet in width. Seines may be used only in the lake, however, and not in the streams, nor within 100 feet of the mouth of any stream. The only exception to this rule is the St. Louis river where seines may be used both in the stream and at its mouth.

It is unlawful to transport live smelt anywhere in the state. Smelt have been discovered in a few inland lakes in recent years, apparently as a result of some illegal stocking by a few smelt fishermen. Swenson warned that in some lakes smelt could have an adverse effect on sport fishing.

Smelt fishermen must have an angling license, but there is no limit on the number of smelt which may be taken and they can be bought or sold at any time.

Another law requires a peddler's license of anyone who uses a motor vehicle in his fish sales business.

The department of agriculture also insists that persons who sell smelt comply with the Minnesota pure food laws. Violations will lead to seizure of the fish and prosecution of the offender.

Swenson asked smelt fishermen to keep their fishing sites free of litter. He said state laws, explained on page four of the 1969 fishing synopsis, make it unlawful to deposit garbage, rubbish or offal in public waters or on public lands.

Nearly one million pounds of smelt were taken in commercial nets from Minnesota waters of Lake Superior last year. Swenson said it was difficult to estimate the amount of smelt taken by sport fishermen, but the figure probably exceeds several hundred thousand pounds.

Times' Sport Spotlight

by Bob Wielinski

Out on a Limb

Last year I went out and picked Detroit and St. Louis to win the American and National league baseball pennants. This year it will be more difficult as I have to pick four division winners and then narrow it down to two.

Each league has added two new teams this year, bringing the number of major league baseball teams to 21 or 12 in each league—six teams in each of four different divisions. New this year in the American league are Kansas City and Seattle, both of which will be in the West division. The National league has Montreal and San Diego, in the East and West divisions respectively.

The division teams are as follows—American League East—Baltimore, Detroit, Boston, New York Yankees, Cleveland and Washington; West — Kansas City, Oakland, California, Chicago, White Sox, Seattle and Minnesota; National League West—San Francisco, Cincinnati, Atlanta, Los Angeles, Houston and San Diego; East—St. Louis, Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh, New York Mets, Philadelphia and Montreal.

Looking over the rosters of the different teams and their records of a year ago, I would have to go with Oakland in the American League West; Detroit or Bosston in the American League East. In the National League in the West I would have to go with Cincinnati and in the East the Chicago Cubs to top the St. Louis Cardinals.

Meeting in the World Series would be Detroit or Boston against the Cubs. After finishing two years in third place, the Cubs will have one of the best chances to dethrone the Cardinals as the National League's top team. Coming out on top in the World Series, well, that is anyone's guess.

Won't Make Difference

The Minnesota Twins have a new manager, and some say that Billy Martin will lead them to the American League pennant this year. I disagree with the experts as Oakland is the team to beat in the West this year, while the East will be paced by the Boston Red Sox or the Detroit Tigers.

Martin may be well liked by the players, but the Twins are going to have to come up with some good ball and not be injury - ridden this year if they expect to get anywhere. Already they have lost the services of Rich Reese, out with a banged-up ankle, and pitcher Dave Boswell with an injury to his glove hand.

The Twins tried to fill their most important problem spot from a year ago by trading away pitcher Jim Merritt to Cincinnati for shortstop Leo Cardenas. Shortstop was the Twins' biggest headache last year and it is hoped that Cardenas can plug up the hole this year in the Twins' defense.

Besides this problem last year, Harmon Killebrew, Jim Kaat, Tony Oliva and Ted Uhlaender were bothered during the season with injuries. All have recovered from them and now will have to stay healthy if the Twins are going to do anything this year.

Killebrew is expected to play third and first base this year, while Oliva and Uhlaender are established as two of the outfielders. Kaat will be one of the top three starters, along with Boswell and Dean Chance.

The Twins starting nine come April 8 at Kansas City could be something like this: Killebrew at first, Rod Carew at Second, Cardenas at shortstop, Cesar Tovar at third, Bob Allison, Uhlaender and Oliva in the outfield with John Roseboro catching. Dean Chance is expected to get the nod as the opening day hurler. Top reserves will be Craig Nettles either in the outfield or at third base, George Mitterwald as catcher and Bruce Look either catching or in the outfield. Frank Quilici will be the utility infielder while Frank Kostro is one of the team's top pinch hitters.

Top relief pitchers this year are expected to be Bob Miller and Ron Perranoski, along with Jim Perry, who can either be the fifth starter or long relief man, replacing retired Al Worthington. Others bidding for a starting role on the Twins pitching staff are three rookies—Tom Hall, Danny Morris and Jerry Crider. Dick Woodson is a leading candidate as a reliefer in addition to the three mentioned above.

Look for the Twins to finish behind Oakland in the race for the West title of the American league.

Two bids were received for the truck with Northern Motors being awarded the contract for $3,121. The other bid, by Tunberg Motors, was for $3,710. Both bidders are from Thief River Falls.

Council members who had met with the arena architect in the Twin Cities recently reported that progress is being made on schedule for the revised building. It is still anticipated that the schedule will be maintained and that the arena can be completed in time for hockey use on December 1 of this year.

Teachers Adopt "Wait and See" Contract Policy

With salary negotiations at a stand-still except for meetings between members of the adjustment panel, most teachers in the Thief River Falls public school system have adopted a "wait and see" policy with regard to 1969-1970 contracts.

Yesterday was the deadline date for return of contracts for the coming year. Supt. Lloyd M. Johnson, when contacted by the Times this morning, said that four resignations have been received and four teachers have signed and returned the contracts offered by the board for next year. Other teachers have not acted on the contracts they received.

Under state law, teachers who did not act to change their contract status prior to the April 1 deadline (by either resigning or signing a new contract) have a continuing contract for the coming year. That contract is the same as the one in effect for the current year.

With settlement of the salary question still not decided, however it would appear likely that the local board of education would offer new contracts when salary agreement is reached. Last year the board withdrew the first contracts offered and issued new ones after settlement of the salary question.

Contracts offered by the board for teacher consideration were issued on a base of $7,200 for a 12-month period.

Reception Given At Silver Creek For S. Andersons

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Anderson of Minneapolis, who were married recently, were the honor guests at a reception Saturday evening, March 22, at the Silver Creek Lutheran church near Thief River Falls.

The bride is the former Virginia Burrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melford Burrell of this city. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson of rural Thief River Falls.

Arrangements of yellow roses graced the altar for the brief program that preceded the reception. Mrs. Ronald Carlson of Roseau, a cousin of the bride, played a number of appropriate organ selections as the guests assembled at the church. Devotional meditations, combined with personal good wishes, were given by Rev. Kenneth Kramer, pastor of the Silver Creek Lutheran church, and Rev. Merrill Harris, pastor of the United Methodist church in this city.

Vocal selections included a duet, "King Of Love, My Shepherd Is" by Cousins of the bride, Mrs. Ronald Carlson of Roseau and Rev. Gary Glithvedt of Perham, and two solos: "One Hand, One Heart" by Paulette Phillipp and "Somebody Bigger Than You and I" by Rev. Glithvedt. Sheldon Buck of this city sang two of his original compositions.

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the program and reception that followed. Mrs. John Anderson of Minneapolis, a sister-in-law of the groom, presided at the guest book and Mrs. Donald Norumof Bemidji, a sister of the groom, ladled the punch.

Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with yellow roses and topped with white wedding bells. On either side of the cake were vases filled with yellow roses. To complete the yellow and white motif, yellow roses also trimmed the individually decorated pieces of cake that were served to the guests.

Mrs. Harold Burrell, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Hilmer Lunke, aunt of the groom, presided at the coffee service. Serving as host and hostess at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams. Peggy Ann Burrell and Kathy Forberg displayed the gifts as they were opened by the bride and groom.

The newly-weds are now at home at 2554 South Garfield, Minneapolis, where the groom is attending the University of Minnesota. The bride is employed by the Dorsey - Marquart law firm.

Mrs. Ione Stone Attends National Music Meeting

Mrs. Ione Stone, pianist and teacher, attended the National Music Teachers association annual convention at the Hilton hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 10 to 14. Mrs. Stone has been awarded a certificate for national certification from the National Music Teachers association, indicative of certain degree qualifications, a procedure initiated this year for the first time nationally. Mrs. Stone is a graduate member, the first categorization, of the Minnesota Music Teachers association.

Highlights were the production of the Debussy opera "Pelleas et Melisande" the rarely performed French opera, and the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra concert at the famous Cincinnati Music hall. There were numerous lectures and workshops on theory and the art of piano performance by Theodore Lettvin, New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass., in memory of famous pianist, teacher, musicologist and author Arthur Loesser, whose "Men, Women and Pianos" is expected to become an American classic. It is now on the shelves of the Thief River Falls public library. Mr. Loesser was honored posthumously this year by the National Music Teachers association.

Lecture and performance demonstrations on the "Art of Relaxed Piano Playing" by Reginald Stewart, exponent of the Isidore Phillip French school of piano playing performance, and the crowning and final lecture on "Rhythmic Nuance and Rubato in Piano Playing" by John Perry of the faculty of Oberlin College Conservatory of Music, a superb pianist and erudite lecturer.

Cincinnati was a nostalgic return to a city Mrs. Stone had come to know well while she was on the faculty of Muskingum college in Ohio for several years, since she had done graduate study those years with the famous Madame Lisznlewska, head of the piano department of the renowned Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and leading exponent of the Leschetizky of Vienna method of piano playing.

On her return, Mrs. Stone attended the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra performance with the eminent Russian pianist Emil Gilels as soloist.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack LaSalle and children of Bottineau, N.D., were weekend guests at the O. M. Bishop and Anton Carlson homes. Saturday evening they were guests at a dinner at the Carlson home together with Mr. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Christofferson and Gary, and Mrs. Julia Hoppe. On Sunday, the LaSalles and Mr. Bishop were dinner guests at the Christofferson home.

Miss Donna Lunde, who is a member of the teaching staff at Richfield, arrived home Tuesday to spend her Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. Alfred Lunde.

Senator Charges Governor With "Tax Evasion"

State Senator Wendell R. Anderson (DFL, St. Paul) today charged that "the LeVander administration is guilty of tax evasion. "The LeVander administration is evading the issue of revenue," Anderson said, "and the evidence indicates that this evasion is deliberate."

Anderson said his remarks were prompted by Governor Harold LeVander's admission last week that his official budget is $98 million short in funding the very programs that it calls for.

Anderson described the current budget crisis as follows: "Part of the LeVander sales tax package was the establishment of a property tax relief fund to compensate local government for the real estate tax relief given to business when the tax burden was shifted to the consumers. This means that amount that the state has to pay local government also increases.

"So the LeVander budget was supposedly based on a realistic appraisal of what local spending would be. Now the governor tells us that the real cost will be two or three times what he planned on.

"It is very hard to accept that the Governor made a 300 per cent error in the figures that he sent to the legislature. Surely someone in his office could have calculated the real needs of this state."

Anderson stated that "I believe that this 'mistake' of almost $100 million is not a mistake at all: It is part of a deliberate scheme to evade the issue of revenue."

Mondale Asks Raise in Level Of Milk Support

Sen. Walter F. Mondale said today in Alexandria that Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin "must face up to the hard facts as they exist in the dairy industry and use his authority to raise dairy income."

In a February letter to Hardin, Sen. Mondale had urged the secretary to raise the support level for manufacturing milk from its present 81 per cent of parity ($4.28 per hundredweight) to a full 90 per cent of parity ($4.76).

"This is necessary," Sen. Mondale told members of the [illegible] cooperative, "to meet the realities of the dairy situation as it exists today—steadily increasing prices of dairy farmers and steadily increasing prices of farm inputs."

The number of dairy farms dropped from 611,000 in 1963 to an estimated 425,000 in 1968, Sen. Mondale said, while the total supply of milk dropped from 125.2 billion pounds to 117.3 billion pounds over the same period.

"To prevent further and perhaps irreversible decline in milk production and number of dairy farms, the department should act immediately to raise the support level to the full 90 per cent allowable under the law."

Mondale also urged the department of agriculture to re-examine the fact-finding apparatus upon which it bases its decisions "because these estimates have been consistently on the high side."

In 1964, he said, the department over-estimated milk production by 1.6 billion pounds; it over-estimated production by 4.4 billion pounds in 1965, it was 3.6 billion pounds too high in 1966 and 2.7 billion pounds too high in 1968.

"And this year, there simply are not enough cows in the United States to produce the 118 billion pounds predicted by USDA for 1969."

"Further drastic declines in the number of dairy operations and milk produced will, in the [illegible] run, mean much higher [illegible] for consumers. The time [illegible] [illegible]," Sen. Mondale concluded.

Three Moorhead Area Colleges Receive Grant

The Louis W. and Maude Hill Family Foundation of St. Paul has authorized a three-year $111,000 grant to help the Tri-College University committee hire a full-time executive director and establish an office.

The grant is expected to enable North Dakota state university, Concordia college and Moorhead state college to expand cooperative class offerings in many more disciplines.

Representatives of the three colleges met in 1962 about how they might avoid expensive duplication of course offerings in many areas and let all interested students capitalize on the unique strengths of each school's faculty, course offerings and facilities in certain areas. The major encouragement by legislation approved by the Minnesota and North Dakota legislatures in recent years. These permit students enrolled at one of the three colleges to take certain courses at another without higher tuition costs or worry [illegible] credit transfers.

Goal of the program throughout has been to establish a more coordinated approach to meet, more economically and more efficiently, the growing pressures from increasing enrollments, greater demands for more specialized training, increasing significance of research and shortages of instructional personnel and materials.

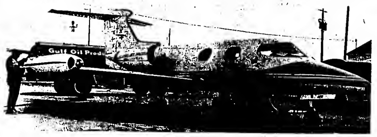
WATTS



IN ADDITION TO the usual North Central Convair 580 prop jets that use the Thief River Falls municipal airport, an occasional jet bearing executives of large corporations stops in for refueling. Such was the case yesterday, when a Lear Jet landed with executives of Detroiter Mobile Homes, Inc., on board. The Lear Jet is part of a fleet of 25 jets owned by the Executive Jet company of Columbus, Ohio. The company is a chartering service for some 300 corporations and their executives, and Hollywood stars. The sleek aircraft cruises at approximately 550 miles per hour and at an altitude of 41,000 feet. The Detroiter executives chartered the plane to view the Detroiter Mobile Home plant in Red Lake Falls. They flew from Hutchinson, Kansas—a distance of 710 miles by car—in one hour and 20 minutes.

Family Farm Is Favored by Most In Minnesota

An overwhelming majority of Minnesota's people would favor retention of the family farm system if they had a chance to vote between continuation of family farms or their displacement by corporation farms, Minnesota Farmers Union said this week in testimony given to the Minnesota House and Senate.

Farmers Union spokesmen cited the North Dakota situation in which people of the state voted last November 5 by a 76 per cent margin to continue that state's ban against corporations in farming.

It was pointed out that the legalizing of corporation farms failed to carry a single voting precinct in the entire state—farm, city and village alike.

The Farmers Union testimony was given on bills which would propose to tighten up the state's present law regarding corporate ownership of farm land.

Efforts of corporations and investor buyers to acquire farm land in larger tracts is inflating the price of farm land beyond its present earning potential and above the reach of many family farm buyers, Minnesota Farmers Union said.

In the statement, Milt Hakel, executive director of The Farmers Union task force on corporation farming, reported that the entry of corporations into farming is a "real and present danger."

He said that half of the land held by corporations in Minnesota has been acquired in the past three years.

He also declared that, although corporation farm land holdings now amount to only about one per cent of the farm land total, there probably are many instances of concealed ownership.

The Farmers Union statement quoted U. S. Senator Gaylord Nelson, who has been conducting the federal corporation farm hearings, that "right now, corporation farming can best be compared to a giant iceberg—only about 10 per cent of it is above the surface and open to public view, while the remainder is hidden in a tangle of corporate connections and deceptive arrangements."

As a result of the task force investigation Hakel said that the conclusion is obvious that corporate farm land ownership is appreciably greater than the numbers of the data supplied.

He told agriculture committee members of the data supplied to the Task Force by local real estate dealers and rural bankers, indicating that farm land prices have gone up substantially.

The committees were offered tabulations showing the premiums being offered in various counties for land desired in larger tracts by outside buyers.

Poisonings May Kill About 500 U.S. Children

Expect between half a million to two million American children to be poisoned this year by products that are commonly found in and around the house and expect approximately 500 of them to die as a result.

This was the conclusion of a study printed in the New Orleans Blue Cross News. Half of the children, according to the study, will poison themselves with medicines, the other half with household products.

Over two-thirds of the accidents can be avoided if adults would keep potential poisonous substances out of the reach of children, according to the study. Too often children are poisoned because they sample products that have been transferred from their original containers to soft-drink bottles, cups and glasses.

Aspirin is most often involved in medicine poisonings. Approximately one-fourth of all children's poisoning involves these tiny tablets.

Following are suggestions in preventive medicine but safeguards against accidental poisoning:

Do not store nonedible products on the same shelves as food; never place nonedible products in old food containers or soft-drink bottles; never tell a child you are giving him candy when it is really medicine; read labels before using chemical products; never give or take medicines in the dark.

OUT ON A LEDGE . . . Jack Albany (DICK VAN DYKE) goes to extremes in trying to convince pretty art instructor Sally Inwood (DOROTHY PROVINE) that he is not a professional hood but only a struggling actor who has been mistaken for one by a gang of crooks, in this scene from Walt Disney's gangster spoof, "Never A Dull Moment" in color by Technicolor. The picture stars Van Dyke, Edward G. Robinson, Miss Provine and co-stars Henry Silva, Joanna Moore, Tony Bill, Slim Pickens and Jack Elam. Jerry Paris directed from a screenplay by A. J. Carothers. Ron Miller produced the Buena Vista release which runs through Saturday at the Falls Theatre.

High-Pressure Operation

Test chambers capable of duplicating pressures found many thousands of feet under the sea are being used to evaluate models of deep-submergence research and rescue vessels. One such chamber uses 750 tons of nickel-containing steel and has walls 16 inches thick.

Many Uses for Inventory of Household Items

If a flood, a fire or a tornado should destroy your home, could you make a complete list of all the household furnishings that had been in it?

Because most people would find it impossible to recall all their household possessions, its wise to take a complete inventory before disaster strikes, according to Mrs. Edna Jordahl, extension home management specialist at the University of Minnesota.

A carefully planned inventory can be valuable in many situations, she points out. It is convenient when buying insurance, when making a will and when placing a price on destroyed or damaged goods.

Making an inventory for the first time takes time and patience, but once made it will serve for many years. Additions or deletions can then be made as necessary.

Take the inventory room by room and complete one room at a time, Mrs. Jordahl suggests. List all furniture, equipment and personal belongings and record a value in dollars. The value can be the asking price in a community or what it would cost to replace the item. Such furnishings as linens, utensils, clothing, accessories — unless they are of unusual value—may usually be grouped in estimating worth. Photographs of valuable pieces attached to the inventory can be helpful if a claim should be made.

Don't try to do the entire inventory in one day. But once it is done, place a copy in the safe deposit box and keep one at home. Review it from time to time and bring it up to date.

The "In" Metal

Sixteen denominations of pure nickel and nickel alloy coins were introduced by seven different countries in 1968 to replace coins previously struck in silver.

TIME TO CONSIDER

In Memoriam

In memoriam of Lawrence Releson, who passed away April 5, 1968.

What would we give if we could say,
Hello Dad, in the same old way.
To hear his voice, see his smile,
To sit with him and chat awhile.
So you who have a father,
Cherish him with care
For you' never know the heartache,
'Til you see his vacant chair.

Sadly missed by wife, sons and daughters and grandchildren. 1t27p

New Book on Minnesota Lakes Is Interesting

Minnesota conservation department's newly published "Inventory of Minnesota Lakes" contains some rather startling figures.

Of the 15,291 lake basins in Minnesota, there are 3,257 which are either dry or partly dry. Nearly 90 per cent of the dry lakes result from the installation of artificial drainage systems.

It is interesting to note that some of the counties now facing the most serious flood threat are those where drainage activities have been the most intensive.

In Blue Earth county, for example, of the 133 lakes basins listed in the inventory, 103 are shown as "dry", largely as a result of drainage. Only 10 remain to fulfill their natural function as storage basins for runoff water and habitat for fish, waterfowl and fur-bearing animals.

Melt water and rain water now leaves these dry basins through man-made ditches and rushes to the main stem of rivers like the Minnesota, adding to flood problems during periods of high runoff.

Other counties which have seen extensive drainage programs are Brown, which has lost 78 of its original 99 lakes, and Steele where 32 of its listed 37 lakes have been drained.

Roseau county in northwestern Minnesota only had three lakes to start with and has drained out two of these. The water from Roseau county drains all into Canada where it becomes a serious problem for our northern neighbors. Some of it flows out through the Red river, one of the worst flood problem streams in the state.

The list of counties which have held on to all their lakes is not long: Cook, Kittson, Lake, Lake of the Woods, Mower, Olmsted, Pennington, Pipestone, Red Lake and Rock — ten out of 87.

Of these Pennington and Pipestone have only one lake each, both man-made. Red Lake and Rock each have two lakes, three of them man-made. Mower has four and Kittson, Lake of the Woods and Olmsted have five.

It should be pointed out that the Inventory only lists lakes of 10 acres or more in size and gives no statistics on the number of smaller lakes and marshes which have been ditched or filled out, but the number would run into the thousands.

It is worth speculating as to how much less of a flooding problem we would have in Minnesota if these thousands of drained lakes and marshes had been allowed to remain.

Many conservationists feel that the way to stop main stem floods is to hold the water in the land in lakes and other natural depressions allowing it to seep slowly into the ground replenishing the water table, rather than rushing it off as quickly as possible into already over full rivers.

A program to restore some of these lost lakes and marshes would seem a far less costly and more practical response than the large dams advocated so ardently by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. The conservation department's division of waters, soils and minerals has calculated that to store the 20 day flow of the Minnesota river above the 1965 flood through the use of a large dam would create a reservoir 50 feet deep covering 25,400 acres or 10 square miles.

Copies of the "Inventory of Minnesota Lakes" can be obtained from the State Documents Section, 140 Centennial Building, St. Paul at a price of $1.61 each, including sales tax.

1968 National Hospital Costs Average $65.24

Expenses incurred by hospitals in providing one patient with one day of care in 1968 averaged $65.24, according to hospital indicators published in "Hospitals," Journal of the American Hospital association. This represents a 12.4 per cent increase over the 1967 average daily expense of $58.06.

Hospitals in 1968 employed higher wages than ever before, AHA said. The average annual wage paid to hospital employees in 1968 was $5,513, or $488 more than the $5,025 paid in 1967.

As a result, payroll expense per patient day increased by 12.9 per cent in 1968 over 1967 - from $36.30 to $40.97. The number of employees on the payrolls increased by 6.8 per cent to 1.7 million persons. There are now 272 hospital workers for every 100 patients, while in 1966 there were 261 employees for every 100 patients.

While payroll is their biggest expense, hospitals also incur expenses for equipment, services, supplies, employee fringe benefits and other items. In 1968 total expenses for the nation's 5,850 community hospitals were $14.7 billion, or $2.1 billion more than in 1967.

The public continues to make more use of hospital services and facilities and this is a factor in increased expenses, according to hospital indicators.

A number of admissions to hospitals during 1968 increased by 2.1 per cent to a total of 27,768,481, of which 6,711,181 were patients 65 years of age and older. A more significant increase was reported in the nation's community hospitals for the year, or a 4.7 per cent increase over the 1967 total.

The frequency with which the nation's population uses hospital out patient services reflects an increasing tendency to regard hospitals as community health centers where a wide range of health care services are available.

Persons admitted to hospitals stayed an average of 8.1 days in 1968. However, the average length of stay for persons 65 and over was 13.4 days—up from 13 days in 1967. Patients under 65 remained hospitalized an average of 6.8 days, or the same as in 1967.

The average daily census in all community hospitals last year was 616,511 and the occupancy rate stood at 78.5 per cent. That compares with the 1967 figures of 595,667 and 78.1 per cent.

For the seventh straight year, the number of births in hospitals declined. The total for 1968 was 3.12 million, compared with 3.15 million in the previous year.

Kotoh To Manage Agassiz Refuge

Agassiz and Tamarac National wildlife refuges in Minnesota will have new managers in April, the federal bureau official announced in Minneapolis today.

Claude R. Alexander, manager of Agassiz at Middle River, has been named new manager of Tamarac near Rochert. Alexander replaces Nellus Nelson, veteran refuge manager who retired, and will assume his new post at Tamarac in the near future.

Taking Alexander's place at Agassiz will be Joseph Kotoh, presently the deputy director of work at the Ottawa Job corps civilian conservation center in Ohio.

Kotoh received his B.S. degree in wildlife management from the University of Michigan and joined the bureau in 1962, after serving four years with the United States Air Force. He was stationed at Necedah in Wisconsin until 1961 when he was transferred to the Prairie du Chien refuge as manager, serving there for a year.

In 1965, Kotoh transferred to the Ottawa Job corps civilian conservation center as wildlife technician and in 1967 was reassigned as deputy director of work. He and his wife have one son and three daughters and will report for duty at Agassiz about April 11.

Alexander has been manager at Agassiz since 1964.

Customs Director Answers Queries On Regulations

Q—If I have a package shipped to me from overseas, must I go to the Customs office to clear it?

A—No. If it is a mail package valued under $250, it will be examined and the duty (if any) assessed by the Customs Mail Division, and the package delivered to you through the Post Office.

If it is not a mail package and you cannot personally handle the clearance, you should make arrangements to have someone represent you at the Customs and take care of the shipment for you. Usually, your overseas shipper can make the arrangements. If it is not cleared within 10 working days it will be sent to a General Order Warehouse, subject to storage charges. In any event, you will be notified of its arrival by the transportation company, not by Customs.

Q—I live in Chicago. If my package arrives in New York, can it be forwarded to your Chicago office?

A—Yes. The package can be forwarded in bond to the Chicago office, and you can have the entry made there. Transportation and bonding costs are, of course, on your account.

Q—I have a fine German camera purchased in the United States. What should I do to make it possible to bring it back to the U.S. with me without any delay?

A—You should register your camera by taking it to a U.S. Customs office prior to leaving for a trip to another country. You will be given a copy of the certificate of registration to show to the Customs inspector upon your return to the U.S.

Q—(a). I am going to Montreal, Canada, and will be gone less than 48 hours. Am I allowed to bring anything back free of duty?

A—You may bring back items you have acquired in Canada up to a retail value of $10 without the payment of duty. Liquor is not included in this exemption.

(b). Suppose I buy only one article and it costs more than $10. Would the $10 be subtracted before duty is charged?

No. Under the $10 exemption rule, the total value must be less than that amount or the entire purchase is subject to duty.

What is your Customs question? If you have one, send it to the: Customs Answer Man, c-o District Director of Customs, Pembina, No. Dak. 58271.

Joppru Signs Letter of Intent at North Dakota

Sheldon Joppru
Signs Tender to UND

Sheldon Joppru, Thief River Falls Lincoln high school all-state football and basketball star, has notified University of North Dakota head football coach Jerry Olson that he will enroll at UND next fall.

Olson reported that Joppru signed a letter of intent on Tuesday to enroll at UND.

"We are extremely pleased to have Sheldon become part of the UND football program. We feel he is an outstanding prospect and can continue his already bright athletic career in college," Olson stated.

Olson further added "There is no doubt in our mind that Sheldon will continue to play outstanding football. He has all the physical and mental tools needed to continue his fine efforts."

Joppru is 6-3 and 195 pounds.

Joppru earned all-state honors the past season in both football and basketball. He was both offensive and defensive end for the Prowlers and center on the Prowler cage squad.

Joppru earned 10 letters at Lincoln, three each in football, basketball and track and one in baseball. He was captain of this past season's basketball team and named by his teammates as most valuable player in both basketball and football. He was named to the Northwest all-conference football team, and the loop's most valuable player. He was named to the Big Five basketball all-conference team also.

Along with playing football, Joppru also indicated that he will play basketball at UND.

Joppru plans to major in physical education at UND.

Sheldon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Joppru, [illegible], Thief River Falls.

Bemidji State Considered As WCHA Member

Bemidji state college is one of five colleges in the United States being considered as the tenth member of the Western College Hockey association, according to league officials.

At a recent meeting in Chicago the WCHA added a ninth member, Wisconsin, to the league. Other members are Denver, Colorado College, North Dakota Sioux, Minnesota, Minnesota-Duluth, Michigan, Michigan State and Michigan Tech.

Other colleges being considered as a 10th member besides Bemidji state are Notre Dame, Ohio university, Bowling Green and Lake Superior state. A five member committee has been given the task of studying each of the colleges to see which one would be able to join the league at a later date.

In other action the coaches set up a 31-game schedule, not to include post season games, and selected Denver and Duluth as sites for the 1969-70 playoff sites in the league.

Bemidji has been one of the NAIA powers, winning the NAIA hockey championship the past two seasons. Head coach Bob Peters is considered one of the main reasons for the Beavers rise to national power.

GAME OF THE WEEK

by Bob Wielinski

New Coach

Grand Forks Central high school announced last week the hiring of Duane Hennessy as football coach for the coming season.

Hennessy is assistant coach at Minot high school and will replace Art Maki who resigned last November. Hennessy graduated from Minot state and received his master's degree from the University of North Dakota.

He is not new to football as he has been an assistant of Ron Erhardt, who is the present coach at North Dakota state university in Fargo. Hennessy served under the NDSU coach while he was at Minot Ryan.

Rejected as Site

Detroit Lakes was rejected as the site for the 1970 South sub-region eight hockey tournament at a meeting held in Crookston recently. The principal reason was because the Lakers don't have artificial ice.

The action came at a meeting of Region Eight hockey coaches when dates and sites were chosen for next year's tournaments.

The Region Eight meet will be held February 9-10-12 at Bemidji state college fieldhouse, while sub-regional games will be played on Thursday and Friday, February 5-6.

Roseau was tabbed as the site for the north sub-regional tournament and then a south site was to be determined. Detroit Lakes head coach Wayne Orn proposed the Detroit Lakes field house be used and the eight coaches in a vote were dead locked at four-all on that measure, according to Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune.

Anderson went on to state that Moorhead proposed that the Fargo coliseum be the site for the tournament, while East Grand Forks suggested that the tourney be held at either the University of North Dakota arena or the Grand Forks municipal arena.

If the Fargo coliseum is available on February 5-6, it would seem that the south half tournament will be held here, and if it isn't the tournament will be played in Grand Forks.

In other action at the meeting Dick Roberts, Warroad coach, was elected as the Region Eight president and the coaches voted that all teams should play for at least 11 points during the 1969-70 season.

Thief River Falls might have a chance of hosting the tournament should both Fargo and Grand Forks be unable to provide their arenas on the selective dates, I would think, seeing that the city council of Thief River Falls is promising a new hockey arena for use come the beginning of the hockey season in December.

Seems impossible to me that an arena can be built in such a short time, and have facilities ready for use in less than six months, but it could be possible. It still lacks an indoor track, so the Prowlers could begin working out as soon as the arena is not being used for hockey. They could even stage an indoor track meet by the end of March or the beginning of April if the track would have been included.

Coaches Resigning

It is interesting to note that some of the area coaches, after having successful seasons, are announcing that they won't be back next year. Tom Rowlett, Mahnomen football and track mentor, will be calling it quits but will remain at the school as athletic director. Another successful coach leaving is Mike Parker, head coach of the Argyle Eagles. Parker is leaving after three successful seasons as head basketball coach at the school. He has not yet indicated what his plans are.

Also stepping down at Mahnomen is Ed Muckenhirn, head basketball coach for the past 11 years. He will remain on the faculty at the school.

Rowlett was named as Region Eight football Coach of the Year for the past season, as he directed the Indians to an undefeated season has a 12-year mark of 64-29-3, and has a 20-game winning string going for him.

Maybe, like other coaches, these three have "seen the writing on the wall" as they say.

Summer Hockey School

Fargo park district announced today that it will hold its first annual summer hockey school during July and August. There will be two two-week sessions with the first beginning July 21 and running through August 2 while the second will begin on August 4 and run through August 16.

The school will be headed by Guy LaFrance, Minnesota North Star staff, for the first session, while the second session will be directed by Serge Gambucci, Grand Forks Central head hockey coach. There will also be other hockey coaches at the clinic.

Cost of the clinic will be $40 for the two weeks of instruction and ice time.

Further information and registration forms can be received by contacting Ken Vrna, manager, Fargo Coliseum, Box 1196, Fargo, North Dakota.

Since 1961, the Twins have a record of 692 wins against 601 losses for a .535 percentage.

Walters Wins Beef in Contest

Alfred Walters of Thief River Falls was the winner of a side of beef at Len's Tire service during "Farmers Day" celebration March 21 and 22. Walters guessed 312 lbs., 8 ounces, which was the exact weight of the beef.

Others guessing close to the correct weight were E. R. Yonke, Mrs. Charles Barrett and Albert Blazejewski, all guessing 312 lbs., 10 ounces, Willie Senauf, guessing 312 lbs. 6 ounces; and K. H. Pomerenke, guessing 314 lbs., 1 ounces.

On October 14, 1965, the seventh game of the World Series drew the largest crowd ever to watch the Twins at the Met with 50,596 in attendance.

525,000 Returns Yet To Be Filed By Minnesotans

Minnesota taxpayers totaling 525,000 have yet to file their 1968 federal tax returns. This the estimate by George Lethert, IRS district director, and indicates approximately 100,000 taxpayers who had filed by April 1, 1968, have not filed returns this year.

He urged taxpayers who are working on their returns now to mail them direct to the IRS service center in Kansas City. "This year, taxpayers can send their returns to my office, but we only forward them to the service center, where all processing is done," Lethert said. Direct service center filing is recommended for quicker processing.

He listed the following last minute tips for filers:

Be sure your return is complete and accurate; don't forget to add the surcharge tax to the regular amount owing; attach all Forms W-2 and don't forget to sign the return before you mail it.

Stock Dividends Taxable Income

Dividend payments received on stock you own must be reported according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal revenue, as taxable income. You may exclude from your taxable income the first $100 of dividend income.

If both husband and wife receive dividend income, both may exclude up to $100. Interest you receive or which was credited to your savings account must be reported also as income on your federal return.

Answer Questions on Federal Income Tax

Q—When you itemize medical deductions do you add all of your medical insurance premiums to your other medical expenses?

A—No. One-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to a maximum of $150 is deductible without regard to the three per cent limitation on medical expenses. The balance is added to your other medical expenses. This means you may be able to deduct as much as $150 even though your other medical expenses were not great enough last year to qualify for a deduction.

Q—Working part-time, my wife earned several thousand dollars last year. Should we file joint or separate returns?

A—Generally, joint returns are more advantageous for married couples. Compute your tax both ways and then file the way that results in the lower tax. Situations that could produce a lower combined tax on separate returns are when both have medical expenses or net capital.

Q—I have several W2 forms. Should I send them all in with my return or can I just add them up and give you the totals?

A—All Forms W2 received should accompany the tax return. Missing W2 forms were a major reason for delays in processing returns and refunds last year.

Q—My job requires me to do a lot of traveling. For tax purposes will I have to keep track of the money I spend on the road?

A—If you account to your employer for these expenses and your reimbursement does not exceed these expenses you will not have to report them on your tax return. Employees who are not reimbursed for their business travel costs should keep records of what they spend and claim a business expense deduction for them when they file their income tax returns.

Q—Why is it so important for my wife to sign our joint return since all the income is mine?

A—A tax return is a legal document and on joint returns the signatures of both husband and wife are required.

Q—Why is it so important to use the form with the label on it?

A—Using the form with the pre-addressed label will help avoid errors in processing your return.

The label lists your name, address and Social Security number just as it appears in our files. Experience shows that when taxpayers write in this information themselves frequently they forget to list their Social Security number or enter it inaccurately. Also, handwritten numbers are harder to read and mistakes occur when a taxpayer writes a "7" that looks like a "9", for example.

Q—I was told that the wages paid when you're out sick are not taxable. Is that right?

A—It depends on how much pay you received from an employer-financed sick pay plan for the time you were out. If your company paid you over 75 per cent of your regular salary while you were sick there is a 30-day waiting period. After it expires you may exclude up to $100 a week from your income as sick pay.

If you received 75 per cent or less of your regular pay, there is a seven day waiting period. Then you may exclude up to $75 a week. After 30 days you may exclude up to $100 a week as sick pay. If you had been hospitalized, there is no seven-day waiting period.

This provisions of the law is explained in the 1040 instructions so be sure to check them if you are entitled to claim this exclusion.

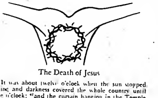
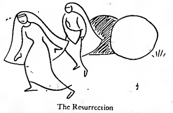
The Easter Story



The Death of Jesus

"It was about twelve o'clock when the sun stopped shining and darkness covered the whole country until three o'clock; "and the curtain hanging in the Temple was torn in two. "Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Father! In your hands I place my spirit!" He said this and died.

(Luke 23 44-46)



The Resurrection

You are looking for Jesus of Nazareth, who was nailed to the cross. But he is not here—he has risen! Look, here is the place where they laid him. 'Now go and give this message to his disciples, including Peter: 'He is going to Galilee ahead of you; there you will see him, just as he told you.' " So they went out and ran from the grave, because fear and terror were upon them.

(Mark 16 6-8)

hymn of the skies

David lived almost thirty centuries ago. He knew nothing of outer space . . . of galaxies hurtling through the void . . . of particles of energy and matter spinning their way from a one-time explosion toward the edges of the universe.

He knew only the skies of his native land . . . their lights and shadows and ever-changing drifts of cloud.

But he knew, as millions before and since, that these skies were no accident. They told him of the Mind and Heart that rules the domain of life. They told him we are not alone.

"The heavens declare the glory of God," he wrote in the 19th Psalm, "The firmament showeth his handiwork."

Through those same skies rode the star that drew men to the scene of our Savior's birth. Against those skies is always silhouetted the Cross on which He died for us.

Under those skies we'll worship together the Risen Lord.

Well, What Do You Know?
fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

What president of the United States was also an inventor?

Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, invented a number of ingenious devices. He invented a clock that told the day of the week as well as the time of day, a dumbwaiter to bring food from the basement kitchen to the first-floor dining room of his home at Monticello; a four-sided music stand that held the sheet music for four players at once; an odometer (a device for measuring the distance traveled by a wheeled vehicle); a swivel chair; a device that he called the polygraph, which made exact duplicates of letters as they were being written; and an improved plow.

Do fish sleep?

Most fishes do not sleep as we do. They do not have eyelids that close. But they do rest when the light dims. Triggerfish lie down on their sides to rest. It is startling to see them lying on the bottom of the sea, looking up at the observer.

Are there fires that cannot be put out with water?

Some fires cannot be put out with water. In fact, with some kinds of fires, water will do more harm than good. For example, a pan of cooking oil may catch fire on a stove, or some fat in a broiler may flare up. Oil and grease float on water. If you try to put out an oil fire with water, the flaming oil will come to the top of the water and continue to burn. Such a fire can be put out quickly with a carbon dioxide fire extinguisher. If no fire extinguisher is available, salt can be used to smother the flame. It is very dangerous to put water on a fire that starts in electrical wiring. The reason is that water conducts electricity. The current can travel up the stream of water to the hand and give a bad or even fatal shock. The best way to put out an electrical fire is with a carbon dioxide fire extinguisher.

Does a stone weigh the same in water as in air?

A stone weighs less in water than it does in air because of the buoyant force of the water. A simple experiment proves the point. All you need is a stone and a spring balance. Weigh the stone in the air. Then weigh it in water.

You will find that it weighs less under water. The reason is that the buoyant force of the water pushes up on the stone and thus supports some of its weight.

BUYER BEWARE BE WISE
DOUGLAS M. HEAD
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

As spring approaches, Minnesotans will see more and more advertisements for mail-order nursery stock.

There are some excellent mail order nursery stock companies, whose trees and shrubs are top quality and their prices reasonable.

But there are also some unscrupulous nursery stock promotors who use deceptive advertising to foist low-quality seedlings on unsuspecting buyers.

The ads are hard to resist. They contain spectacular promises and glowing descriptions. And the prices sound reasonable.

Yet, consumers should view these ads with some suspicion. Many of the claims are simply untrue.

One promotor, for example, advertised "Ailanthus" trees, which he describes as "trees of heaven, breath-taking umbrellas of beauty, superhardy showpieces".

Far from being a "tree of heaven", the Ailanthus tree is commonly know as the "stink tree", because its blooms give off a foul odor.

Another promoter advertised climbing strawberry plants—seven for $3—which would produce hundreds of large, sweet berries in one season. In truth, the plants were not climbers, and would not produce as represented. The promotor paid about a penny for each plant.

There are numerous other examples of such deceptive advertising.

One promoter advertised seedlings—for $3.98 each—which would grow into roof-high shad trees in a single season. What he described as "One of the Most Fantastic Trees Ever Discovered", was an ordinary Silver Maple commonly sold at three to five foot sizes for less than $1.

Another promoter advertised rose plants—for about a dollar each—that would produce up to 11,000 flowers a year. This was a gross exaggeration.

Minnesotans should remember too, that plants and trees which might thrive in some parts of the country might be unable to withstand our rugged climate.

Before buying nursery stock through the mail, check whether the stock advertised is suited to our climate and the soil conditions in your area. If possible, consult a local reputable nurseryman. Your local county agent might also be able to provide information about the stock.

Beware of outlandish claims relating to the growth, flowering or fruiting of trees or shrubs. Question claims of tremendous bargains; compare prices of the advertiser with those charged by established nurserymen.

As winter draws to a close, numerous crews of traveling magazine salesmen will flock to the state.

Some of these crews will consist of responsible salesmen conducting legitimate magazine sales programs.

But there will also be some crews of itinerant salesmen who will use deception and misrepresentation to sell magazine subscriptions to unwary buyers.

Sympathy appeals are the trademark of some unscrupulous crews. Typically, a crew of from five to 15 salesmen will work a particular area. Some crew members might falsely identify themselves as Vietnam veterans who are soliciting subscriptions, which, they say, will be sent to "our boys in Vietnam".

Some salesmen feign handicaps to gain sympathy. Others might identify themselves as foreign exchange students who are selling magazines to earn enough money to return to school.

Still other salesmen might represent themselves as students who are trying to raise money for various civil rights programs.

Some salesmen use misrepresentations in other ways. For example, our Consumer Division received complaints about one group of salesmen who went door-to-door offering each resident a free cookbook. The salesmen said their company was making the offers as a part of a promotional program. The homeowners were then asked to sign what were described as receipts for the cookbooks. The receipts were, in fact, contracts for magazine subscriptions. One woman complained that she was tricked into signing a contract for more than $100.

No person approached by a door-to-door magazine salesman should sign any paper or document until he has read it carefully and is confident he understands its contents.

It is not wise to agree to buy magazines simply out of sympathy for the salesmen. The sympathy might be misplaced.

Maytag disposers also feature virtually jam-free operation. Bones, jagged food wastes and fibrous material are continually positioned in the grinding chamber by jam-resistant impeller arms. The unit also has a positive-pressure water seal that is designed to prevent water leaks to the motor, a major cause of disposer failure.

MINNESOTA'S FUTURE
University of Minnesota • Agricultural Extension Service

The survival of many small Minnesota communities depends on the ability of the community to become part of a larger economic region, according to Wilbur Maki and John Hoyt, Jr., University of Minnesota economists.

This larger region must have enough diversity to attract people with needed professional and technical skills and to form a regional economic network that will provide adequate jobs and services to most residents. If such development does not occur, small rural communities and regions won't be able to offer competitive settlement alternatives to individuals seeking economic opportunity in new jobs and new communities.

Currently there are three possible directions in which rural-urban development can proceed in Minnesota, the economists say. All three possible growth patterns will affect rural communities, but in different ways.

These three growth alternatives are continued concentration of population and industry in the Twin Cities metropolitan area, forced decentralization in outlying growth areas, or new centers based on new and developing technologies such as communication.

The first alternative — continued concentration of population and industry in the Twin Cities metropolitan area — represents a continuation of historic trends in rural-to-urban migration.

If this trend continues, many small communities outside the seven county Twin Cities metropolitan area would face further drastic shifts in population and economic bases. These shifts, which occur primarily in the form of movement of individuals away from the area because of a lack of occupational opportunities, could mean drastic decline in the importance and resources of these communities and the ability of the community to provide needed goods and services.

The second alternative — forced decentralization in outlying growth centers represents the outcome of combined public - private intervention in the urbanization process.

Under this alternative, industrial, commercial and residential inducements would be devised to attract rural - to - urban migrants to the growth centers that are roughly 100 miles from the Twin Cities.

Communities that probably would benefit the most from such a development would be St. Cloud, Willmar, Mankato - St. Peter, Austin - Albert Lea, Rochester, and Winona.

The third community and regional development alternative that is possible is further intervention in the urbanization process by both government and citizens.

This intervention probably would take the form of developing cities to serve as regional communication centers. These communication centers would serve primarily as information producing centers for a given region, the economists say.

Currently major communication centers in Minnesota also are major transportation and distribution centers, although in the future University towns may become important communication centers also under this alternative growth pattern, according to Maki and Hoyt.

For example, with its location, Marshall, a university town is a potential communication center that can serve residents in both the Sioux Falls and Twin Cities distribution areas. As a communication center, Marshall could link group and community interests between Sioux Falls and the Twin Cities.

The future of small communities depends heavily on which of the three development alternatives is followed, the economists say.

Currently the third alternative (the development of regional communication centers) or some variation of it is probably the most meaningful development pattern for the future of rural communities, the economists say. This alternative postunities for small community growth by contributing to an of rural-urban development.

As many as 60 wells will be drilled from this single platform to be built in the Santa Barbara channel, Calif., by Sun Oil Co. - DX Division. The offshore platform features a tilted rig (see arrow) for drilling directional wells to shallow oil zones. Deep producing zones will be tapped by conventional drilling from the same offshore platform.

TULSA, OKLA. — The most modern methods of preventing water pollution while producing oil are being designed into the offshore platform which the DX Division of Sun Oil Co. will erect off the coast of Santa Barbara, Calif. this spring.

Instead of a forest of derricks, each with a potential for spilling oil, numerous wells will be drilled from a single platform to be built in 190 feet of water.

The structure, officially designated Platform Hillhouse, will be located on a tract leased from the federal government last year for a bonus of more than $38,000,000 by a joint company combine composed of Sunray DX, Superior, Marathon and Sun Oil companies. Since the original leasing, Sun and Sunray have merged, and the project is being operated by Sun's DX Division with offices in Tulsa and Ventura, Calif.

As many as 48 deep holes and 22 shallow wells can be drilled and produced from the platform which will have a helicopter landing pad and emergency living accommodations for 14 men.

Canned salmon teams with cooked noodles to make a colorful, appetizing and nutritious dish.

The versatility of noodles and other forms of pasta are one reason why they are popular with homemakers. Another is their bland flavor which makes them compatible with almost any other food—meat, vegetables, cheese or fish, thereby becoming an economical extender of more expensive food products. With a box of pasta and a few cans of salmon on your pantry shelf you're ready in short order with a hot dish suitable for family or guests. Canned salmon adds the important nutrients of protein, calcium, vitamins and minerals that transforms pasta into a complete food. It also adds color and flavor. So team them up in your recipe file as well as on your pantry shelf.

Baked Salmon Noodles Yukon

8 ounces medium noodles
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1-pound can salmon
Dash Tabasco
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain well. Preheat oven to 350° F. Grease a 2-quart casserole.

In saucepan melt the 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in milk. Stir in salmon liquid from can. Flake and stir in salmon, Tabasco, salt and pepper. Arrange alternate layers of salmon, sauce and noodles in casserole, finishing with sauce.

In small bowl mix crumbs with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle over mixture in casserole. Bake in preheated oven for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Killer and disabler of children cystic fibrosis (CF) has no cure. In recent years some progress has been made to control it but treatment is burdensome and costly says the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Take the case of little Jimmy. Jimmy looks and acts like a healthy bubbling five year old but several times each day he inhales antibiotics through an aerosol mask to break up the tenacious abnormal mucus in his lungs and to combat the lung infestion it promotes. Then in a manner taught by a physical therapist his parents try to physically dislodge the mucus. Jimmy sleeps under a plastic tent breathing a dense mist of chemicals which liquefy the thick bluey mucus in his lungs.

The pressure on Jimmy's whole family emotionally physically and financially is great. They know that only 50 per cent of the patients live past the age of 10; 80 per cent do not survive past 20.

About one of every 1000 to 2000 infants are born with CF. The child's mucus glands do not function properly but secrete so much abnormally thick mucus that the lungs and pancreatic ducts become clogged and do not function normally.

The free flow of pancreatic juices necessary to healthy absorption of food and regular elimination is prevented.

Bacteria collects multiplies and produces infection in the lungs. Lung diseases account for 90 per cent of the deaths of CF children.

Symptoms of CF include: salty tasting skin; voracious eating with a failure to gain weight and thrive; bulky fatty stools; repeated respiratory infestions; persistent cough and in more severe cases an acute cough followed by vomiting bluish lips and a barrel chest.

Thirty years ago cystic fibrosis was confused with respiratory gastraintestinal and other conditions. Thanks to greater awareness of the disease and improved diagnosis the disorder is recognized with increasing frequency throughout the world. Additionally the use of effective antibiotics increases the life span of patients.

Today says the Minnesota State Medical Association many research centers throughout the the country are engaged in intensive studies to control cystic fibrosis and perhaps eventually to prevent it.

Editorials....

"It is the duty of each generation of Americans not only to contribute its share to the fulfillment of this nation's destiny, but to prepare the succeeding generation adequately for its role of carrying the promise of freedom beyond the point to which contemporary leaders have brought it. Many of the younger generation have never known the more lasting pleasures of fulfilling their desires and wants through their own initiative. This necessary ingredient of good citizenship has been denied them by selfish parents who want their children to have 'everything' except the industry necessary to propel them through life."
—Harrisonburg, Va., News-Record

Tribute to "Ike"

As the nation marks today the interment of Dwight Eisenhower, it is fitting that tribute be paid to a man who established himself over a long and full lifetime as an outstanding American. Although a five-star general whose business was waging war, he was dedicated to the attainment and the maintaining of a lasting peace, both as general and as President.

Perhaps the most fitting words we have read since the former President's death appeared in the Bemidji Pioneer, as follows:

If the essence of Dwight David Eisenhower could be summed up in a one-word epitaph, it would be simply: "Ike."

Here was the professional soldier who rose from relative obscurity at the beginning of the greatest war in history to supreme command of the greatest assemblage of armies in history, who later served his country for eight years in the highest position of responsibility any man can attain.

Yet he was always "Ike."

Looking back from the turbulent present, the years of the Eisenhower administration seem calm and stable. They were not, but if they seemed so then as well as now, it was only because of the presence of this immensely popular president in the White House. There was and faith that no matter how beset the nation was by crises and challenges, nothing dire would happen as long as Ike was there.

Beset the nation was:

Those were the years when the cold war was really frigid—when a man named Khrushchev came to power in Russia to strut the world's stage for a time with his rhetoric of nuclear diplomacy and Ho Chi Minh was mauling the French in Indochina; when a man named Joe McCarthy was finding Communists in every State Department closet and setting neighbor suspiciously against neighbor; when a man named Faubus in Little Rock, Ark. was fomenting the gravest federal-state crisis since the Civil War; when a U.S. vice president was being spat upon in South America; when the world hovered on the edge of Armageddon as war broke out in the Middle East; when freedom-loving men everywhere agonized as Hungary was ground under the heel; when the nation plunged briefly into its worst recession since the 1930s; when Americans indulged in an orgy of something called a Sputnik into space; when words like "agonizing reappraisal," "missile gap" were part of the vocabulary of reproach against the administration.

Yet they SEEMED like calm years, because Ike was there.

Now the general has lost his last battle, after besting the scythe-bearer in encounter after encounter. He went down fighting, he surrendered reluctantly. More than that can be asked of no soldier.

Dwight D. Eisenhower is not rated as one of America's great or even strong presidents, and it is not likely that another generation of historians will differ with this estimate. Of one thing we can be certain, however:

If, in their study of this man, his life and his accomplishments, Americans of the future can come at all close to knowing him as his contemporaries did, they will call him "Ike."

Borrowed Nonsense...

Mrs. Smith was planning an elaborate reception. "Nora," she said to her maid, "for the first half hour I want you to stand at the door and call the guests' names as they arrive."

Replied Nora, "Thank you, Ma'am, I've been wanting to do that to some of your friends for the last ten years."

"Who was that lady I saw you with last night?"

"That was no lady. That was my new son-in-law, and we are sick about it!"

"If all the snow in Alaska were to melt," said the Texan, "Texas would be the biggest state." "If all the snow in Alaska were to melt," retorted the Alaskan. "Texas would be a lake".

Leave It To The Kids

Margery Burns, whose column appears in several newspapers which we receive regularly at the Times, follows the news carefully and has some homely comment on happenings around us. The following is her column on student unrest from the Murray County Herald:

Leave it to the kids. They are smart and clever. And we ought to give them a lot of encouragement in helping us solve some of our tough problems.

For instance, we're all in a flap about the student demands at different colleges around the country. Some of those demands are ridiculous and so far out that they can't be considered. And how do we react? That's right. . .by turning up our noses so high we can't see their reasonable requests.

Now here comes some students with their easy way of putting the whole thing in perspective. At one of the California colleges, the Italian Student Fratellanza posted their "ultimatums" right beside the demands of the radical students. And they showed us the funny side of the problem. Here is a partial list of their "demands":

"1. A three-unit seminar course to be offered in 'Divorce - Italian Style,' including a two-hour lab period."

"2. Vending machines to offer pizza (both sausage and pepperoni), ravioli, garlic bread and 8 oz. cans of Dago Red."

"3. School holidays on Columbus Day, the birthdays of Benito Mussolini and all other Italian war heroes (a total of two days off).

"4. All female students and secretaries must submit to pinching in the hallways."

Then these students announced that if their "demands are not acceded to by the time the next boat leaves for the mother country", they'd protest by marching around chanting "Galileo was right!" and "Garlic power!"

We know that many student requests for improving their education should be granted. But when the radical students demand "total amnesty" for all students no matter what they've done or what they will do, they should be laughed at in the same way as the demand by the Fratellanza for "cancellation of all intramural basketball and football games and the creation of a Bocci Ball League."

Leave it to the kids. They can handle anything.

Majored in What?

The editor of the Murray County Herald at Shyton writes: " 'What does one do,' asked number one son the other day, 'with a college major in Afro - American culture?'

"Good question. Exactly what does one do with a major in a subject such as that? There isn't much of a demand for teachers in this particular area on a high school level. On top of that, the judicial branch might well conclude that civil rights are being violated unless similar courses are offered in everything from Swedish to Pekingese.

" 'Son,' said I, admittedly coming up with no logical answer, 'let us continue to direct our thoughts to such higher education areas as law, medicine, science and the arts, leaving the question of what to do with a major in Afro - American culture up to the demonstrators who are bringing it about.'

"End of conversation—hopefully."

All the News...

We are indebted to the Chicago Daily News for this self-explanatory lesson in elementary logic:

"Why don't you newspapers write about the nice things," said a nice lady on the phone, "and not about those bad things all the time?"

What nice things? we asked.

"Well," she said, "for instance I think it was very nice for Mr. Nixon to call on Mr. Humphrey and congratulate him on his nomination."

Yes, we agreed, that was nice.

"And of course, Mr. Humphrey had called on Mr. Nixon and congratulated him on his nomination. That was nice, too."

So it was, we said.

"And Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. McCarthy were very cordial to each other when they met at a luncheon. They even toasted each other with champagne."

So they did.

"And President Eisenhower is getting better."

Yes, that was good, too.

"And wasn't it fine the way the Czechs resisted the Russians?"

Yes, indeed. But, we asked this optimistic lady, where did she learn all these pleasant things?

"Why, in the papers, of course." Pause. "Oh dear, what have I done?"

She had amused us, that's what she had done ...

Legislative Letter
from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

A major piece of legislation designed to prevent stalemates between the Minnesota highway department and local communities over highway construction plans was approved this week by both the House and Senate highway committees.

Under the present law, community objections to a highway construction proposal can halt construction indefinitely, while construction costs continue to have been tied up for a dozen or more years. The new bill proposes to remedy this situation by setting up a series of public hearings in the communities affected by the proposed construction, and resolving the disputes which do arise by means of a three-judge panel.

The arbitration section of the bill will insure that highway progress is not held up unnecessarily, while the public hearings section protects community interests by allowing them to participate in highway planning in its earliest stages.

I gave my support to this proposal as a member of both the Highway Interim Commission and the House Highway committee, and I hope to see its early enactment.

The House passed a bill that relates to the last step in the election of the President. It would provide that in Minnesota our presidential electors would be chosen on the basis of congressional districts. Each state is allotted one elector for each member of congress. Under the proposal passed by the House, Minnesota would continue to elect two electors from the state at large. These two electors would be the ones representing the candidate for president who received the most votes throughout Minnesota. The other eight electors would be chosen one from each congressional district. These electors would reflect the vote for president in each respective district.

There has been much discussion in recent years that we should go to a direct election of the president by the people. Until the Federal Constitution is changed we must continue with the Electoral College system. The Constitution provides that each state shall determine how its electors are chosen. This bill, which the House passed, is in conformity with this Constitutional Provision. Should this bill be enacted into law it would give each congressional district in Minnesota an equal voice in the election of the President of the United States.

Paint Remodels

Fast facelift for a room can often be accomplished, by a paint job. Modern convenience paints feature ease of application, fast drying and vanity of matching colors.

Pastels and light tints make small rooms seem airy, look larger. In large rooms, interest is added by combining pastel walls with accents of a deeper hue.

CUTTING FLOWERS

To spur blooming of annuals and perennials, cut terminal clusters of flowers, giving smaller side clusters space to expand.

Why Right Side Used For Driving Reviewed

What prompted the United States to adopt the right hand side of the road rule when its mother country, England, uses just the opposite procedure or the left hand rule of the road?

In some parts of early Canada, the left hand rule prevailed as in Toronto, Ontario, and St. John, New Brunswick. But from earliest colonial times the American colonies drove on the right hand side. Contributing toward this tendency is that many of the colonists were not English such as the Dutch Puritans and the French and most of the people on Europe continent proper drove on the left side of the road. Another was that roads weren't built in the colonies until 1609 and the settlers either walked or traveled by water.

Further, in most colonists, a smoldering opposition to the old world had often left rebellion in their hearts as they were forced to leave to escape from military conscription, religious persecution or for other reasons and held little love for the old customs, mores and ties.

The coming of the wagon using four to six horses and later the heavy Conestoga wagon which necessitated the driver sitting or walking on the left side of the wagon gave added impetus to right hand driving.

Pennsylvania was one of the early states to legalize right hand travel. Governor Thomas Mifflin signed the act in April 19, 1792 which incorporated the first turnpike between Philadelphia and Lancaster. New York passed an act in March 21, 1785 levying a 10 shilling fine for failure of drivers of carriages, wagons, sleighs and carts going northward not giving way to conveyances coming southward. In 1801 the New York state legislature enacted laws on right hand driving and direction for traffic to flow. Massachusetts was slow in enacting legislation and travelers were in for a difficult time when they journeyed to that area because of the confusion on the roads.

Massachusetts would not agree with the Pennsylvania legislature which decreed that the right side of the road should be the right side to drive on and the left side the wrong side. New Jersey passed right side legislation in 1806. The right hand travel idea gained in favor, but strange as it may seem the National Pike or Cumberland Road begun in 1806 and opened as far as Wheeling and into Virginia by 1818, used the English method of driving on the left side of the road although the work was directed by the United States Army engineers.

Perhaps the contributing reason was the Army engineers [illegible] and adopted the design of the surfacing plan outlined by John Loudon McAdam of England. A few years later the first experimental unit of macadam surface was laid on the approximately 11-mile section of the turnpike between Hagerstown and Boonesborough, Md. Another reason the Army engineers offered for the left side of the road method for the turnpike was that since England was the leading empire of the world, the world would eventually adopt its idea of using the left side of the road.

Left side of the road on the National Pike continued to be the custom and William Duane, in a treatise relating to the road laws of Pennsylvania wrote, in 1848, that it was a gaining preference to use the right side of the road of Pennsylvania except on the National Pike. The coming of the railroads beyond the Allegany shrunk long distance travel on the turn pike to insignificance and by the beginning of the Civil War the right side of the road was an established custom in America.

With the coming of the motor car, the rules of the road were in much need of revamping. One of the best legal compilations was written in 1911 by Byron K and William F. Elliott of Indianapolis, called "A Treatise on the Laws of Roads and Streets."

Impact of the motor vehicle has influenced the lives of people throughout the world and today the right hand rules of the road predominate.

Evaluation Held For AVS Programs

A state evaluation was conducted at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school on Wednesday. The program was conducted by the vocational division of the Minnesota state department of education, under the direction of Bud Jaguseck, program evaluator.

Doing the evaluation of the 12 departments which are offered at the vocational school were professional people from the fields of education which are offered to students at the area vocational school.

A total of 21 persons from the area conducted the evaluations with the reports to be made available at a later date, according to Arnt Aune, vocational school director.

This evaluation cannot approve or disapprove of a program at the school, according to Aune. The evaluation is scheduled for every five years in accordance with an act passed by the Minnesota state legislature in 1963. Thief River Falls was the 21st Minnesota school to be evaluated out of the 27 schools in Minnesota.

At the end of the observation period, evaluators had to fill out a questionnaire of 159 questions about the training, philosophy

Goodridge HS Band and Choir To Stage Musical

Goodridge high school choir and band will present the musical comedy, "This Is My Country" by Gene Wright and Arthur Lambson, on Friday, April 11. There will be two performances—one at 1 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

"This Is My Country" presents a panoramic view of American history as lived and sung by the common people—the kind that built this land, expanded frontiers, settled plains, brought iron horses and prepared us for the twentieth century. This is done in the framework of a high school boy's magic wish for a loophole through his lengthy history book. Uncle Sam arrives to conduct him through the past.

Some of the characters in the cast of 60 performers are: Mike Needham as Uncle Sam; Den Johneson, Scooter Baxter, the high school boy; David Foss, a Quaker; Karen Lease, a frontier woman; Gerold Anderson, a young lawyer, with LuAnn Lillevold as his fiancee; Laren Arvesoe, a Union general; Virgil Phelps, a Confederate soldier; David Sjulstad, Indian chief; and Dean Wilkens, a railroad engineer.

Stage direction and choreography are under the direction of Miss Kathleen Fritsch and the music is under the direction of Miss Ruth Lynes.

Adjustment Panel Asks 3rd Member

Unable to reach agreement after several meetings, the adjustment panel reviewing salaries for the Thief River Falls school district has petitioned the district court for appointment of a third member. The petition was contained in a letter sent to Hon. Warren A. Saetre, presiding judge, who will appoint the third member under Minnesota law.

Attaching signatures to the petition were Curtis L. Charlson, who was appointed adjustment panel member by the board of education, and Joe A. Forberg, appointed to the panel by the teachers' negotiating council of the local district. The two panel members have reportedly met several times to discuss the salary situation which has resulted in an impasse between the board and teachers, but have been unable to come to agreement.

The request for a third member is made in accordance with M.S. 125.25, Subdivision 2. It states: "More than five (5) days have passed since the selection of both the school board and teacher adjustment panel members. This application is submitted to the court because the adjustment panel members were unable to agree on the selection of a third panel member."

Rev. Ader, pastor of the church, officiated at the wedding. Mrs. Teresa Blair presided at the organ. She played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mary Ann Hofferbert who sang, "Because" and "I Love Thee". Following the exchange of vows, the bride and groom together prayed "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length, fitted gown of white karnte Venice lace enhanced the slightly scooped neckline and edged the long tapered sleeves and A-line skirt. Matching lace adorned the chapel-length train attached above the waistline with a bow. Her elbow-length, illusion veil was held by a pearl encrusted demi-hat. She carried a nosegay of white stephanotis and blue baby's breath accented with ribbon streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Susan Stockslager of Eaton, Ohio. Miss Lynne McPhre of Houston, Texas was bridesmaid.

They were attired in matching floor-length gowns of pale blue ottoman. Their empire bodices, featuring satin trimmed necklines and elbow-length sleeves, topped A-line skirts. Satin belts accented the waistlines and small satin bows adorned the backs of the gowns. To complete their attire, they wore blue shoes and white kid gloves, a gift from the bride, and carried matching nosegays of lavender hyacinths and blue baby's breath. Similar flowers were worn in their hair.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Richard T. Kimble. Stephen E. Gustafson, a brother of the bride, was usher. As their attire, the groom and his attendants wore black suits with black and white striped ties and white boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gustafson wore a light blue dress and jacket ensemble with coordinating hat, shoes and gloves. The mother of the groom was attired in a navy blue three-piece ensemble with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of white gardenias and lavender hyacinths.

A champagne reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, trimmed in white and blue and topped with silver doves.

Out-of-state relatives attending were Mrs. Edward Norwood and son, Richard Kimble of Elmira, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. David Westergren of Minneapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hovie of Thief River Falls.

For her going away attire, the bride chose a blue coat-dress complemented by navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations and blue bows.

Sgt. and Mrs. Kimble are at home in Washington, D. C., where Sgt. Kimble is stationed at Bolling Air Force base.

Following the rehearsal, the parents of the bride entertained a a dinner party. Those attending were members of the bridal party and out-of-state guests.

- ¾ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup melted butter
- 1 can cherry pie mix
- ¾ cup whipping cream
- 6 tablespoons sugar or powdered sugar

Combine cracker crumbs and sugar. Add melted butter and mix well. Press half of the crumbs into a 9x13 inch cake pan. Spread pie mix over crumbs. Whip cream, add sugar and vanilla. Cover pie mix with whipped cream, add marshmallows and spread over cherries. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over the top and chill for two hours before serving.

Five Warroad Youths Injured In Auto Mishap

Five young men of the Warroad area were injured March 29 when the car they were in went out of control, through a ditch and into a woods near the Warroad golf course on the county highway south of Warroad.

Three of the five in the car required hospitalization. The other two had multiple bumps and bruises but were not hospitalized. The 1967 model car was considered a total loss. Charges by the Minnesota highway department and the Roseau county law enforcement center are pending.

Those in the car were Wayne Corneliusen, who was driving, Glen Risser, Wesley Pederson, Bill Knight and Alvin Meeker. Risser suffered a broken right arm and a skull fracture and was transferred to the Winnipeg general hospital shortly after the accident. Meeker sustained a fractured vertebrae, Corneliusen a dislocation and fracture of the right elbow, and Knight and Meeker were treated for minor bumps and bruises and released the same evening of the accident.

The accident happened about 6:15 Saturday night when the car was traveling at speeds well over 100 mph, according to officials. The highway patrolman in pursuit of the car, had met them coming towards Warroad at a high rate of speed. When he turned to follow them, the car began to pull away. The car turned south on a gravel road past the John Pryor home, almost hitting a car coming out of the Pryor driveway, went on through the stop sign and turned south on a county road. The car went out of control just into the first curve near the golf course, skidding to the wrong side of the road and back across before going through the ditch and into the woods.

The impact with a birch tree took off the right wheel and broke the axle, sending the car sideways into another tree that wrecked the left side and back bumper. Officers reported the car traveled through a corridor of trees, finally coming into contact with a good sized trunk. This impact broke off the tree but also brought the car to a halt. The front of the car and engine were forced well into the passenger area.

Ada Farmer Will Seek Dist. GOP Chairmanship

Herman Natwick, a farmer from the Ada, Minnesota area has announced that he is seeking the 7th District Republican chairmanship now held by Robert Bigwood of Fergus Falls. Bigwood has informed party leaders that he will not seek re-election to the position which he has held for the past six years.

For the past two years a member of the district executive committee, Natwick is presently the district chairman of the neighbor to neighbor fund drive. During the campaign last fall he served as the district Nixon-Agnew chairman, and as an area chairman of Odin Langen's volunteer committee. His background in the Republican party also includes four years as Norman county chairman and two years on the state platform committee.

Natwick owns and operates a large farming and cattle feeding operation at Ada, and is director of several organizations. The 7th district, the largest in the state, is made up of 23 counties extending from the Canadian border on the north to Pope county in the southeast.

GIs May Obtain Additional Life Insurance Policy

Minnesota veterans who suffered injury or illness in service may be entitled to as much as $10,000 in life insurance in addition to the regular GI policy which they may convert on becoming civilians.

John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans administration center in St. Paul, said this coverage is under VA's national service life insurance program for men with a disability rated by VA as service-connected. The veteran must otherwise be in good health and must apply for the policy within one year after the rating.

Veterans who wish to continue the servicemen's group life insurance they held while in uniform may do so by applying for a commercial policy with one of some 600 companies approved by VA to handle low-cost, converted SGLI policies, he said.

This insurance must be converted within 120 days after separation and the policies are in force during this period at no cost to the veteran. Murphy explained that a combination of the two programs could give a disabled veteran a maximum of $20,000 in low-cost life insurance.

The manager urged veterans who have received service-connected disability ratings from VA within the past year but who have not applied for NSLI coverage, to act immediately so that they will not lose out on this benefit.

Application forms and assistance from trained VA personnel in filling them out are available at the St. Paul center, he said.

Murphy also urged Vietnam era veterans who think that they may be entitled to service-connected disability ratings from VA which would entitle them to the NSLI coverage to visit the VA office. Arrangements will be made for medical examinations.

"Carnival" is the story of a young orphan girl (Miss Hoel) and her search for a new life in the bright and blaring world of the carnival. Miss Hoel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. The Library Corner

by Flora Allison

Books for Adults

Having checked out "Miracle at Philadelphia" by Catherine Bowen and used it as source material, I realized that here was history so alive and real it could be a Huntley-Brinkley report of today's news events. Here are all the color, the action and the urgency of a summit meeting somewhere, to solve today's problems.

Step by plodding step the author shows that momentous summer when the constitutional convention was hammering out in Philadelphia what the delegates hoped would be an adequate and acceptable plan for a new and not-yet-tried system of government. The miracle referred to in the title is that, in only five months, these men who were so divergent in background, abilities and nature, could come up with a set of laws which, with only minimal amendment, have stood for almost 200 years as the supreme law binding together far-flung states! This is a new, fresh look at history and at the men who made it.

"It Takes Jack to Build a House," by Betty Wason, is billed as a down-to-earth guide to building and remodeling. Learning by experience that left her limp, chagrined and much deeper in debt than she had ever imagined, she confesses to being "taken," and by showing every step of her trip to disillusionment, shows others how to prevent the same thing from happening to them. As the dust jacket says, it "may save you thousands of dollars and a houseful of headaches" to make use of this excellent new addition to our non-fiction shelves.

Of special interest is the chapter on planning the kitchen, which is called the most important room in the house! Also treated is the importance of closely checking on the contractor as the work progresses to make sure that he follows the specifications to the letter as well as anticipating trouble spots in order to reduce corrections later. After reading it you'll know why we advise any one, and everyone, to obtain a copy and study it religiously before and during that building or remodeling job. After all, it's your money that's in question; why not get the most out of your investment?

It's that time of year when men of any age think of fishing, and that means getting the boat out of storage. In some cases could it mean just wondering if you could make your own boat, or repair the dud you've managed with for the past few seasons? Either way, "Boat Carpentry" covers the field. Hervey Smith, an expert on such things, gives the lessons. Some of the points covered are the dos and don'ts of boat construction, the use of Fiberglas and other materials recommended, and how to select and use them.

I don't claim to know which comes first, the boat or the tackle, in the order of importance, but when spring looms dead ahead, it isn't a bad idea to get that part of your brain compartmented to "boats and fishing" activated again before the season catches up with you and find you unprepared!

Books for Teenagers

"Come Down the Mountain", by Vian Smith, is a first-rate story about life at a girls' school of today, the uniform bit, the strait-laced old-fashioned directors who were said not to understand kids, girls in particular; and in general, something different from high schools in small towns.

Popping in and out of the plot is an old abandoned horse which sticks in the memory of one of the girls and gives her no peace. Would taking it in and calling it her own be construed as rustling? And if so, what would happen to her? Should she dare to keep it if she ever did decide to rescue it from starvation at the moment? There are many interesting turns of plot, to keep you reading on. Girls will probably enjoy it more than boys will, however.

Frank Bonham's "The Nitty Gritty" has a catchy title; you'll know it's now! And that is undoubtedly as the author intended it. Charlie, a young Negro with a brain, is thwarted from using it to advantage when his father decides that his being black will automatically keep him from making a place for himself in the world. Placed in a shoeshine parlor, the boy knows the agony of being kept down, and runs away in his frustration.

He joins up, hopefully, with an uncle who fancies himself a wheeler-dealer and never quite makes it. This is the point at which Charlie gets to the nitty-gritty and learns the hard way what it's all about. Thereafter he goes about "repairing the leaks in his spirit." Bonham knows what it's like, man, where it is, and what it's all about. Read his books for a look at the other side.

Books for Children

For the very young, there's "Tubby Turtle," the tale of a poor little turtle who felt so slow and useless under his clumsy shell. All the other little animals in his class laughed at him, but the teacher understood! "Everyone can do something worthwhile if he thinks that he can, and think about it enough." When Rabbit almost drowned one day, it was Turtle to the rescue, and that was when he found out what he could do better than all the rest!

"Rosie's Walk" is by Hutchins, and tells a story about Rosie the hen, and does it almost entirely in pictures. And what silly pictures they are, bright with sunshine and funnier than almost anything. Rosie was quite an explorer, but she didn't want to miss out on anything; especially on anything important. See the last page to find out what the "something important" was, in this case.

"Sam", by Ann Scott, is about a small boy who only wanted to find out about things and to be helpful around the house. But it seemed that he was forever doing the wrong things, getting in everyone's way. At last he couldn't help it...he cried! And at last the family realized that he had needs, too, and put him to work doing something he could do: a job for which he was neither too big nor too small. The story gets down to the inside feelings of the boy, under his black skin, and shows the unhappy little human inside. But it has a happy ending, which is what every young reader likes.

One of the little books that kids insist on hearing over and over again is "But Where Is the Little Green Parrot?" It's by a husband-wife team named Zacharias, and between them they turn out a charming, provocative book, in which every picture has a hidden parrot; well, not so hidden, but the kids will get a charge out of finding him in each case. They will need sharp eyes, sure enough, but the game of who-can-find-the-parrot-first will delight the little people. The illustrations are wild and colorful.

"The Biggest Mouse in the World", and the seeds that were so small he had such trouble finding them, are only the beginning of the clever little book by Charles House. When the little mouse finds a magnifying glass, outwits a hawk and learns that it has become easy for him to find food, which he can now see larger than life, he becomes not only the biggest, but perhaps the luckiest mouse in the world. The entrancing drawings will be the frosting on the cake.

Reports on Viking News of the Week

Mrs. Gene Halverson
Viking, 523-2473

Wallace Granstrom, son of Rev. and Mrs. Fred Granstrom, who has served in the armed forces in Germany for the last two and a half years, completed his service record March 14. Before returning to the states, he visited his mother's many relatives in Norway, also his father's relatives in Sweden. Wallace is now attending North Park college in Chicago, Ill., where his brother Wesley is also attending.

Rev. and Mrs. Granstrom drove to LeSueur, Minn., where they welcomed their son Wallace's return from Germany and son Wesley and his fiancee, Sandra Carmical of Chicago. From there they drove to Minneapolis to welcome Rev. Granstrom's sister, Mrs. Herbert Engstrom from Nome, Alaska, together with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Granstrom Sr. and married nieces and nephews. After being house guests of Mr. and Mrs. King in Le Sueur, the Granstroms and Mrs. Engstrom returned to Viking on Tuesday. Mrs. Engstrom enjoyed visiting the Emmaus Nursing home in Warren on Wednesday afternoon; the Ladies Aid meeting in the Viking Cov. church in the evening; Thursday noon dinner with the Ray Eastby family in Grygla, the evening service in the Warren Cov. church; a coffee hour with the Rev. Paul Johnsons after the service together with many other friends. She left Friday morning to return to Duluth to visit another brother who came down from Canada. The Engstroms are presently mining gold and entertaining tourists for the Alaska Air-lines in Nome, Alaska. The tourist season up there will begin about May 16th. Her visit here in Viking and in the area she enjoyed very much.

Word has been received that Mrs. Ingrid Dau has had to under go major surgery again. Anyone wishing to send her a card or letter will be appreciated—c-o Rogue Valley Hospital, Medford, Ore. 97501.

The Wallace Hanson family spent the weekend in Minneapolis, visiting relatives and friends.

The Dedication of the new pews was held in the Viking Cov. church on Palm Sunday at 3 p.m. A very impressive service was held. Several memorials were received at this time. Mrs. Alek Anderson, chairman of the Ladies Aid presided; Mr. Clarence Tangquist gave a brief, interesting history of the "Old Pews"; the Ladies Sextette presented two numbers in song; Rev. Paul Johnson of Warren gave the closing prayer. The sanctuary and lower auditorium gave a festive atmosphere with fresh cut flowers. The many visitors present were greatly appreciated.

Three car-loads of our young people of the Cov. church drove to McIntosh last Saturday for a Youth Banquet. Our counsellors Mr. and Mrs. Halward Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Wallestad drove down later for the remainder of the evening.

On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hjelle and Mrs. Flodstrom drove up to Stephen for the evening service at the Covenant church. Later they were coffee guests at the Mervin Anderson home. The Hjelle family and Mrs. Flodstrom will spend Easter Sunday with Mrs. Flodstrom's son, Douglas and family at Horace, N. D. It will be little Charles' first birthday. They all plan to attend the Easter service at the Fargo Free church.

Mr. Ed Sarenson was honored to have his children and their families with him for noon dinner on Sunday in his home for his 80th birthday.

Mrs. Helen Johnson and Mrs. Lizzie Peterson "Our shut-in's" wish all their friends a Happy Easter!

Customs Service Gives Answers For Questions

QUESTION: If I order a suit while in London and have it shipped to me, will I be allowed an exemption on it?

ANSWER: No. Only items accompanying you upon arrival can be included in your exemption. Subsequent shipments are dutiable.

QUESTION: If I purchase a car while in Europe and use it to travel around that part of the world, will it be dutiable at its purchase price upon my return to the United States?

ANSWER: No. The car will be appraised by Customs upon its arrival in the United States, and due allowance will be made for its use.

QUESTION: A friend has asked me to bring back a Hudson Bay blanket from Canada to match one she now has. May I include it in my declaration?

ANSWER: An item you have been requested to bring home for another person is dutiable and may not be included within your Customs exemption if you are being reimbursed for the purchase price. You must list the item on your declaration as "For Another Person" and duty will be collected accordingly.

QUESTION: If I receive a gift from a friend while I am in another country, must I declare it upon my return to the United States?

ANSWER: Yes. Anything acquired in another country, whether by purchase or gift, must be declared to Customs upon your return to the United States if it accompanies you.

QUESTION: My state allows me to bring in one gallon of liquor free of the state tax and without a permit. Does that change the usual Customs allowance of one quart?

ANSWER: No. Only one quart of alcoholic beverages is permitted free of duty and internal revenue tax (with certain exemptions on alcoholic beverages from the Virgin Islands of the United States, American Samoa and Guam). You would be subject to duty and internal revenue tax on all over the one quart. Customs officers are charged with the responsibility of insuring that persons importing alcoholic beverages comply with the laws of the state into which they arrive from a foreign country.

QUESTION: I saw some beautiful gold coin jewelry while I was abroad. Can such items be brought back into the United States?

ANSWER: Gold coins and gold coin jewelry are restricted entry items. For complete information as to the requirements, write the Director, Office of Gold and Silver Operations, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. 20220.

What is your customs question? If you have one, send it to the: District Director of Customs, Pembina, North Dakota 58271.

Advise Farmers To Stop Social Security Checks

Every farmer over 62 getting social security benefits and expecting earned income of over $1,680 this year should stop his social security benefit as soon as he starts working this spring, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

Earned income is net farm profit plus any gross wages that a person may earn. A farmer 72 on February 1 or earlier need not report. He will get his benefits regardless of work or earnings.

Beneficiaries should send these notices to the Grand Forks social security office, not to the payment center. Any notice affecting social security payments, such as change of address, earnings and death, should now be sent to the nearest social security office.

Local offices transfer the information by high-speed communication circuits. "Sending every notice to the nearest social security office is the best way to assure that future social security checks will come to the right place at the right time," Kittelson said.

Clearbrook Man Severely Burned In Home Fire

Palmer Brein of rural Clearbrook is in critical condition in a Fargo hospital following an explosion and fire at his home in Clover township. Mr. and Mrs. Brein's home was burned to the ground in the early morning of March 30.

According to reports from neighbors, Mrs. Brein walked over a half mile in her bare feet in below zero weather to summon help from their neighbors, the Walter Torgersons. While she was going for help, the fire was seen by Rev. James Howard, who investigated and took Brein to the hospital at Bagley.

Brein's condition was reported as grave with burns covering up to 85 per cent of his body.

The Clearbrook fire department was called to the scene of the fire, however, the telephone circuits on the party line system were out and the call was not received in time to do any good. The house was completely lost before they arrived. The Brein farm is located about 10 miles north of Clearbrook.

According to a report by Mrs. Brein, her husband had gotten up to start a fire in a wood burning stove and apparently fuel ignited when he poured it into the stove to get the fire started. His clothes were afire when Mrs. Brein got up to help him. After extinguishing the fire in his clothes, she then walked to the Torgersons for help.

Judge Saetre Is Honored Warren Civic Leader

Judge Warren A. Saetre was selected Warren's 1969 civic leader of the year at that community's Town and Country awards banquet last week.

Judge Saetre, who currently has his court chambers in Thief River Falls, was born at Henning where he was graduated from high school. He entered Hamline university in 1941 and in 1942 was called into the Army Air Force where he was a fighter pilot. After four years in the service he finished his pre-law at the University of Minnesota and took his law at William Mitchell college of law in St. Paul where he was graduated in 1951. He was then called into the Air Force during the Korean conflict.

In 1952 he moved to Warren and opened a law office and six months later purchased the Duane Turnwall law practice. He was elected Marshall county attorney in 1954. He was appointed 9th District judge by Governor Harold LeVander in October 1968.

Judge Saetre has been active in Warren community affairs, having served on the Chamber of Commerce board, Our Savior's Lutheran church board and recently headed the church's parish education building committee. He has served on the Marshall County Agricultural society board for many years, many of them as assistant treasurer. He is a past president of the 14th District Bar association and the Minnesota County Attorney's association. He has served as president of the Warren Lions club and has been active in Boy Scout work.

He was married to the former Margaret Strunk of Warren on Oct. 21, 1950. They have six children, David, Ann, Nancy, Linda, William and Steven.

Deadline for Federal Crop Insurance Nears

Normal deadline of April 15 for accepting new applications and additions to present Federal Crop insurance policies will be advanced if the state-wide quota is reached earlier, according to Harry L. Solberg, agent.

Solberg said that cost of Federal Crop insurance has decreased by almost one-third per dollar of protection since 1961 although actual cost per acre varies according to the area and the protection selected. Oats, barley, wheat and flax are crops covered in Pennington county.

New areas for insurance have been opened in the county, the agent said. In addition to guaranteed yield, discounts apply on the basis of loss-free experience. Premiums need not be paid in advance. For further information, contact Solberg or his representative at the ASCS office in the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Theft and Two Accidents Are Noted by Police

On the evening of March 31, two youths age 18 and 20 were apprehended by the local police department and charged of theft are pending after some auto parts were taken from a local auto wrecking firm. Apprehension of the two youths came through the cooperation of an alert local citizen, according to police officials.

On March 28 and on April 1, a local business place reported that two Timex watches were taken each of the dates. Total value of the four watches is $52.

On March 31 at 2:30 p.m., a car driven by Harold Green, rt. 1, leaving the city parking lot and making a left turn onto LaBree avenue, was struck in the left rear by a car driven by Ronald Foss, Viking. Damage to the Green vehicle was estimated at $100 while the Foss vehicle received $30 in damage.

A second traffic accident was reported by the police department on April 1 at 5 p.m., when a car driven by Clifford T. Jorde, rt. 2, was going west on Fifth street when he struck a car driven by Gary Erickson, city, who was traveling north on Horace avenue. Damage to the Jorde vehicle was $600 while damage to the Erickson vehicle was $350.

Longevin, Barry To Attend State Fire School

Thief River Falls fire chief Roy Langevin and deputy state fire marshal Pat Barry will attend the 1969 Minnesota State Fire school from April 28 to May 1 at the St. Paul Hilton hotel in St. Paul. The school is for all Minnesota firemen.

Participants in the fire school will be able to choose one of five separate training courses, each of which covers 15 hours of class and-or field application.

Five course areas are: general fire fighting; tactical procedure in fire fighting—solving tactical problems; fire pump operations; officer training; and fire inspector training. The classes in tactical procedures in fire fighting and in fire pump operations are new this year.

EVALUATION OF THE AUDIO communications course at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school last Wednesday was conducted by William Kiewel, manager of radio station KROX of Crookston, and Doug Tegtmeier, sports director of KNOX of Grand Forks.

Doing the evaluating in the accounting department were Phil Kays, center, manager of Holcomb accounting in Thief River Falls, and Eugene Nesland, owner of Nesland accounting, also of Thief River Falls.

42 Per Cent of Driver Victims Were Intoxicated

More than 42 out of every 100 driver victims of traffic fatalities last year whose blood was tested for alcoholic content by coroners were intoxicated, a Minnesota highway department report revealed.

Another six per cent had alcohol content levels indicating they may have been intoxicated, but below .10 per cent, the presumptive level of intoxication set by Minnesota statutes. Nineteen per cent had more than double the presumptive level.

Nearly half of the intoxicated driver victims were under age 25. The largest group was drivers from ages 21 through 24, who comprised 32 per cent of the total. Sixteen through 20-year-olds were second high with 17 per cent of the total.

Most critical hour for intoxicated driver victims was between one a.m. and two a.m., during which time one-fifth of the fatalities occurred. Of those who died during that period, nearly half had alcohol contents which were at least twice as high as the presumptive level.

Ten of the 51 pedestrians tested were intoxicated, and the same early morning period was also the most critical for them.

Testing of driver and pedestrian victims who die within four hours of a fatal traffic accident is a requirement under a law passed by the 1967 legislature. An amendment to this law, which would require coroners to take blood tests of all drivers involved in accidents fatal to others, is presently before the 1969 legislature.

Vietnam Medals Awarded to Sgt. Lynn G. Hiebert

Two honorary medals from the Republic of Vietnam have been awarded posthumously to Sgt. Lynn G. Hiebert who was killed in action on May 24, 1968. They were presented by Major Nielly, representing the commanding general of the Fifth U. S. Army, to Mrs. Vivian Hiebert of Thief River Falls, Lynn's mother.

Presented were the military merit medal and the gallantry cross with palm, both authorized by the office of the president of the Republic of Vietnam, and signed by Nguyen Van Thieu.

Awarded to a number of U.S. servicemen who died in Vietnam, the citation which accompanied the medals reads: "Servicemen of courage and rare self-sacrifice, they displayed at all times the most tactful cooperation while aiding the Armed Forces of the Republic of Vietnam to repel the Red wave undermining South Vietnam and Southeast Asia.

"With a ready zeal and commendable response, they fought on to the end in every mission and set a brilliant example for their fellow soldiers.

"They died in the performance of duty. Behind them they leave the abiding grief of their former comrades-in-arms, Vietnamese as well as American."

Small Watershed Projects Given President's O.K.

Congressman Odin Langen has praised President Nixon for recognizing and reaffirming the prerogative and intent of Congress to authorize small watershed projects.

"The last administration held up funds for 96 such projects after they had been approved by the House and Senate agriculture and public works committees," Langen explained. "The executive branch attempted to usurp the Congressional authority prescribed by law."

The President, in a letter to the department of agriculture which administers watershed project funds, removed the administration objections to Congressional handling of the projects.

The secretary of agriculture said that all 96 of the projects held up by the previous administration are now eligible to receive assistance, "consistent with funds available."

JUST BECAUSE WE'RE SIXTY

DOESN'T MEAN WE'RE OLD
The year 1909 seems like a long time ago.
Anyone born that year is the same age as Otter Tail Power — sixty.
Sixty doesn't really feel very old to us, however. It's true that earth-shaking changes have been made in those sixty years . . . in transportation, communications, business, industry, education, medicine — and in the manufacture, distribution and use of electricity.
Otter Tail, even though it is many times larger than in 1909, is still basically a small company intimately related to the people and to the area we serve.
Sixty is not really very old — either for people or for a company. But what we have learned in that half-century plus ten, we hope to use in our continuing effort to serve and improve the Otter Tail area.

IF You Have A COLD

Someone gave it to you. Unless you take cover—behind a handkerchief when you sneeze, after you come down with a cold—you will give it to someone else. And unless the fellow sniffing and coughing around you is more considerate, you may even get a second cold practically on top of your first . . . in other words, you have recovered from one type of cold virus, but there are many other types around.
There is no wonder drug or vaccine shot that will cure colds, flu, grippe. But we do know that colds are caused by tiny viruses passed from one person to another.

"So what is the goal of education? It is to polish all the facets of this gem we call human personality. A partly polished gem is not enough. Educate the physical and neglect the intellectual and the spiritual and you have a brute. Educate the intellect and neglect the spiritual and the physical and you have a freak. Educate the spiritual and neglect the intellectual and the physical and you have a bigot. But educate all the facets of a man's personality and you create—a full man—in the very image of his Creator." —Lester O. Schriver

Spirit of the Law

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, quotes Calvin Coolidge in his monthly message in the Law Enforcement Bulletin. "It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation," Coolidge said.

Just how bad is crime in America? Attorney General Mitchell is quite close in his assessment of the situation when he states: "Fear of crime—by the housewife and the schoolchild, by the merchant and the laborer—fear is forcing us, a free people, to alter our pattern of life, especially after sundown.....The evidence is conclusive. Crime is crushing us."

It is not enough to complain about crime. It is not enough to worry about crime. It is not enough to say that somebody ought to do something about crime. Americans must support law enforcement by cooperating in crime solution and in demanding high quality, properly staffed and funded law enforcement agencies. We must be willing to pay the price for this improved and increased enforcement, or we will pay the price by not having it.

Crime will not decrease so long as the percentage of being caught and punished lies with the criminal. Hoover says, "We must establish a united resistance against the criminal forces destroying the structure of our society, or we face chaos.

"If we are to live as civilized men and women, then we must make the law a paramount issue in our daily lives. In short, we must live by the spirit as well as the letter of the law. We must oppose crime with all the means at our command. Our cherished principles of freedom, liberty and justice cannot flourish where fear is dominant."

Cost of "Control"

The following editorial is from the March issue of the "American Rifleman" magazine:

The basic annual cost of a thorough Federal gun registration and owner licensing program has been estimated at $438,420,000 by competent private researchers retained by the U.S. Government.

This imposing figure does not include State expenditures which, as the research indicates, would be necessary to tie together Federal and State gun controls in a tidy, oppressive burden to legitimate gun ownership.

The research report states that while computerization would prove helpful, particularly in the rapid checking of an estimated 40 million or more fingerprinted American gun owners, the principal cost of this massive gun regulation program would be in salaries for staff personnel.

In other words, it would appear that the program would involve the building of a new Federal-State bureaucracy. Having said that, we shall say further that bureaucracy never remains static. It always grows. Washington, D. C., is living, over-crowded proof of that.

Once established, a Federal-State gun control system probably would, in a few years, cost the Nation a billion dollars a year or more. Surely there are many better ways of spending such a sum.

The avowed purpose of proposed gun controls is to suppress crime.

We submit here and now that excessive bureaucracy is in itself a form of crime against democracy.

The philosophy behind that thought and statement is not exclusively ours. We admit to being influenced by Thomas Jefferson.

Helps for Parents

In an effort to prevent shoplifting amoung youth, a retail merchants group in a western city recently distributed a booklet to junior and senior high school students warning them of the inherent dangers of this crime. The booklet stresses the fact that shoplifting is stealing and stealing is a criminal act. It presents eleven suggestions to assist parents in preventing and controlling this violation:

1. Shoplifting can be the beginning of bigger trouble for their children.
2. Children should understand that the shoplifter is a thief, not a prankster.
3. A police record can hurt their children's chances for jobs and education.
4. Knowledge of how much money their children have and the way they spend it is important.
5. What children bring into the house should be closely checked.
6. Knowing when, where, and why their sons and daughters are shopping is crucial.
7. Finding out what their community is doing about the problem and lending any support to civic causes would be most beneficial.
8. Youth should be taught that it is more courageous and virtuous to refuse to "go along with the crowd" than it is to follow blindly for fear of being called "Chicken."
9. Adults should be alert to a daughter who repeatedly shops with an extra-large handbag or shopping bag.
10. Clothes-swapping must be properly supervised.
11. Setting the right example is the responsibility of adults.

Wonderful Words

Rudyard Kipling's advice in the following poem is as good today as it was the day it was written, and the verses can be re-read several times for deeper meaning each time:

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting, too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good nor talk too wise.
If you can dream and not make dreams your master,
If you can think, and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with triumph and disaster,
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build'em up with worn-out tools;
If you can make one heap of all your winnings,
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold on!"
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And. . .which is more. . .you'll be a Man, my Son!

CAPITOL COMMENT

— BY
MARTY McGOWAN

Without actually saying so, Gov. Harold Levander has made an honest man of Rep. Martin Sabo. In recent weeks the house minority leader has been claiming the budget of the governor is short by about $100 million of being fully financed. Last week the governor admitted it is indeed short by $98.8 million.

The shortages come about as the minority leader indicated. There are three major areas: the reenactment of the federal income surtax, the impending shortages in the property tax relief fund and expenditures by the legislature for which the governor did not provide in his budget.

It was finally announced in Washington last week that the national administration does indeed need the reenactment of the federal income surtax. In his first budget proposal the governor hinted at this possibility but did not provide for the $40 million this would take from state revenue. The governor said if this happened he would make alternative suggestions for financing.

It was mentioned here recently about the shortage in the property tax relief fund, due to increased needs of municipalities and school districts. An additional $37.3 million is needed there.

Legislative expenditures not budgeted included $3.4 million for senior citizen tax relief, $10.2 million for a new teacher retirement plan being considered, $3.5 million for a new teacher retirement plan being considered, $3.5 million for a contingency fund for the Conservation department, $1.75 million for regional mental health centers, $500,000 for the state meat inspection program, $1.4 million for a deficit in the distressed school district account and $800,000 for job training for persons

So what is the governor's proposal to meet his added expense? Just delay two payments from the property tax relief fund for one month. It was learned that one payment from the fund is due June 15 and the other on June 30 of this year—just before the end of the fiscal year of the state. By not paying those payments until July the state will close its books for the year with about $98 million remaining—or just enough to meet all those obligations.

It's a canny move, all right. It can be done because municipalities and school districts operate on a calendar year from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 and a delay in receiving payments from the state fund of a few days doesn't matter to them.

As to what happens to this $98.6 million carried forward, the answer is quite astounding. It is said this will be carried forward as an obligation of the state forever. Justification for this position is that the only day of reckoning would come if the this position is that the only dy state went out of business. Since this is not considered likely the state can carry this as a debt to infinity.

In actual practice—mostly by bookkeeping—the state would pay the $98.8 shortage in the next fiscal year but then would carry over another $98.6 into the following year. This, of course, is on the premise that future legislatures fully fund all future expenditures. Its a one-shot deal similar to the $20 million picked up when the state instituted with-holding for collection of income taxes. That was loudly derided when DF-Liberals instituted that policy when they controlled the house of representatives, but was greatly appreciated by Republicans when they later took over and reaped the benefits of the windfall.

All of this fancy bookkeeping is being done now so no new taxes will have to be imposed by the current legislature. This will get the governor off the hook for the upcoming election campaign in 1970 and will enable him to say he balanced the budget without boosting the income or sales taxes.

Of course there is that pesky $98.8 million. It is reminiscent of the AlCapp cartoon character, Joe Btfsplk, who walks around with a perpetual rain cloud over his head. The $98.6 million — like the rain cloud—is still hanging overhead. The governor can pretend it isn't there and nobody has to worry about paying for it. The incident puts some tarnish on the shield of GOPartisans strong on fiscal integrity. One sort of wishes Staff King was still state auditor. That guardian of the state accounts for 38 years would undoubtedly have some choice words for this kind of fiscal shenanigans.

Governor LeVander Reports

Two months ago, I concluded my budget address by saying that the next two years of the "Decade of Decision" could be financed without major tax increases. I have real sympathy for the Minnesota taxpayer and would not recommend a major increase unless there were absolutely no other alternative.

Now, even though unforeseen pressures on the state treasury have forced us to come up with new budget recommendations, this administration is still committed to the same proposition —no new major taxes.

Even though the unanticipated demand for state funds appears to be nearly $100 million, we have found a way to provide that money without new taxes other than those minor increases in excise taxes I recommended in January.

This can be done simply by changing the dates for payouts to local governments from the property tax relief fund from June—which is the last month of the biennium—to July—which will be the first month of the following biennium.

By changing the dates, the state gains $98 million in the next biennium but the local governments who receive the funds lose nothing because they operate on a calendar year basis while the state is on the fiscal year basis. While it makes a big difference in state budgeting, it does not affect local budgeting.

Nor does the state assume an additional obligation in the next biennium. This is because the final payout in the next biennium also moves to July, or the first month of the following biennium. No extra obligation occurs in any one biennium as long as the State exists or until the law is changed.

In making the decision two recommend this answer to Minnesota's financial problems, I was faced with three possible choices:

1. Ask the Legislature to increase another $60 to $90 million in taxes on Minnesota residents who are already among the highest taxed in the nation.

2. Recommend that needed state services be cut back drastically.

3. Recommend the simple administrative change in the law which helps the state, yet hurts no one.

As you know, I chose the third alternative; and I think for very sound reasons. . .we can perform all necessary state services without major new taxes.

I believe it is noteworthy that the few from the opposition who have criticized have not yet explained which of the other two alternatives—raising taxes or cutting services — they would have chosen.

Memorials Given To Heart Fund

Gifts to the Heart Fund in memory of the late Mrs. E. A. Yonke of Thief River Falls were made recently and will be used for research into the causes and control of heart disease, according to David Drotts, memorial gifts chairman of Pennington county.

Heart memorials offer "a way of paying significant respect to relatives, friends and associates who have passed away, and give hope to the living by supporting projects designed to help reduce the toll of death and disability resulting from the various forms of heart and circulatory diseases," Drotts said.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In 1962, the advisors to the president of the United States, The Committee For Economic Development (CED) presented a plan to solve the farm problem. It was printed in a booklet form and entitled "AN ADAPTIVE PROGRAM FOR AGRICULTURE".

This program called for the liquidation of 2½ million farmers, the phasing out of farm programs, changing the Vo. Ag. departments of our schools to teach industry instead of Ag. Under this program the price of wheat would be reduced to $1.35 per bushel and corn to 98 cents and feed grains proportionaly low.

The final phase of the program calls for a cropland adjustment program (Soil Bank). Farmers are considered surplus and in some cases they should be retrained and rehabilitated. Keeping in mind that this plan was published in 1962 and that most of the features of the plan have now been fulfilled, we might ask the question, is $1.35 wheat a market price or part of a plan?

On March 18, 1969, Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, introduced a bill in congress, HR9009. The principal provisions of the bill is a five year plan during which, ALL ACREAGE CONTROL BASE ACREAGE, MARKETING QUOTAS, PROCESSING TAX, DIRECT PAYMENT FOR WHEAT, FEED GRAIN AND COTTON would be "PHASED OUT", at the rate of about 20 per cent a year so that by 1975, ALL acreage allotments, base acreage, marketing control, processing tax, direct payment for land diversion, certificates for wheat, feed grain and cotton would be DISCONTINUED.

It would continue the cropland adjustment program with ammendments, including bids for retirement of land, on a competitive basis with emphasis on bids for whole farms. The Secretary to retire at least 10 million acres a year for the years of 71-72-73-74-75.

Some farmers would be eligible for compensation for acreage allotments surrendered to the secretary for permanent cancellation and some would be eligible for retrain or adjustment assistance to facilitate transition to more gainful employment.

Congressmen act or react directly to the amount of mail from the people they represent. If you feel that it is in the best interest of your community, your church, your school to have all farm programs dropped and a ten million acre a year soil bank established don't bother to write your congressmen. The promoters of this bill will see to it that it is passed. But if you feel that rural America is entitled to full and decent consideration Better write—TODAY.

DOUGLAS M. HEAD
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

Predictions of record flooding in Minnesota this spring may attract into the state itinerant waterproofing salesmen hoping to cash in on the anxieties of homeowners worried about water damage to their basements.

Homeowners who now have minor water-leakage problems may, in anticipation that high water levels will complicate the problem, be easily persuaded to have their basements waterproofed as a precautionary measure.

Waterproofing a basement is an expensive undertaking, however. Depending on the size of the basement, the cost usually runs from $500 to $1,500.

Most waterproofing companies are reliable firms which deal honestly and fairly with their customers.

There are a few such companies, however, which charge outlandish prices for worthless service. An injunction was issued against one such company in 1965, when the state experienced serious flooding. One man complained that he paid the company $1,200 to have his basement waterproofed, and that his basement was in worse shape after they finished the job than before they started it.

Some waterproofing salesmen may try to persuade homeowners to waterproof their basements purely as a precautionary measure. Generally, it is unwise, however, to have a basement waterproofed unless there is some problem to begin with.

Waterproofing a basement will do little, if any, good any way if the water-level is higher than the foundation of the home. Waterproofing is generally done because of water seepage from under the house or from between the blocks.

Homeowners would be wise to avoid dealing with itinerant waterproofers. Instead, they should deal with local firms of known reliability.

Highway Rest Areas Planned for Area

By the summer of 1970, Minnesota motorists will find the inter-state and trunk highway systems in the state liberally dotted with rest areas, according to the Minnesota highway department.

In contract lettings for late May, bids for 12 rest areas with buildings at as many different trunk highway locations will be opened. In addition, several site grading projects will be included in the contracts and several will also call for drilling of fresh water wells.

Most of the construction is scheduled for completion by late summer; but despite completion, usually it takes a bit longer for the vegetation to set so by next year the sites will be ready to take the full impact of picnickers, restless youngsters and those weary drivers who want to get out and stretch their legs.

Seven of the projects scheduled for completion are on trunk highways and were graded and surfaced last year on existing tree covered areas. Plans call for the construction of concrete block buildings with modified hip roofs and a skylight in the roof. The comfort accommodations will be of the vaulted type construction. A well with hand pump will be part of the facilities as will picnic tables and benches.

Areas that the May lettings will include are:

Roseau on TH 11, two miles west of city; Manitou Rapids on Rainy river at Manitou Rapids on TH 11; Otter Tail Lake southwest of Otter Tail on TH 78; Shing-O-Bee day on Leech Lake south of Walker on TH 371; Mount Josephine near Grand Portage (Pigeon river) on TH 61; Long Lake north of Brainerd on TH 371 near Nisswa; and Knife lake seven miles north of Mora on TH 65.

In some of the above rest areas, foot trails to scenic views will be opened. Later, information boards will be installed for the public.

An additional five more rest areas will be up for bids that call for total site development including brick buildings with shed type roofs. The work on these areas will include road and parking area surfacing, fresh water wells and heating units, flush type toilets, lighting, landscaping and round cement cast picnic tables and benches. Information boards will be included as part of the building. These sites, which will be in the May lettings, include Daudetta on TH 72, which was graded, surfaced and lighted last summer. The May letting will include city sewer and water facilities along with that already named.

Contrary to those who believe that Minnesota doesn't have many roadside picnic and wayside areas, a tabulation of such shows there are 452 wayside areas, turnout and picnic areas on its primary and secondary highways on rural and urban sites.

The state trunk highway system has 266 rest and picnic areas, 107 of which have lavatory facilities. There are 100 historical and geological markers that include turnout areas, 86 scenic overlooks that permit stopping and parking and 58 lake and river access points that have boat launching areas and parking.

A total of 98 areas have some 279 fireplaces and the total number of picnic tables is over 1,100. In 53 rest areas drinking water is available.

In addition to these facilities on state highways there are a number of state forest campgrounds, state campgrounds, federal parks and campgrounds and many county campgrounds and parks. Many cities and towns in Minnesota have campgrounds, picnic and rest areas and parks. Private campgrounds and picnic areas are springing up in various areas of the state which cater to groups as well as individuals.

When all the facilities offering rest, comfort stations, picnic areas, turnout areas and camping grounds are listed in the state, they number over 700.

Gov. Endorses Trade Show Set For Bemidji

Governor Harold LeVander has endorsed the trade show scheduled for Bemidji May 1-4, according to Larry Lee, executive director of the show. LeVander said that he felt Minnesota can be a national leader in the travel and vacation industry.

"For this reason", he said "I wish to commend you and your associates for the development of the first annual northern Minnesota travel and vacation industry trade show. This is a decisive step in the promotion of this industry in Minnesota and elsewhere. In my opinion it offers additional conclusive evidence that Minnesota is becoming the leader in tourism."

Other state officials who have endorsed the show include Scott Benton, special assistant to LeVander; J. Kimball Whitney, commissioner of the department of economic development; and John Blonmer, state director of tourism.

"We expect almost 200 exhibitors of supplies and services that appeal to the hotel-motel and resort operators in the state," Lee said. "Nearly one-third of the exhibit spaces are filled already, and contracts were mailed to potential exhibitors only a few days ago."

Attendance is encouraged from operators of resorts, motels, food service and recreational enterprises from throughout Minnesota. The show will also be open to the general public.

Rubbish Burners Could Reduce Fire 25 Per Cent

Minnesota conservation department, looking ahead to the inevitable spring forest fire season, offered to send plans for a simple, safe rubbish burner to anyone asking for them.

"Burning of rubbish and debris in the open or in unsafe containers caused 25 per cent of the wildfires in Minnesota last year," said Clarence Buckman, director of the department's division of lands and forestry.

Safe containers are available at many hardware stores and other locations, he said, but they may also be made with little effort from the simple plan which calls for a 55 gallon steel barrel.

The rubbish burner plan is available at all lands and forestry offices and from Department headquarters, Centennial Building, St. Paul 55101.

Woman Charged With Defrauding Roseau Resident

A Des Moines, Iowa, woman who allegedly posed as an anti-communist investigator and reportedly planned to write a book showing Communist infiltration in agriculture, was arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Alexandria, Va., last week and charged with defrauding Gustav Kvean, Roseau, out of $190,705.30 during a 10 year period.

Arrested was Betty McConkey, who was apprehended and charged with fraud before a U.S. commissioner. She is being held in Alexandria in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Miss McConkey, who was in Roseau years ago as part of an anti-communist meeting, reportedly solicited the money through telephone calls and wires for her "anti-communist work." She allegedly told Kveen the money would be repaid by a Philadelphia man.

Organizations which news stories said were used as addresses to which Kveen was to send money, were the Wide Awake Anti-Communism Crusade of Des Moines or the Woodland Community Church or the Patriotic Youth Club of America. Later she reportedly solicited direclty to have money sent by wire to her.

The time through which Miss McConkey was alleged to have solicited money was from 1958 through part of 1968.

Miss McConkey reportedly originally began soliciting money for research for a book she told Kveen she was going to write on communist infiltration into agriculture. Later, it is alleged, she claimed she was doing research work for the Senate internal security committee. She had never been employed by the Senate sub-committee, nor had she appeared before the committee, it was reported. Removal proceedings have been instigated to have Miss McConkey brought to Minnesota to face the charges.

Badger Liquor Store Shows $24,196 Profit

Badger municipal liquor store showed a net profit of $24,196 from operations in 1968, according to the audit report made by Holcomb, Knudson & Co., certified public accountants.

Sales in 1968 were $149,838, compared to $127,160 for 1967, an increase of $22,678. Cost of goods sold was $97,488 for a gross margin of $52,350. Other income brought the total income to $53,000, or 35.37 per cent of the total sales.

Expenses totaled $29,440, giving a net income of $23,560. Discounts and miscellaneous income brought the total net profit to $24,196, or 16.15 per cent in 1968, even though total expenses increased $2,433.

The balance sheet shows that the liquor store has current assets of $40,197 and fixed assets of $13,345. Prepaid insurance comes to $513 for total assets of $54,055.

Liabilities total $11,440 and the liquor store has a surplus of $42,615.

Gas Tax Brings In $1 Million Every Hour

The gasoline tax, 50 years old this year, brings in $1 million an hour, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

The first gasoline tax, called by some the "painless penny," was levied in Oregon in February of 1919 to provide money for highway construction. The late Loyal M. Graham, the legislator who sponsored the tax measure, said he never thought the idea would spread.

But by 1929 every state and the District of Columbia had gasoline taxes, and the federal government joined them in 1932. The average state gasoline rate today is 6.8 cents a gallon; the federal levy four cents.

Total state and federal motor fuel tax collections for 1969 will come close to $9 billion—more than the revenue derived from any other commodity. The cumulative total during the past half-century was more than $120 billion.

Strandquist Is Named to Head Twp. Officers

Ervin Strandquist, Newfolden, was reelected president of the Marshall County Township Officers association at the annual meeting held at Newfolden on March 22.

Henry Brummer, Renville, a representative of the Minnesota Township Officers association, was a guest speaker during the meeting. Other speakers included Loran Stortroen, Climax, president of the Polk county township officers; Charles Cheney, county auditor; Milan Sorenson, county treasurer; and Members of the county board of commissioners. Strandquist also made several brief comments concerning the operation and value of township governments.

Cancer Society In State Lists Distribution

Out of each Minnesota dollar contributed to the American Cancer society in 1967-68, 43 cents were spent on research in the state, the society's Minnesota division has reported.

The society also disclosed that nine cents of each dollar were spent on fund-raising. This is the cost per dollar to provide materials and conduct the activities through which approximately 50,000 volunteers—housewives, business and professional men, clerks, farmers and others—obtain public support in the form of contributions to the society for cancer control programs.

Public education activities, to furnish Minnesotans with the basic facts about cancer's symptoms, incidence and methods of treatment, took 19 cents of each dollar.

Six cents was spent on keeping physicians, dentists and nurses informed of current developments in diagnosis, care and treatment of cancer.

Service to cancer patients received a 13-cent allocation. This service included making available to patients such free-of-charge items as dressings, loan equipment for home use and rehabilitation publications.

Management and general expense to meet the cost of overall direction of the Minnesota division required the expenditure of six cents of each dollar spent in the state.

The total part of each dollar expended in Minnesota was 87 cents, or a total of $800,052, the society said.

The balance of each dollar, 13 cents, went to support the national society's program development and fellowships, plus additional research, or a total of $119,275.

Preliminary figures indicate that some 32,450 holes were drilled for oil in the U.S. in 1968, an increase of about 200 over 1967. But the number of dry holes increased by 400. Of the 8,200 exploratory wells drilled in 1968 in search of new fields, 85 per cent were dry holes.

Tuberculin Tests To Be Given in Red Lake County

"Be sure with a tuberculin test," urges Mrs. Allen Huot of Red Lake Falls, chairman of the Red Lake County Respiratory Health council, in announcing tuberculosis checkups in Red Lake county schools. Christmas Seal funds will be used to defray expenses.

Nurses employed by the Minnesota Respiratory Health association will administer the tuberculin tests.

Tests will be given Monday, April 14, to pupils in selected grades, transfer students and employees of the Red Lake Falls school at 9 a.m.; St. Joseph's school, 10:30 a.m.; Plummer school, 11:30 a.m.; Brooks school, 1 p.m.; and Oklee school, 1:45 p.m.

Everyone tested will be checked Wednesday, April 16, and if any person tested reacts to the tuberculin, the injection spot will be thickened. This indicates the person has been exposed to tuberculosis. It does not tell if he has active tuberculosis. An annual chest X-ray to determine if the TB germs in the body are causing any damage to the lungs is recommended.

New drugs and advanced methods have resulted in improved treatment of tuberculosis, but early detection remains an important factor. The tuberculin test is a case-finding tool. It helps to pinpoint early tuberculosis in a community and bring it under treatment.

High Water Coming

This may be the worst Spring in recent history for floods. One practice, that of land drainage, makes the prospects even more serious. The famous conservationist Dick Dorer once said, "When man makes water run off the land when God intended it to walk, nothing but disaster will follow." When Dick made this remark on the "Minnesota Outdoors" television program several years ago, he predicted the Winnipeg flood. So when and if you experience floods this Spring, you can thank the practice of draining land for part of the trouble.

Dog Will Be Dogs

Did you hear what happened at Fergus Falls? Sportsmen's organizations and other public minded citizens got together on a deer feeding program. While enjoying the feast, several of the deer were killed by attacking animals. Not wolves—but dogs!!! We repeat a statement made in this column on many occasions...much of the killing of sheep and deer by marauding animals is done by dog packs...not wolves if the bounty system is effective in predator control, why not a bounty on dogs???

Date Book

The first annual Northern Minnesota Travel and Vacation industry Trade show will be held in Bemidji on May 1, 2, 3 and 4. It will be held in that city's new 33,000 square foot ice arena.

The Jaycees at Park Rapids will hold the Jaycee Logging Days on July 18, 19 and 20th.

'Sport'?????

This winter we heard about the 'sport' of chasing a fox with a snowmobile...then running over the animal or killing it with a club. We wondered about laws and asked about them. The following letter was sent by D. J. Murray Administrative Assistant, Division of Enforcement and Field Service, Department of Conservation, State of Minnesota:

"Per your request on snowmobile policy, Commissioner Leirfallom has publicly and emphatically expressed his displeasure over this activity. Chief conservation officer, Paul Martz, has instructed his men in the field to make a citizen's arrest when running over animals is observed. Such arrests would be made under the 'cruel and inhuman' treatment of animals laws, which is not part of the game and fish code. The conservation department is drawing a bill which would officially authorize conservation officers in their official capacity to arrest people running over animals."

Problem Solved?

What to do with all the snow? Dewey Bergquist, the popular weather man of WDAY - TV, received a letter with this solution:

"In our town we haul the snow by truck to the high school athletic field where we burn it. Our problem is what to do with the ashes."

Two Regulars Return For Prowler Baseball Squad

by Bob Wielinski
Times Sports Writer

In his 17th year as head coach of the Thief River Falls Prowler baseball team, Ralph Skay looked over the number of returning lettermen—10—but stated, "not very much experience in this bunch". By this he meant that out of the 10 lettermen only three saw extended action for the Prowlers last year.

Only two of the 10 back from last year's squad, which finished as Region Eight runner-up, were regulars on that squad, while the other played about one-third of the time. Regulars back are seniors Dana Stromberg and Tony Johnson; the third member is Don Balmer, a junior.

Around these three Skay will have to build his team, which began working out in the National Guard armory on March 31. Stromberg played third base last year and also did some pitching for the Prowlers, while Johnson played second base or catcher. This year both are expected to see a lot of action at these positions while Stromberg will also be used at the shortstop position. Johnson this year is also listed as a possible pitcher and shortstop, along with catching and playing second base.

Balmer will more than likely be the catcher this year, as that is where he saw all his action last year. He is also listed as a second baseman and leftfielder, as all those listed on the team must be able to play at least two positions.

Skay, in his 16 years as head coach, has won 12 District 31 titles and three Region Eight crowns. He owns a 221-64-2 record over the years and is the Prowlers winningest coach.

Missing from last year's squad are Tommy Tunberg, pitcher and first baseman, Dennis Ptacek, pitcher and first baseman; Nicki Drees, shortstop; Mark Haugen, outfielder, Rocky Wilson, outfielder; Bruce Prichard, pitcher and infielder; and Mark Lund, outfielder.

Other senior letterman back for Skay this year, but who saw very little action, is senior Dan Bredin, listed as a leftfielder, pitcher and third baseman. Junior lettermen back this year are Steve Daley, outfielder and shortstop; Tim Duke, pitcher, first baseman and leftfielder; Larry Lee, shortstop, leftfielder and second baseman; Goedy Peterson, third base, shortstop and leftfielder; and Danny Sullivan, pitcher, centerfielder and first baseman. The lone sophomore letterman back is Jerry Morben, catcher and leftfielder.

A total of 33 boys reported to practice on March 31 and Skay already has cut the squad down to 26. He hopes that before the middle of this week the squad will be down to 20 or 22 players, with 18 players dressing for games. Skay stated, "According to Twins manager Billy Martin, cutting is a big problem."

Others out for the squad this year are juniors Dennis Johnson, outfielder; Dale Gilbertson, second baseman and shortstop; Bruce Broughton, outfielder and second baseman; John Hellquist, outfielder and Bill Gallilher, outfielder and first baseman.

Sophomores competing for a position on the squad are Mike Hamerlinck, pitcher and first baseman; Brian Peterson, second baseman and pitcher; Mark Wangberg, second baseman and outfielder; Ken Lindquist, pitcher and third baseman; Skip Bridger, catcher and outfielder; Dale Hanson, third baseman, first baseman and pitcher; and Jerald Myers, outfielder.

Freshmen listed on the squad are Steve Joppru and Mike Hamilton, both pitchers and shortstops; Tom Wurst, catcher and outfielder; and Neil Nelson, third baseman and second baseman.

Of those listed above, Hamerlinck, Brian Peterson and Wangberg were listed as members of last year's team while Dale Gilbertson was cut from the squad a year ago. All the others are new to the sport for the Prowlers, with Johnson and Broughton coming over from the track squad of a year ago.

The Prowlers open their 16-game schedule at Moorhead on Saturday, April 19. They have 11 home games and five road games scheduled this year. The north half of sub-district 31, along with the District 31 and Region 8 tournaments will be held at Thief River Falls this year.

The complete schedule is as follows with home games in capitol letters:

April 19—at Moorhead, 11 a.m.; 23—GOODRIDGE, 5 p.m.; 25—RED LAKE FALLS, 5 p.m.; 29—at Warren, 5 p.m.

May 1—ALVARADO, 5 p.m.; 2—at Bemidji, 4:30 p.m.; 3—MOORHEAD, 5 p.m.; 5—FERTILE, 5 p.m.; 6—at Roseau, 5 p.m.; 8—at Crookston, 4:30 p.m.; 9—BEMIDJI, 5 p.m.; 12—ROSEAU, 7:30 p.m.; 15—CLIMAX, 7:30 p.m.; 16—CROOKSTON, 7:30 p.m.; 17—WARROAD, 5 p.m.; 19—WARREN, 7:30 p.m.

Forest Industry Hurt by Mixed Land Ownership

The badly mixed land ownership pattern in northern Minnesota is a severe handicap to the management and development of natural resources and the forest industries, according to a study just completed by the conservation department.

Results of the study, which was authorized by the 1967 legislature, are contained in a report released to the legislature and land management agencies a short time ago.

Jarle Leirfallom, Minnesota conservation commissioner, said the report clearly paints out the problems faced by natural resource agencies—including the conservation department—in trying to manage their lands properly.

"State, national, county and industrial forest projects overlap and each lacks the consolidated type of ownership needed for good planning and administration," he said.

"Land exchanges are urgently needed to consolidate ownership of lands into units large enough to permit efficient management.

"But before the state and counties can proceed with land exchanges they must classify their lands to determine which are suitable for management as parks, wildlife units or forests and how the remaining lands should be disposed of," Leirfallom added.

These other lands should be classified for permanent or temporary retention, sale or exchange, he indicated.

The department's division of lands and forestry supervised the study through R. N. Cunningham, chief consultant, and his assistants Paul J. St. Amant and Jacob N. Licke.

Close cooperation between the various public and private land owners is essential to the solution of Minnesota's land ownership problems, Leirfallom said.

Windbreaks and Nesting Areas Aid Pheasants

An important step in rebuilding Minnesota's pheasant population after the past winter will be creation of better windbreaks and safe nesting areas, the conservation department advised today.

Since nearly 99 per cent of the land in the main pheasant range is in private ownership, most of this work will have to be done by the private land owner, according to Richard Wettersten, state game and fish director.

Chief cause of the severe losses suffered this winter was lack of good cover, he said.

"In some areas, farmstead groves and windbreaks provided the only cover for pheasants after the ditches and sloughs were filled by snow.

"Many more birds can survive in these sites if additional plantings are made to improve them," Wettersten said. Where no windbreaks presently exist, or the planting is not adequate, farmers should consider planting them because of their value in reducing wind chill and collecting snow before it covers the farm yeard, he said.

Minnesota's pheasant range is also badly in need of more safe nesting cover if these popular game birds are ever to be restored to near their former abundance. Plantings of legumes and grasses that can be left unmowed until at least August 1 are essential, Wettersten said.

In order to encourage plantings of windbreaks and nesting cover, the U.S. department of agriculture, through its ASCS offices, and the Minnesota conservation department are offering financial assistance that will pay much of the cost of establishing such plantings.

The ASCS will pay up to 80 per cent of the planting cost while the conservation department, through its private land habitat improvement program, will pay an additional 20 per cent of the cost of the planting stock.

To qualify for the conservation department cost sharing, the land owner must plant a windbreak that contains at least 10 rows of trees and shrubs. This is the minimum found to be of benefit to wildlife during severe weather.

Landowners seeking additional information on the program or who wish to take part in it should contact the county ASCS office or the nearest conservation department game manager.

A booklet titled "For Landowners and Wildlife" which describes how the program works is available without cost from the Minnesota Conservation Department, 350 Centennial Building, St. Paul 55101.

Northwest Peace Officers Elect Brekke President

Dennis Brekke, Marshall county deputy sheriff, was elected new president of the Northwest Peace Officers association at a recent meeting in Roseau.

Richard Dionna, Stephen chief of police, was elected vice president, and Anthony Kozojed, former member of the Thief River Falls police department and currently a Minnesota highway patrolman stationed at Warren, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Stromberg Signs Letter of Intent To North Dakota

Dana Stromberg, outstanding Thief River Falls Lincoln high school athlete, notified University of North Dakota football coach Jerry Olson that he will enroll at UND next fall.

Olson indicated that the 6-3, 180-pound Stromberg signed a letter of intent to the college on Thursday.

Of Stromberg's decision, Olson had the following to say: "We are thrilled that Dana decided to become part of our athletic program. We all feel he has a fine athletic career ahead of him here.

"Dana proved through his high school career that he has the ability and drive to become an outstanding college player. We are most happy that he has decided to enroll at UND."

Stromberg joins Prowler teammate Sheldon Joppru, who also signed a tender to UND on Tuesday.

Stromberg has been a three-sport star at Lincoln, lettering in football, hockey and baseball. Last fall he was named as honorable mention to the all-state football team and was named to the Northwest conference all-conference team at quarterback.

In addition to his athletic activities, Dana has been active in other school activities. He has held several school offices, including president, vice-president and treasurer of the student council at Lincoln. He was also captain of the Prowler hockey team this past winter.

Stromberg lists as one of his standout memories in sports at Lincoln the 60-7 football victory over Grand Forks Red River last fall.

Stromberg has indicated that he plans to major in counseling and guidance at UND.

He picked UND because it has a fine reputation in all fields and has a strong football program, according to the UND news release.

Dana is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stromberg of Thief River Falls.

19th Athletic Banquet Tickets Are Being Sold

Tickets for the 19th annual Thief River Falls Lincoln high school and Northland state junior college athletic banquet are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office and the Lincoln high school attendance office, according to Ralph Skay, athletic director at the school.

Main speaker for the banquet, which will be held on April 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the basement of St. Bernard's church, will be Jim Klobuchar, columnist for the Minneapolis Star.

Club Elects New Officers for '70

Election of officers was the main order of business at the regular meeting of the Brooks Ski-Doo racing club held at the Third Base lounge in Brooks on March 30.

Elected were Marc Parenteau, chairman; Paul Cyr, secretary; and Aurel Parenteau, treasurer. The meeting was attended by 22 interested racers, with 10 or 12 probably racing on next year's team.

Membership dues were set at $10 a year, and it was also decided that all team members will wear identical uniforms and head gear at racing events next season.

Discussion was held regarding the purchase of an old school bus or some similar vehicle to be used for transportation and shop work, while attending week end racing events in the area.

Several ideas were presented for fund raising, including a possible summer snowmobile race. The Brooks firm was urged to apply for manufacturer or distributor backing for the racing group.

The group will participate in all racing classes next year, both stock and modified, and powderpuff and junior events will be entered.

Present Awards at Banquet on Tuesday

More than 200 persons witnessed the presentation of community and area service awards Tuesday evening when the Thief River Falls Jaycees held the annual Boss-Employee banquet in the American Legion club rooms.

Bert Jones, past president of the Minnesota Jaycees, challenged the audience to take an active part in community affairs, to take a stand on issues and to work to correct what they believed to be wrongs in their community. He urged individuals to become involved in their communities, to offer advice to community leaders but to offer assistance as well.

Five awards were presented to individuals for outstanding service in their fields and in the community. James Winjum, owner of the Hartz supermarket, was named the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award as the community's outstanding young man.

D. H. Stewart, president of Stewart and Walker, Inc., and consulting engineer for the city of Thief River Falls, was selected as the outstanding boss. Patrick Klemisch, earlier selected as teacher of the year by the Thief River Falls education association, was named outstanding young educator.

Kenneth Sanders, who farms in Cloverleaf township west of Goodridge, was announced as the outstanding young farmer. Edgar Naplin of rural Red Lake Falls was the first recipient of the Jaycees' outstanding senior farmer award.

Paul Teeuwen served as master of ceremonies for the evening and the invocation was given by Rev. Frank Reid. Welcome was given by Art Heinze, president of the sponsoring Jaycee chapter.

Outstanding Young Man

Winner of the DSA award as outstanding young man, 35-year-old James Winjum is a native of Thief River Falls. A 1956 graduate of the University of North Dakota, he worked with his father in the grocery business for a number of years and became a partner in 1957. Betty Lind Is Author of Newly Published Book

"I Am Thing" is the title of a new book by Betty Lind, formerly of Thief River Falls and author of several other books, the first of which was "Psychotics, Neurotics and Bridge Players".

Now Mrs. Robert Mead of Santa Fe, N. M., Betty Lind bases her new book on a "thing" which her daughter Jennifer (who was born in Thief River Falls) rescued from a trash can. It wasn't a doll or an animal—just a sort of "thing" which Jenny loved and which became a family mascot.

"Thing" is the hero of the book, written by Betty and illustrated by Jenny, now Mrs Jennifer Lind Masterson of Albuquerque. "Thing" shares the growing up problems with Jenny and her pets, George the cat, Cary Grant the dog and a bad tempered duck with blue eyes. The adventures are seen and the story is told through the eyes of "Thing".

Armless, legless "Thing" now occupies a place of honor on the coffee table at the Mead home at 700 Camino del Monte Sol in Santa Fe. Betty writes a weekly bridge column for the "New Mexican", is a teacher and lecturer and plays competition bridge. Her new book is published by Carlton Press, Inc., 84 Fifth avenue, New York 11, N. Y. It sells for $2 plus 30 cents for postage, packing and handling.

John Efteland-Linda Holte Vows Exchanged at Grygla

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Efteland are at home in Moorhead following an exchange of marriage vows at the Grace Lutheran church in Grygla.

The bride, the former Miss Linda Holte, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Holte of Grygla. The groom is the son of Mrs. Myles Efteland of Thief River Falls and the late Myles Efteland.

Rev. Gary Olson officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with candelabra. Mrs. Walter Jelle was the organist. She played the traditional wedding marches and also accompanied Miss Jerline Holte, a cousin of the bride, as she sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory nylon organza and Alencon lace over taffeta. At the slightly scooped neckline, she wore a pendant with a diamond and purple sapphire setting, a gift from the groom. An organza petal headpiece outlined with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of nylon net. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and cascading garlands of stephanotis and camellia foliage.

Mrs. Golen Dahlen attended her sister as matron of honor. Miss Victoria Efteland, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Both wore deep purple velvet gowns styled with puffed sleeves and A-line skirts. To complete their attire, they wore lilac shoes, white lace gloves and pearl earrings, gifts from the bride. Each carried a cascade bouquet consisting of a large purple iris and white daisies.

Jacqueline Dahlen, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was attired in a white dress and headpiece and carried a white wicker basket filled with daisies. Robert Miller, a nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Serving the groom were Pat Fischer as best man and David Anderson as groomsman. They are friends of the groom, as were the ushers, David Gustafson and Bruce Radtke.

The men of the wedding party and the ring bearer were attired in black tuxedos. The groom's boutonniere was a sprig of stephanotis taken from his bride's bouquet and the others had carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a gold colored knit dress with matching hat and brown accessories. The mother of the groom wore a rose knit dress, accented with black accessories. Both wore matching corsages of tea roses and carnations.

Attending as honor guests were Mr and Mrs. Victor Norquist and Mrs. Ragna Efteland, grandparents of the groom, and Pete Holte, grandfather of the bride.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends attended the reception that followed in the church parlors. Hosted by the parents of the bride, the reception was served by members of the Debra circle.

The four-tiered, all-white wedding cake, separated by pillars, was trimmed with white wedding bells and topped by a bouquet of daisies. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Ervin Vigen, godmother of the bride, and Mrs. Sam Brattell, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Luther Anderson, aunt of the bride, poured.

Mrs. Richard Miller, a sister of the bride, presided at the guest book while Georgia Anderson, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs Richard Johnson, a friend of the bride, served the punch. Serving as gift bearers were LeeAnn Holte, sister of the bride, and Jeff Efteland, brother of the groom. Susan Vigen and Marla Holte arranged the gifts and the waitresses were Beverly Johnson and Nancy Blaine.

Relatives and friends attending were from Fargo, N. D.; Minneapolis, Moorhead, Bemidji and the towns in this surrounding area.

Cancer Crusade In Marshall Co. Well Underway

Marshall county's annual Cancer Crusade has already received $1,225.20 from 15 townships, five villages and four memorials, although the official opening date for this crusade was April 1, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ranstrom, crusade co-chairmen, report. The 1969 crusade quota for Marshall county is $2,600.

April has been designated for a number of years as Cancer Control month. The life saving theme of the American Cancer society continues to be "Help yourself with a check-up and a check." In 1969 it is estimated that Minnesota will have 11,000 new cases of cancer, and that there will be 940,000 Americans under medical care for this disease.

Cancer can strike anyone at any age. It can affect children as well as adults. More children die of cancer than of any other disease.

However, national cancer facts and figures give encouraging reports. There are today 1,500,000 Americans who have been cured of cancer. By "cured" is meant that after five years of treatment they show no evidence of the disease. Thus one cancer patient out of three is now restored to health.

Townships and villages from this area which have already contributed are as follows, with township, chairman and amount listed respectively:

Comstock, Ellsworth Zutz, $36.
East Valley, Mrs. Johnnie Nelson, $11.00.
McCrea, Hobert Jones, $70.00.
Marsh Grove, Mervin Knutson, $36.75
Rollis, Ingvald Anderson, $30.00
Thief Lake, John Cwikla, $15.00
Middle River, village, Frank Thorson, $73.70, and Newfolden village, Mrs. Agnes Larson, $123.50

The following have accepted chairmanship of their township crusades and are now conducting their drives:

Agder, Mrs. Eddie Anderson.
Espelie, Mrs. Alvin Blaine.
Excel, Mrs. Marlan Augustine.
Foldahl, Ervin Strandquist.
Holt, George Moberg

The following villages are also conducting their crusades now:

Restad Attends Traffic Safety Course Recently

Clayton Restad, driver's education instructor at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, attended the second annual conference of the Minnesota Driver and Traffic Safety Education association held at Stillwater recently. Sponsored by the association and the state department of education, the meeting brought together experts from education, safety, industry and government for information exchange and planning.

Participants in the conference represented most Minnesota school districts engaged in driver education. In addition to the intensive instruction given new youthful drivers enrolled in public, parochial and private schools, an increasing demand for training exists from adult groups and industries wishing to upgrade the skills of experienced drivers. The conference is expected to help the driver and safety educators of the state fill this need.

Feed Grain and Wheat Acres May Not Be Grazed

Farmers were reminded today that the "no grazing" period for land diverted from production under the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs will start April 1. It will continue for the following five months until September 1.

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, explained that producers who are diverting land under the programs have agreed not to graze the land being diverted during a specific five month period of the growing season and not to harvest a crop from the land at any time during the year.

Farmers who are taking part in the conservation reserve and cropland adjustment programs have agreed not to graze or harvest crops from land diverted under these programs during the life of the agreements. These provisions are important to producers because any violation of them may result in reduction or total loss of payments otherwise earned under the programs.

Marshall county producers signed up to participate in the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs number about 1,000.

April 15th Is Deadline To File 1968 Earnings

April 15 is the deadline for social security beneficiaries who earned over $1,680 in 1968 to file annual reports of their earnings with the Social Security administration, according to a reminder from Clifford Kittelson, district manager.

All earned income should be included in the report. Earned income is the total of gross wages plus net earnings from self-employment.

Income from tips and the value of wages in kind need to be included in gross wages. Farmers who do not have their land rented out but have it in the soil bank or similar programs must include such income.

Each beneficiary may earn as much as $1,680 without making this annual report. Each dependent beneficiary must report if he earned over $1,680.

Anyone who was 72 on Feb. 1, 1968, or earlier need not file a report. He was entitled to benefits for all months in 1968 regardless of how large his earnings were.

Any beneficiary needing a report form may get one from his nearest social security office.

Yard'n Garden

University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service

Starting annuals from seed indoors provides early bloom in the garden and lengthens the season of bloom. A common mistake is starting the plants too early, resulting in oversized, leggy plants. Snapdragons and pansies should be started about 10 to 12 weeks before they're transplanted in the garden. Annual phlox, salvia, petunias, sweet alyssum and ageratum should be planted 8 to 10 weeks prior to planting into the garden. Most other flowers should be planted 6 to 8 weeks before planting out of doors.

Containers used to start seedlings indoors should be 2 to 4 inches deep. Holes in the bottom for drainage are essential.

A good soil mixture for starting seed should contain three parts garden loam, two parts organic matter and one part coarse sand. The organic matter can be compost, leaf mold or peat. The mixture should be sterilized to kill disease organisms, insects and weed seed. The soil should be moist. Place the soil in a shallow pan and heat it in an oven with the temperature at 180 degrees for 30 minutes.

Overfill the seed containers with soil to allow room for watering. Place the soil in the containers that will be used to start the seedlings. The soil should be lightly tamped to eliminate depressions. Before planting, treat the seed with a fungicide to prevent disease organisms from attacking the seedlings.

The seed should be spread sparingly over the soil surface. Cover the seed with soil to a depth two to three times the diameter of the seed. Label the container with the variety and planting date.

Water and warmth will cause the seed to germinate. Gently syringe the seed container with water, and avoid disturbing the seed. A better method of watering is subirrigating the container by placing it in a pan containing one-half inch of water. The water will rise to the surface by capillary action. When the water reaches the surface it should be removed from the pan of water.

Another common mistake made by those starting plants from seed is not giving them enough light. Plants with inadequate light will be spindly and weak. Often they will be bent towards the light source.

RISING WATER due to rapid snow melt, rainfall and blocked ditches resulted in damage to the Junction Antique and Variety building west of Thief River Falls along highway 1. Clarence Amiot, owner of the business, told the Times that the building had about two inches of water on the floor. Most of the firm's stock was moved to avoid water damage, but the building has been closed for business until the water recedes and cleanup can be completed. Until that time, Amiot can be contacted at his home.

Major Vandalism, Theft, Mishaps Noted by Police

Thief River Falls police department was kept busy over the weekend, as police investigated a number of accidents, a theft and vandalism.

The vandalism was reported on Sunday at the United Methodist church now under construction. It was discovered that obscenities were written on the walls with spray paint, and paint being poured and spread over the floor of the church. Damage to the building is estimated at $450 as to repaint walls and replace textured vinyl wall panels which were damaged by the paint.

Information received from the Marshall county sheriff's department indicated that two juveniles admitted the theft of snowmobile parts which were taken during the months of December and January. The Pennington county sheriff and Thief River Falls police chief traveled to Warren where the two juveniles were questioned and admitted taking the parts. The two departments are still investigating the case.

On April 3, a local car dealer reported that a spare tire and wheel were taken from a 1968 Dodge pickup. The wheel is white in color and the tire is a Goodyear 825x15, valued at $25.

On April 3 at 4:35 p.m., a car driven by Daryle Voecks, city, was going west on Sixth street and then turned north on Duluth avenue while being pursued by the local police department. Voecks, who was driving without a driver's license, tried to switch position with Craig Folkedohl, and in the process struck a car owned by Edwin Senum, city. Damage to the Voecks vehicle was $200 while the Senum vehicle sustained $150 in damage.

On April 4 a juvenile girl, age 12, was apprehended in a local store and turned over to the police department for investigation of shoplifting.

It was noted that on April 4 the red light on top of a Thief River Falls police squad car was broken by two juvenile boys. This is still under investigation by the police department.

On Sunday at 12:35 p.m., a car driven by Kenneth Gustafson, Prince Albert, Sask., was going east on Second street when it collided with a car driven by Dale Longtin, Red Lake Falls, who was going north on Duluth avenue. Damage to the Gustafson vehicle was $600 while the Longtin vehicle was in total loss. Longtin was taken to Northwestern hospital where he was treated for a cut and a broken rib.

On April 7 it was reported that the Viking cafe was broken into and some $340 in cash taken. The police department and Minnesota crime bureau officials are investigating the theft.

Also on April 7, Darrel Bakke, city, reported the theft of a tool box, gray in color and containing carpet laying tools, which was taken from his garage. The tools are valued at $125.

On April 8 it was reported that two tires were taken from the city electrical department. The value of the two tires is $50.

Answer Questions on Federal Income Tax

These questions frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—Were there any changes in the tax law last year I should know about when I file my 1968 return?

A—Adoption of a surtax in 1968 was the major change. This surtax will increase the amount of income tax most individuals will pay for 1968 by 7½ percent. A line has been added to the tax form to help taxpayers make this calculation and it is explained in the instructions that come with the tax form.

Q—If I send in my return now, how long will it take to get my refund?

A—Refund claims filed now can be processed and the check issued in 5-6 weeks. Returns filed in April take longer to process, because of the high volume of returns received at that time.

Any error on the return, such as a mistake in figuring the new tax surcharge or a missing social security number or signature, will cause delays. If your refund is delayed, wait at least 10 weeks from the time you filed before writing IRS about it.

Q—I support my grandson. Can I claim him as a dependent even though he did not live with me?

A—Generally, you can if you provided more than one-half of the child's support, and the other dependency tests are met.

The dependency requirements are explained in the tax instructions.

Q—I collected state unemployment benefits last year. Do I declare them as income?

A—No, state unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

Q—Do I have to report my company pension as income?

A—If the company paid the entire cost of the pension, the amounts you received usually will be fully taxable. If you paid part of the cost, only a portion of your pension benefits will be taxed.

If you will recover the total amount of your contributions within three years after you receive the first payment, your pension will not be taxed until you have recovered your cost. If you will not recover the amount of your contributions within the three years, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year. Additional information is contained in the instructions for Schedule B of Form 1040.

Q—I've just turned 65. Will this make any difference as far as taxes go?

A—Yes, there are various benefits the law provides for taxpayers 65 years of age and over. Taxpayers 65 and over are allowed an extra exemption because of age. If you are presently employed and have taxes withheld from your wages, you may want to file a new withholding statement, Form W-4, with your employer to claim the extra exemption for age, to reduce the amount your employer withholds.

Q—I live some distance from my job and as a result drive over 300 miles a week just back and forth to work. Can I deduct anything for this?

A—Commuting is considered a personal expense under the tax laws and no deduction is allowed for it. If you itemize your deductions, however, you may deduct the state and local gas taxes you pay.

Q—We supported our daughter until she married in December. Can we claim her as a dependent?

A—If your daughter does not file a joint return with her husband and the other dependency tests were met, you may claim her as a dependent. However, she would not be disqualified if she and her husband file jointly only to obtain a refund and were not required to file returns.

Q—Do you have to be 65 to claim the retirement income credit? I retired at 62 and the credit would help me.

A—If you received a pension or annuity under a public retirement system (one established by the Federal Government, a state, county, city, etc.) you may be entitled to a retirement income credit even though you are not 65. This credit, which is computed on Schedule B (Form 1040), is discussed on page B-3 of the instructions.

Copies of the form and instructions may be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q—It's been more than six weeks since I sent in my return. Shouldn't I have my refund by now?

A—Yes, most refund claims filed early can be processed in five to six weeks. However, if there is a mistake on the return, the refund will be delayed until it is corrected.

Practically all taxpayers have either received their refund or a letter about it within 10 weeks from the time they filed their return. Therefore, taxpayers should wait at least 10 weeks before inquiring about their refund.

Q—Do I have to send in the statement on bank interest I received?

A—This statement on interest earned does not have to be attached to tax returns. Report this income on your return as it is taxable.

The Library Corner

by Flora Allison

By the time you read this, the season of Lent will have passed, and Easter with it, and demands on this librarian's time haven't allowed complete coverage of these awesome events as they relate to the library and our part on supplying reading for these seasons.

There have been many regular users who have found these spiritual treasuries on which to draw, as proven by the number of religious and contemplative books checked out; we are happy to see that they have gone ahead on their own and hope that the trend continues. But do remember that we are here to serve you so far as we can, and are always happy to lend a suggestion or two when you ask us.

The next event we are planning for is National Library Week, a part of every April dedicated to books and reading. We will have news of this event on the weekly library program aired each Sunday at 12:15 p.m., with our head librarian, Dorothy Last, as the commentator and book reviewer. Be sure to catch this informational program as part of your Sunday listening.

Adult and Teenager Books we want to alert you to this week are "How To Live With Your Teenager," and "Liftoff!". The former is by Dorothy Baruch, and while not as updated as you'd think by the title it wears, it still is modern enough to answer a lot of questions for those on both sides of the generation gap you hear so much about today. It deals with the basics for reaching a compatible, though not permissive, understanding-level between parents and their offspring.

It shows that "living with a teenager does not mean living for him, but should bring fruition to both sides." It shows why parents should know what a child is striving for and what makes him tick; what his feelings are, and why this wishes and fantasies are so often misinterpreted, in the words of the reviewer. It goes farther into parent-teenager relationships, including guidance in such matters as sex, and the teenager's understandings of his natural drives.

Case histories and anecdotes paint up happy solutions to sometimes-unhappy situations like developing independence and leadership in the young, and while the doctor's approach to the development of sensitivity in life may surprise some parents, others will go along with her ideas wholeheartedly. Whatever your reaction, this is a book to stimulate thought, having not all the answers, but making a good start in that direction.

"The Third Killer" is a new medical book on the nation's No. 3 killer—stroke. It deals with the trauma suffered by stroke victims in a knowledgable way, since the author, Gary Wint, was a stroke victim and he tells all about his own reactions, physical and emotional, from the earliest symptoms through the progression of the attack, its aftermath and his recovery.

To enlist the services of the police—or not to—often becomes the agonized decision of those whose loved one is a kidnap victim. When the victim is a beauty, and when the kidnapping occurs on the eve of her wedding to a youthful criminal lawyer, the plot takes on a different-from-the-ordinary color. "Night Before the Wedding" by Gordon and Mildred Gordon, who are no strangers to the suspense novel, bristles with horror and taut drama and sustains the suspense right to the surprise ending. Gordon knows the criminal mind, as much as anyone can know it, perhaps, having spent three years as an agent for the FBI. This gives the like-truth quality to this uptight novel.

And now to "Liftoff!" the story of America's spaceport, by L.B. Taylor Jr. When the carefully-controlled TV voice says, "T-minus 60 and counting", what is taking place in the firing room of the launch complex at Cape Kennedy and elsewhere at the Cape? "Fingers are crossed, rosaries kissed, handkerchiefs gnawed, breaths held, tiptoes stood upon...In the control room there is silence, no one is talking. On the main floor, everyone eyes the overhead TV monitors; they must monitor the spacecraft's movements, measure its heartbeat; tension mounts, working through subconsciousness."

With these taut, measured sentences the author launches us into the now-taken-for-granted miracle of space flight that had its tortured beginnings with a captured V-II German rocket launched from the mosquito-and alligator-infested swamps surrounding the then Cape Canaveral area. With heat adding to the other discomforts, only the hardiest stayed to see it through.

In precise and painful detail the drama records the birth of the American scientific breakthru that would eventually carry man into the cosmos and usher in a new era known as the Space Age. This is high-powered, exciting stuff, told in masterful style. Really, it is a book to be enjoyed...and who can claim disinterest?

Another book, this one for teens, is "The Other Side of the Mountain," by Michael Bunanos. Not actually science fiction, it is perhaps a first cousin to it. The strange and desolate world in which the heroes find themselves is like nothing you've ever heard of. You'll find this book on the new fiction shelf with the adult books but young people will undoubtedly dig it the most.

For junior readers, we have a new one called "The Mystery of the Great Swamp." Marjorie Zapf does her readers the favor of making them seem with her and the alligators in Okefenokee Swamp in Georgia, letting them hear every sound, see all the wild slithery inhabitants of the swamp, hear the raucous birds rioting in the moss-draped trees, and with it all tells a tender story. You'll love the devotion of the boy and his dog as they brave the dangers and terrors of the deadly swamp and the dog passes his test as a worthy swamp dweller with flying colors, not even upsetting the boat when a cottonmouth snake drops from a tree into the water just inches ahead of them, nor when the 'gator threatened them, nor in other moments of peril. The story is full of danger; there seems to be no end of it. And what boy or girl ever gets enough of that kind of stuff to read?

"First Voyage Out" is Charles Kenyon's addition to the excitement of the week's new shipment of books just out on the shelves. It happens back in the 1800's, but the search of a boy for his father during a whaling trip, his first, in the South Pacific, is as close to what adventure-loving kids of today hunger for as it was then. The ship was a strange and lonely world to the young boy who had never left the land in his life.

The captain was a cruel and unpredictable man who seemed to have one obsession—to make life miserable for the lonely boy who was driven by the desire to find his father, through 3,000 rough miles of uncharted ocean, though the odds were against his ever finding him alive. There's whaling, in itself exciting enough, especially in these days. To heighten the danger to the point where you feel you are about to burst, there is a threat of mutiny along with all the other perils.

It will take you far from where you sit or lie with the book, to another world, another time, to excitement you feel you can't stand for another minute. By all means, read "First Voyage Out." It's called "tall-masted adventure." You'll see why, almost from the first page.

For the little guys, there's a story called "Good Boy, Bad Boy," by Maria Hall Ets. It wasn't easy to be little Roberto, the boy in the middle in a Spanish family of five children, who did not speak English and felt very much left out of things. Besides, Mother couldn't cook, and Father got angry at her so often she left them all. Roberto was sent to a day school where he learned to print and to read, and it is his letter to his mother, begging her to come home, that makes them a family again.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Parents who have heard the frightening, barking cough of croup never forgot this signal of an impending emergency. The attack comes suddenly, usually during a night of the winter and spring months, says the Minnesota State Medical association.

Simple croup is an infection, viral or bacterial, which causes swelling of the tissues of the voice box and surrounding air passages. The swelling makes breathing difficult resulting in the distinctive cough and noisy breathing. Your doctor should know about any attack of croup so that he may be alert to complications.

Croup occurs most frequently in children between the ages of two and four. Certain children are prone to croup and the predisposition may run in families.

Never neglect a croup cough. Keep the child indoors, warm and resting. Moisturize the air. Traditionally, steam from the old "croup kettle" was used, but doctors now feel that a cold humidifier is preferable. Kettle steam is very hot, thus potentially dangerous, and it can make the child's fever worse. Do not give sedatives to a child with croup unless your doctor orders them.

In a more serious case of croup, body temperature rises to 102-105 degrees, the child turns very pale, and difficulty in breathing is very apparent in that the child's neck and lower chest are drawn in as he struggles to inhale. He becomes exhausted quickly. The swelling and mucus in his throat and voice box are cutting off his oxygen supply.

THIS IS AN EMERGENCY. Take the child into the bathroom, advises the Minnesota State Medical association, close the doors and steam the air. Call your doctor immediately. If you can't reach him, call another, or an ambulance with oxygen equipment and take the child to the nearest hospital. If the windpipe becomes completely blocked it may be necessary for the doctor to perform a tracheotomy (cutting an artificial opening in the windpipe below the voice box).

Always remember, says the association, a child who has had a case of croup is likely to have it again.

Indiscriminate use of laxatives is foolish, sometimes dangerous, warns the Minnesota State Medical Association.

In fact, if used regularly, they can overstimulate intestinal muscles to a point of flaccid exhaustion thus actually causing the constipation they are supposed to combat.

Laxatives interfere with proper absorption of foods from the small intestine and depress production of the B vitamins in the large intestine. They also interfere with reabsorption of sodium and potassium in the large intestine. If the resulting shortage of potassium in the body is mild, muscular weakness may result; if severe, breathing muscles and the heart may be affected.

Use of laxatives can mask disease in which constipation is a symptom, for example, in intestinal infections. They can muffle alarm signals of kinked intestines, ulcers, even cancer.

Many conditions can upset the chain of normal digestive activity which result in constipation. For example, nervous tension or anger may slow or halt intestinal activity and allow the large intestine to absorb too much fluid from wastes passing through it.

Today, doctors tend to believe that worry is the chief cause of constipation. Further, they believe that excessive worry about elimination itself can be the principal culprit.

There is no universal pattern of regularity—it is not unusual for an individual to have only one movement a week.

Typically, a person misses a movement for a day or so and takes a laxative which empties the entire tract. He fails to realize that it could be three days before the tract fills again and resumes normal function. Noting inactivity, he swallows another laxative. These are the first steps to becoming a laxative addict, says the Minnesota State Medical Association.

There are, of course, situations where use of laxatives is valid—under your physician's directions, for example before X-ray or surgery to empty the intestinal tract.

Increasingly, doctors are stressing, leave your intestinal tract alone. If difficulties arise, go to a doctor; he is best able to help you.

To remove or not to remove a child's tonsils is a dilemma many parents eventually face. The question is much more debatable today than it was a few years ago when tonsils were removed from nearly all children as a routine part of medical care.

It is estimated that less than 10 per cent of children today need to have their tonsils and adenoids removed, says the Minnesota State Medical association.

For one thing, the effectiveness of antibiotics against bacterial infections has made tonsillectomies less necessary. For another, it has been found that the removal of tonsils is not entirely effective in preventing the repeated infections it is supposed to prevent. Moreover, evidence is accumulating that tonsil tissue plays a role to the body's immunity to invading organisms.

The entire wagon weighs 8 tons. It is the Pawnee Bill bandwagon No. 80 built in 1903. It is one of over 80 colorful circus wagons on display at the Circus World Museum in Baraboo, Wisconsin.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—As a Vietnam veteran, may I obtain a GI loan to purchase a business?

A—Under the current post-Korean GI bill which covers Vietnam veterans such as you, the Veterans administration may guaranty only home and farm loans. Because loans were not included in the present GI bill. However, the Small Business administration does make loans to veterans. You should contact the nearest SBA office for information concerning such loans.

Q—I was retired on disability from the armed forces. Are my wife and children eligible for medical care at VA facilities as my dependents?

A—No. Only you are entitled to Veterans administration hospital or medical care. However, your dependents as well as you are eligible for medical care at U.S. military installations, or under the provisions of military medicare program. Check with the military service from which you are receiving disability retirement for further information concerning the medical care entitlement of your dependents.

Q—I am receiving a non-service - connected disability pension from the Veterans administration and was under the impression that I would get an increase starting in January of 1969. However, I am receiving the same amount. Please explain.

A—The new pension system does not provide for automatic across - the - board increases. Pensions are now keyed to $100 variations in income. This will cause an increase in pensions for some, but no change for others such as yourself. VA representatives will be happy to explain the new pension system and answer any additional questions you may have.

BUYER BEWARE BE WISE

by DOUGLAS M. HEAD
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

If we were to list the 10 most troublesome consumer problems in this state, the so-called "model home" scheme would rank near the top. We receive a steady flow of complaints about the scheme.

Court orders were recently issued against four home siding companies that we sued in Hennepin county district court. The orders are tailored to prevent salesmen of the companies from employing the "model home" pitch to sell house siding. A fifth lawsuit is pending.

But there are other companies, and homeowners should remain on guard against the "model home" approach. We assume our court action will deter many companies from using the pitch, but there may be others who will yield to the temptation.

A salesman employing the "model home" scheme typically approaches a homeowner and introduces himself as associated with such companies as Reynolds or Alcoa.

The salesman explains to the home owner that his company is attempting to increase sales in the area and would like to use his home to display a newly developed metal siding.

If he allows the company to use his home to display the siding the homeowner will be eligible to purchase the siding at a greatly reduced price. The homowner also is often promised a commission for each prospective customer who views the model home.

The salesman sometimes represents that before - and - after photographs will be taken of the house and used in local promotional advertising.

The pitch is tempting. But in reality, the salesman does not represent a major metal company, but is just a commissioned salesman for some housesiding firm. The price of the siding has not been reduced.

The commissions promised for each potential buyer who views the home are rarely, if ever, paid.
